FACE COLLAPSE OF CITY TRANSIT UNITY PROGRAM

Conferees to Renew Parleys Today.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Eighteen months ago the 24 conflicting groups of surface and elevated lines investors reached a peace pact that ended a 12 year controversy in the federal court. They agreed upon a merger plan. Prompt unification of Chicago's transit service was heralded.

Some 200 meetings of city and transit representatives followed. Six months ago Mayor Kelly announced an agreement upon all important points of a franchise for a unified transportation company. City officials predicted the start of a 100 million dollar transit modernization program by Labor day.

This morning, however, these representatives will hold another meeting. The heralded merger is still on paper, modern transit cars are not yet on order, and no franchise has been offered or accepted.

Authoritative spokesmen, nonplussed, assert that three recent developments may bring on the collapse instead of the completion of Chicago's 14 year effort for transit unification.

Developments Summarized.

These developments are:

1. The disclosure two months ago that Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, previously told Chicago representatives that a boost in street car fares from 7 to 8 cents would be one of the conditions of a proposed 53 million dollar loan which would be the basis of the prospective 100 million dollar transit modernization program. City officials opposed the suggested boost in fares. Jones is reconsidering his terms, but has made no definite loan offer.

2. The Chicago Motor Coach [bus] company's request three weeks ago that its properties be omitted from the unified system. Previously the company's offer to sell its properties for 10 million dollars was assailed as excessive by members of the city council. Jones has stated that the federal loan terms must be revised if the motor coach lines are omitted.

3. Announcement last week by Albert W. Harris, chairman of the largest surface lines bondholders' committee, that he favors a separate reorganization of the surface lines. Harris' stand was said to have been based on the argument that if the motor coach company is permitted to remain a separate operating company the surface lines should have the same privilege.

All Parts of Same Problem.

Transit spokesmen assert that these latest maneuvers are parts of the one basic problem that has blocked unification for many years. The chief stumbling block, they say, is a dispute between the city council and the owners of the surface lines as to whether the lines can meet the city's franchise demands, finance the 100 million dollar modernization plan, and still pay a return to the owners.

The surface lines carry 78 per cent of the city's car riders, hold 30 million dollars in cash and are now earning three and a half million dollars a year after operating expenses. Their owners are trying to get rid of the receivership and get a franchise.

The city council, however, proposes to set up a unified system. It has offered a franchise to the surface lines if they will agree to start off at the present rates of fare, take over the elevated lines, now operating at a loss of a million dollars a year, and spend 40 million dollars to rehabilitate the "L."

Compensation Also Sought.

The city also has asked this proposed new system to pay 1 to 2 million dollars a year in compensation for the use of city streets and install an employé pension system at an estimated cost of 2 million dollars a year. Modernization, city officials contend, would boost the company's revenues and profits.

The surface lines argue that the proposal is not a good risk. They contend that such a program will produce a loss of 4 to 5 million dollars in the first year unless fares are boosted. They argue that the bus company, with its profitable operation, should be included in any merger.

Surface lines representatives have indicated, however, that if Jones offers a loan on reasonable terms that will finance elevated lines improvements they will meet the city's franchise demands.

BEARS WIN, 73-0; NEW CHAMPIONS SET SCORING MARK

The Chicago Bears crushed the Washington Redskins, 73 to 0, in Washington yesterday to win the world's professional football title and qualify for The Chicago Tribune's College All-Star game in Soldiers' field next August. Before 36,034 in Griffith stadium in Washington, the Bears scored 11 touchdowns for a new National league scoring record. Gross receipts were $112,503. The share of each Chicago player was $873.99, while each Washington player received $606.25.

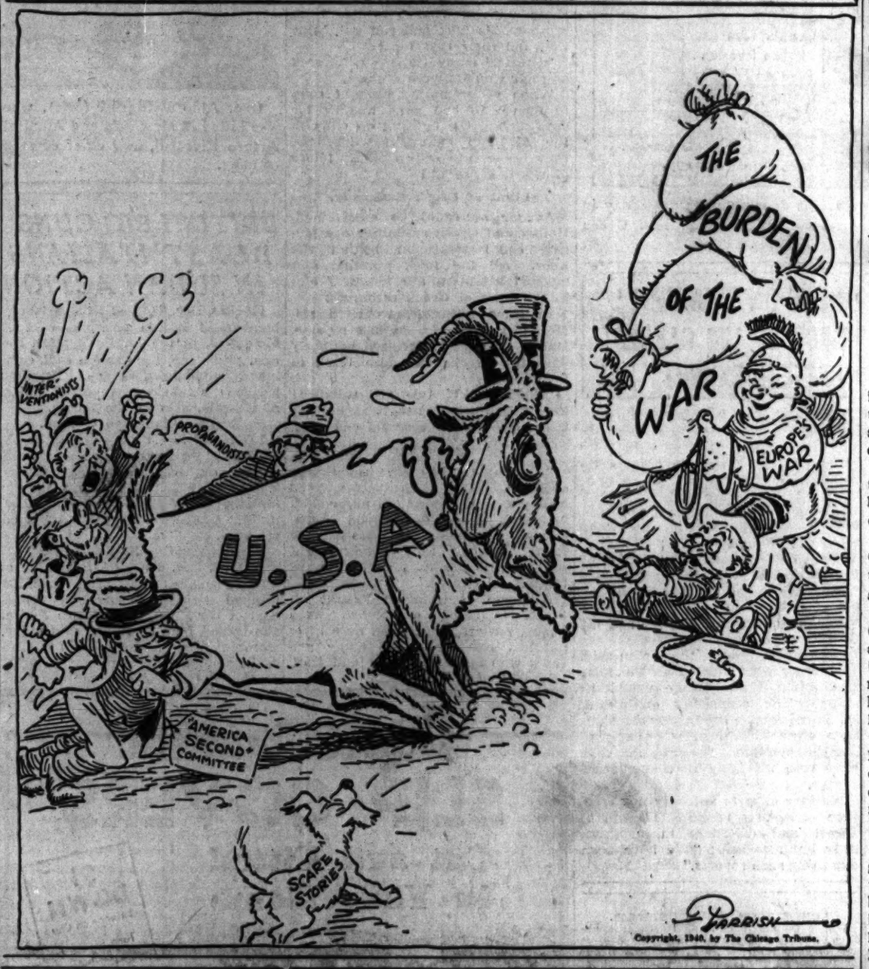
THE SCAPEGOAT AGAIN?



Otto Stands Up Death in Lake —for 17 Hours!

Back in the world which no longer seems so black, Otto Kreiger got just what he had wanted most during the 62,400 awful seconds he says he spent standing in icy Lake Michigan, walled off from thousands of passing motorists by the high slippery rocks at 49th street.

These attainments, in the order of importance, were: [1] a chair to sit on; [2] a hot toddy, and [3] a smoke on his corn cob pipe. And with every evidence of affection, his stepdaughter, Mrs. Amelia Smith, took him back to her home at 916 West 50th place. Otto had said he wanted to end his life because of family trouble.

Meditates Suicide; Falls in Lake.

Otto is 62 years old and a sausage stuffer, but he is out of a job. At 6 p. m. Friday, he says, while wandering over the massive stone blocks protecting the shore, he slipped and fell into the lake. It was knee deep.

"I tried to climb up but I couldn't get a hold," Otto said. "When I tried to get to a better place the water was deeper. After all, I didn't want to drown, I decided. I hollered like everything but nobody came.

"So when I got tired of yelling there was nothing to do but stand there. It got colder and at midnight the waves began kicking up. I held on to some wooden spars.

"Next to a place to sit down, and something hot, I wanted to smoke. But my arms and hands were so stiff I couldn't get my pipe out of my pocket. I thought a lot, about everything I'd ever done."

Report "Strange Object" in Water.

Finally, at 11:20 a. m., Saturday, some one notified Hyde Park police a strange object was in the water.

"I thought at first it was a snow man," said Policeman Thomas Mullarkey. "He was stiff like a board. There were icicles two inches long hanging from his spectacles."

Three policemen formed a chain and pulled Otto out. At the Chicago hospital he was given a hot toddy and put to bed. Finding no ill effects except that Otto's feet were black and blue with cold, a doctor expressed some doubt as to whether Otto had been in the lake for 17 hours and 20 minutes.

Otto says he was.

British to Send Manganese to Spain and Buy Oranges

New York, Dec. 8.—A British Broadcasting corporation broadcast recorded here today said that the British government had announced that Britain would send to Spain 6,000 tons of manganese ore, "urgently needed by the Spanish steel industry," and in return would buy up the entire crop of Spanish bitter oranges.

GERMANS START YULE BUYING, BUT FIND THERE'S LITTLE TO BUY

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—Preparations for the second wartime Christmas are in full swing thruout Germany. Tho the German armies have won victory after victory, Christmas this year promises to be a real war Christmas.

Systematic efforts are being made by all concerned to spread as much cheer as possible. The population started its Christmas shopping early, since everybody knew that German industries had been busy with war orders and that the amount of goods suitable for Christmas presents would be comparatively small.

In Berlin stores today—the first Sunday they were allowed to stay open for Christmas trade—a number of tables and counters already were cleared of goods. Men in quest of presents for their women folk stood wonderingly before counters where Hungarian and Bulgarian flowered and embroidered blouses and dresses could be had without ration cards. Fifteen to twenty dollars was the average price for such a blouse.

Toy Sections Sold Out.

Some toy sections were sold out, and it was said that toy railroads were not even being manufactured.

Shopping for extra food for the Christmas dinner is an even more difficult task.

In the big cities housewives have been trying to put up preserves for the Christmas dinner. They had hoped that special Christmas rations would be distributed as they were last year, but to date no such announcement has been made. The Christmas roast will have to come out of the regular ration of 16 ounces of meat and bones for the whole week.

Grocers have been told to urge their customers to think up Christmas dishes in which they can use sauerkraut, which is plentiful. It is hoped that bigger families will be able to secure a carp, which will be cooked in the traditional bread sauce.

Orange Peel Shortage.

Baking activities also are curtailed. Only two eggs have been distributed for December. Candied orange peel and citron, cinnamon, and such things which go into the real Christmas cake or pudding cannot be had. Almonds and other nuts are scarce.

Nevertheless, the efficient housewife will be able to bake "lebkuchen," a spice cake that can be made with honey or artificial honey and from synthetic spices. Authorities also promise to grant one pound of apples as an extra Christmas ration, and a few cups of real coffee will add to the enjoyment.

Germans inscribed their names on dealers' lists in October and those more than 18 years old will receive two ounces of coffee a few days before Christmas. Thieves receive none of these extra rations.

The traditional Christmas fairs opened in Berlin today. They have little in common with the festivities of the old days. The big fair which used to be held in the center of town has been replaced by a string of small ones in different sections. They are open from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. to enable the crowds to get home in time to observe the nightly blackout.

Cookie Booth Closes Early.

At one fair near Berlin's town hall I counted a total of 12 booths. Three sold dolls and toys and two others sold neckties against clothes cards. One was marked "cookies," but closed early because it had sold out.

Another sold burned almonds as long as the almonds lasted. Three booths sold hot dogs against food cards.

ROOSEVELT SHIP AT MARTINIQUE, FRENCH ISLAND

ABOARD U. S. MAYRANT AT SEA, Dec. 8 (AP).—President Roosevelt climaxed his Caribbean defense inspection cruise today by stopping off at the French island of Martinique, a potential trouble spot, where he conferred for one hour aboard the United States cruiser Tuscaloosa with American officials.

United States Consul Brocker and Capt. Ernest J. Blankenship, U. S. N., American observer on the island, were borne to the Tuscaloosa aboard the United States destroyer Sims, which has been on neutrality patrol in this area.

Blankenship and Brocker returned to Fort de France aboard the destroyer, and the Tuscaloosa and escort vessels proceeded to sea for an unannounced destination. The President devoted most of Sunday to inspection of strategic United States aviation outposts guarding the eastern Caribbean approaches at St. Lucia, a small British island in the Lesser Antilles.

Mistake Victory Whistles for Raid Alarm; Take Cover

SALONIKA, Greece, Dec. 8 (AP).—A lot of Greeks were late tonight for the celebration which followed the official announcement of the fall of the Albanian city of Argyrokastron. Saloniks had a taste of air raids last month, and so when the whistles and bells got going tonight hundreds of Greeks mistook the sounds for an alarm and dashed into cellars.

CHIEF RESIGNS; TWO GENERALS DIE IN AIR CRASH

Both Members of Armistice Group.

ROME, Dec. 8 (AP).—Italy's overhauling of her topmost command spread to the navy today when its chief of staff joined two of the army's highest officers on the retired list.

At the same time, it was disclosed that an unexplained air crash had killed at least two other Italian generals.

Resigned was Admiral Domenico Cavagnari, navy chief of staff who also was undersecretary of the navy [Premier Mussolini himself holds the naval portfolio]. Admiral Cavagnari had been regarded as high in Il Duce's confidence.

Those killed were Generals Pietro Pintor and Aldo Pellegrini, the latter of the air force and both members of the Italian-French armistice commission.

President of Armistice Commission.

A communique named only the two generals but said all aboard the military plane, including "some members" of the commission—apparently besides Pintor and Pellegrini—were killed Saturday on a flight from Rome to Turin, Italy's northern industrial center.

Gen. Pintor, 60 years old, a distinguished artillery officer who was promoted to army corps general in 1937 and later commanded an army corps in Libya, was president of the armistice commission.

Like Pintor, Gen. Pellegrini, 52 years old, was a veteran of the Libyan war of 1926-'28. A flyer in the late Marshal Italo Balbo's good will flight to Chicago in 1933, he headed the office of air traffic and civil aviation in the air ministry at the time of his death.

[This was the second time that air crashes have taken a toll of armistice commission officers. Last Oct. 10 three French and four German officers, members of the French-German armistice commission, and six German soldiers were killed when their plane fell into the Mediterranean in a severe storm when they were flying from North Africa to France.]

Successor Named.

In the naval command shakeup, it was announced merely that Admiral Cavagnari had resigned. His successor, both as undersecretary of the navy and as chief of staff of the navy, is Admiral Arturo Riccardi.

At the same time, Mussolini elevated two more of his admirals. He made Admiral Inigo Campione vice-chief of the navy staff and appointed Admiral Angelo Jacchini "commander of the fleet on the sea."

Within three days now, all of Italy's fighting services except the air force have changed leaders. Since the start of the Greek invasion — admittedly still in reverse—there have been four major shifts, in this order:

1. In Albania, Undersecretary of War Gen. Ubaldo Soddu was sent to the front to shake up the offensive against Greece [presumably superseding Gen. Visconti Prasa].

Dodecanese Commander Out.

2. Chief of the Italian general staff, Marshal Pietro Badoglio, "Italy's Hindenburg," was succeeded by Gen. Ugo Cavallero.

3. In the Dodecanese Islands, Gen. Count Cesare Maria de Vecchi di Val Cismon, commander there and one of the original big four of Fascism, was replaced by Gen. Ettore Bastico.

4. Admiral Cavagnari resigned today.

Rumors of a general military—and perhaps political—shakeup had preceded the three resignations.

Survived Shakeup in 1939.

Cavagnari had been undersecretary of the navy for seven years and was one of the few leaders to survive the cabinet shakeup in October, 1939. The communique said Mussolini sent him a cordial letter expressing full recognition of his collaboration.

After the 1939 overhauling, it was said that Mussolini had called in the heads of the three arms of his fighting force and found one ready, two wanting. Cavagnari, who reported his fleet ready down to the last button on the last uniform, stayed. Gen. Alberto Pariani yielded to Marshal Badoglio and Air Undersecretary Giuseppe Valle was ousted for Gen. Francesco Pricolo.

British Cruiser Sinks Nazi Ship Off Cuba Coast

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 8 (AP). — The blockade-running German freighter Idarwald was intercepted in the Caribbean sea off the south coast of Cuba by a British cruiser today and either scuttled by her crew or sunk by a torpedo.

While reports were in conflict, the Cuban navy department said the 5,033 ton ship had been sunk by a torpedo. The crew got away in their boats.

[The navy department in Washington, D. C., reported the Idarwald was scuttled and set afire by its crew at the approach of a British cruiser. Officials said they had no confirmation of the Cuban report that the ship had been torpedoed. They said their information was that British sailors had boarded the abandoned and flaming vessel, brought the flames under control, hauled down the swastika flag and hoisted the Union Jack. The British cruiser Diomede [4,850 tons] was known to have been in the vicinity.]

Within Neutrality Zone.

The attack on the Nazi ship which, with another Nazi freighter, the 6,031 ton Rhein, left Tampico, Mexico, on Nov. 29 in an attempt to run the blockade, came well within the American neutrality zone.

The Cuban navy department and wireless stations in Cuba and the United States intercepted a brief message saying the Idarwald had been torpedoed at 2:30 p. m. and that its crew was abandoning the vessel in a sinking condition.

The operator indicated he did not have time to say more because of the quickness of the sinking.

About 75 Miles from Port.

The reported sinking or capture took place approximately 75 miles from the south coast port of Cienfuegos, between the Isle of Pines and Grand Cayman Island.

Officials expressed belief the Idarwald was trying to reach refuge at Cienfuegos.

The Cuban molasses tanker Mambi, sailing south of the Isle of Pines, reported it also had picked up the Idarwald's distress signal and was proceeding at full speed east toward Cienfuegos in an effort to locate the freighter and lend assistance to her crew, if possible.

Norwegian Ship Shelled.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—A Q-boat—disguised raider—attack on the Norwegian motor tanker Hidlefjord off the West African coast was indicated tonight in a distress signal picked up by Mackay radio which also reported the torpedoing of the British steamer Empire Jaguar along the same coast.

Mackay said it received the following message from the Hidlefjord: "being fired on by mysterious ship . . . " the time of the attack was given as 6:10 p. m. [Chicago time].

The Hidlefjord, 7,639 tons, gave its position as less than 100 miles southwest of Monrovia, capital of Liberia.

The Empire Jaguar's message, Mackay said, was relayed by a British station, and said: ". . . British S. S. Empire Jaguar . . . torpedoed." The time of attack was 5:40 p. m. [Chicago time.]

The vessel's position was given as approximately 100 miles northeast of Dakar.

The 4,070 ton former French freighter Djurdjura, sailing under British colors, signaled today that it was being "followed by submarine" 550 miles west of Foynes, Ireland.

Claim Toll of 4 Ships.

BERLIN, Dec. 8 (AP).—Two German submarines were reported today to have sunk four "enemy merchant ships" totaling 29,000 tons. The high command said one U-boat sank two totaling 17,000 tons and the other two more totaling 12,000 tons, including a 9,000 ton tanker.

STAGE BEING SET FOR 2 BILLION LOAN TO BRITAIN

Demand Grows for Cession of Isles.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—The Roosevelt administration and the British embassy are setting the stage for another demonstration of Anglo-American coöperation whereby the United States will lend England 2 billion dollars and more, if necessary, to prosecute the war with Germany and Italy.

Secretary Morgenthau.

Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury, will lay before Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau tomorrow morning a balance sheet setting forth the revenues, expenditures, contractual obligations, and financial resources of the British government. Sir Frederick and a staff of experts were toiling late tonight to complete this statement and supporting exhibits.

Purpose of Figures.

With the figures he will submit to the secretary of the treasury Sir Frederick will aim to show how long it will be before the British government will be scraping the bottom of its barrel for the wherewithal to fight Hitler and Mussolini—that is, how long it will be before England will need America's financial help to continue in the war.

What the British are seeking immediately and what they sent Sir Frederick to Washington to obtain is an official assurance that the United States will furnish the funds to keep England in the war. Such an assurance, they feel, not only would be heartening to their own people, but also would put Hitler and Mussolini upon notice that they cannot expect to win against the combined resources of the English speaking peoples.

Effect of Johnson Act.

For the British government to float a huge war loan in this country it would be necessary to repeal the Johnson act forbidding private interests to make loans to a world war debt defaulter. The British have defaulted payments on their world war debt to the United States now exceeding 5½ billion dollars. For the British government to get war equipment in this country on credit it would be necessary to amend the neutrality act.

But it would be legal under existing law for the American government to make a loan to Great Britain. The only legislation necessary would be the appropriation of the money by congress.

Many members of congress advocate liberal loans to the British, even outright gift of the funds on the theory that Britain is fighting America's war. Many others, however, perhaps a majority, are opposed to making further loans to the British without security or a tangible consideration.

Island Deal Discussed.

There is more and more discussion in and out of congressional circles of the desirability of the cession of the British West Indian islands to the United States in connection with any new financial deal between the two nations. Some hold that Britain should be required to cede the islands in satisfaction of the world war debt and to give other resources as security for future loans. Others would eliminate the world war debt from consideration but exact cession of the islands either as security for a new loan or as an outright exchange of territory for war funds.

The Roosevelt administration and the British have manifested much coldness to the suggestion of transferring the West Indian possessions to the United States. Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, said recently that British subjects are not for sale. Mr. Roosevelt last March said the suggestion of acquiring the British islands as Panama canal defenses was silly.

Attitude Toward Bases.

The President manifested no interest even in the lease of bases in those islands until the British became desperate in their appeals for 50 destroyers. Then the deal was quickly made. Some members of congress think

GREEKS CAPTURE LAST OF ITALIAN INVASION BASES

Athens Cheers the Fall of Argyrokastron.

ATHENS, Dec. 8 (AP).—Greek troops today marched into Argyrokastron, last Italian base on the Albanian frontier from which the Fascists intended to overrun Greece.

The officially announced surrender of the ancient city set off tremendous victory celebrations thruout Greece. Thousands jammed the streets shouting and singing. Premier General John Metaxas and high officers appeared at an open window of general staff headquarters here to wave to crowds cheering the Greek army and yelling "on to Rome."

In one theater showing a new revue lampooning the Italians, the play was interrupted while an actor announced the news. The audience cheered while the band swung into the national anthem.

Order 3 Day Celebration.

Church bells pealed, and three days of celebration were ordered to mark the success, which meant that the entire Italian line in the frontier region had collapsed. It also meant removal of the Italians' remaining airdrome in southern Albania, and the Greeks said fierce Italian attempts to prevent huge military stores from falling into Greek hands were unsuccessful.

The nearest Italian air bases now are at Valona and Berat. Valona is on the Adriatic coast up which the Greek army is advancing, and Berat is not far inland and is a site of Albanian oil production.

The retreating Italians are being harassed by the Greek cavalry and bombed and machine gunned by airplanes, latest reports from the front said.

Metaxas Congratulates Officer.

The government spokesman announcing the victory said:

"Greek troops occupied Argyrokastron at 12:15 p. m. [4:15 a. m. Chicago time]. It is an important victory.

"Very large quantities of materials and many prisoners were taken.

"The premier [Gen. Metaxas] has been able to communicate by telephone with the commanding officer of the forces which occupied Argyrokastron and has congratulated him.

"Other villages and divisions [areas] were taken by our troops. More to the north, other Alpinist units were beaten by our infantry."

Heavy Fighting Reported.

Heavy fighting, however, was reported in progress west of Premet, at Klisura pass, about midway between Premet and Tepeleni. Further northeast, at the inland extremity of the battlefront, the Greek advance aimed at Elbasan, on the road to Tirana, was said to be rapid.

In many places Italian losses were said to be severe, with the Fascist withdrawal hampered by snow and rain. In one position alone—apparently a rearguard post left to cover the withdrawal—50 Italian dead were found by a Greek advance party.

The British air force announced that two days ago Greek naval units captured an Italian destroyer already badly damaged by British bombs, when they occupied Porto Edda, 15 miles southwest of Argyrokastron. The destroyer was in the harbor, the British said, because their bomb hits had forced it to seek the nearest place of refuge.

Despite unfavorable weather the British yesterday raided the port of Valona and were met by "heavy enemy fighter opposition." Nevertheless, the R. A. F. said, all bombs fell in the target area.

Greeks Repulsed, Italians Say.

ROME, Dec. 8 (AP).—The Italian high command declared today Italy's hard pressed ninth army had thrown back Greek attacks in the southern Albanian fighting zone.

In the air, the high command reported Italian bombardments of the Greek towns of Preveza and Ithaca. Two raiders attacking Valona were shot down, the communique said.

DE GAULLE ASKS FRANCE TO STRIKE BLOW AT ITALY

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, "free French" leader, broadcast from London tonight that France now has a fine opportunity to reënter the war and share "in final victory," according to a British Broadcasting company report heard here by CBS. It quoted him as saying that action by French land and naval forces in north Africa and Syria might turn recent Italian defeats into a rout and gain a triumph in the Mediterranean for France. De Gaulle was said to have concluded with an appeal to France's armed forces to join his followers.

LUNCH HOUR YEGGS GET $600.

Walter Osimek closed his electrical appliance store at 1726 Chicago avenue yesterday afternoon and went home for dinner. When he returned to the store three hours later he found the store safe had been looted of $600.

DUCE ON TOUGHEST SPOT OF HIS CAREER, BRITISH EXPERTS SAY

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—British military circles, cautiously optimistic about the course the war with Italy is taking, expressed the opinion tonight that the unexpected changes in the Italian army and navy high command were "another sign" that Premier Mussolini was on the toughest spot in his career.

Some officers even went so far as to declare he was losing his grip "after two major political blunders"—his declaration of war against France and Britain last June and his Grecian adventure.

Both undertakings, these men said, apparently were started on the false assumption that victory would be cheap. The surprising quality of Greek resistance, the British blockade, and the "increasingly effective" British bombing, the officers said, have softened Italy to a dangerous degree.

Military experts not only put credence in reports reaching London of unrest and disorders in northern Italy but also said: "We have been expecting such reports."

MOVE HUNDREDS OF ITALIANS TO GREEK HOSPITAL

Wounded Fascist Troops Whisper 'Grazia.'

SALONIKA, Greece, Dec. 8 (AP).—Hundreds of Italian wounded today were carried down to a Greek base hospital from the mountainous northern front in Albania.

They came in Red Cross trucks over roads deep in slush to the Florina railroad terminus in upper Macedonia, where doctors sorted out those with a chance to live from those whose luck had run out. But they did their best for both.

"Grazia," many Italians whispered as their wounds were dressed.

Limit of Greek Resources.

As far as could be ascertained, Italian and Greek casualties are getting equal treatment behind the lines. All the food, housing, and medical attention are identical and to the limit of Greek resources.

In some hospitals, wounded soldiers of both armies lay side by side. Italian privates fraternized willingly with the Greeks who ministered to them.

"Soddisfatti!" [we are satisfied] they exclaimed—and most added that they hoped the war would end soon.

Criticism of Mussolini.

"Sometimes they say bad things about Mussolini when their wounds hurt most," a 17 year old nurse said. "I think it would be good propaganda if we could send them back to Italy. The ones that recover would tell their comrades how they were treated in Greece."

A group of wounded Fascist officers, including a colonel, were husky, powerful men who bore little physical resemblance to many privates who appeared gaunt and frail. [Here 12 words censored.]

BRITISH BIG GUNS BLAST ITALIANS IN SUDAN ACTION

CAIRO, Dec. 8 (AP).—British artillery bombarded Italian positions east of Metemma, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, yesterday, the middle east command announced today. Another artillery action was reported north of Kassala, also in the Sudan.

Destroy Planes on Ground.

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—British bombers last night destroyed at least eight planes on the ground at Castel Benito, near Tripoli, in Libya, the air ministry news service announced tonight. Hangars also were reported set afire.

Machine Gun British Units.

ROME, Dec. 8 (AP).—A formation of pursuit planes yesterday machine gunned British mechanized forces east of Bir Enba, in northern Africa, the Italian high command said today. Bombing planes also carried out attacks against British motorized units in the Sudan, the communique said.

ARGYROKASTRON A CONGLOMERATE OF OLD AND NEW

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Argyrokastron, captured yesterday by the Greeks, is one of Albania's chief communication centers. It is a city of some 10,000 normal population about 15 miles inland from Porto Edda, the chief southern port.

Settled 16 centuries ago, the city is a conglomerate of the very old and the new. The ancient silver crafts for which Argyrokastron became famous thruout the Balkans still are carried on.

A good highway links the city with Tepeleni and the port of Valona on the northwest and with Porto Edda on the southwest.

The plague of 1814 nearly wiped out Argyrokastron during one of its most prosperous periods.

In the Balkan wars of 1912-'13 it suffered heavily and later was claimed unsuccessfully by the Greeks. During the world war, when Greece and Italy were allies, Argyrokastron was first occupied by the Greeks and then by the Italians.

GOOD FELLOWS OF AUTO CLUB TO MAKE 400 HAPPY

Staff Donates $500 for Needy Children.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Four hundred children will be made happy Christmas morning by the generosity of executives and other employés of the Chicago Motor club. A check for $500 has been received at the Good Fellow headquarters, and the contribution has been listed under Plan No. 3 of the Good Fellow campaign.

THE TRIBUNE will purchase heaping baskets of food, toys, and candy, and they will be distributed to nine branch offices of the motor club. There members will pick up the baskets on Monday evening before Christmas and take them to 100 homes thruout the city.

Hayes Lauds Drive.

J. J. Cavanagh, vice president and general manager of the motor club, in presenting the check to the Good Fellow bureau read a message from Charles M. Hayes, president of the club, who is in Miami, Fla. It read as follows:

"THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, thru the Good Fellow campaign each year, has given the people of a great city an opportunity to show that the spirit of Christmas does break thru the hardened veneer of a busy world. The success that this campaign has enjoyed in ever increasing contributions of time and money shows that our citizens want to help. They need only some organization to guide their efforts and give them a means to accomplish their self-evident desire. The Chicago Motor club employés have been 100 per cent contributors in previous years. It is my great pleasure to announce that they have seen fit to do so again this year."

The points of distribution for the Good Fellow baskets will be named in the Metropolitan editions of next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE.

One Group Inspires Another.

How one organization which has been doing splendid work in the Good Fellow campaigns for several years can inspire another to join in the work, is seen in an announcement to the members of the Movers' Association of Chicago.

George Julin is a member of this group and also of the Traffic Club of Chicago ,which will take 450 baskets to needy families this Christmas. He has interested the movers in the Good Fellows, and they will discuss what might be done even yet this season at a meeting to be held Friday evening in the American room of the La Salle hotel.

The officers of this association are John F. Hassett, president; Russell Kott, vice president; Joseph H. Meyer, treasurer, and Daniel Healy, secretary and general manager.

RADIO WINS OVER BIG MUSIC FIRM IN A.S.C.A.P. FIGHT

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—A major development in the dispute between the broadcasting industry and the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers [A. S. C. A. P.] came today with the announcement that the Edward B. Marks Music corporation, one of the major music publishers, had transferred its catalog from A. S. C. A. P. to Broadcast Music, Inc. The transfer becomes effective Jan. 1, when the contract between the A. S. C. A. P. and the radio stations expires.

Marks said he felt he never had received proper consideration from A. S. C. A. P. and accordingly was leasing the performing rights of his catalog of 15,000 songs to B. M. I. The lease was for five years at $250,000 a year.

CARDINAL BACKS HOOVER PLAN FOR FEEDING EUROPE

Boston, Mass., Dec. 8 (AP).—Cardinal William O'Connell today said he cannot understand "why Mr. [Herbert] Hoover's fine, generous plan for feeding the starving people of Europe should be opposed."

Addressing the St. Vincent De Paul society of Boston at Holy Cross cathedral on his 81st birthday, the cardinal archbishop of Boston said: "I can't understand why the blockade can't be lifted in such a way that Mr. Hoover could get food to those starving people."

Opposition to the "Hoover plan for feeding conquered populations in Europe" was voiced yesterday by "25 outstanding women," including Actress Helen Hayes. They said in a statement that the plan would endanger America's national security by making easier "Hitler's task in holding the small conquered nations in subjection."

GREECE DENIES IT FACES HUNGER AS ITALIANS CHARGE

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 8.—The Greeks tonight denied an announcement over the Rome radio that the food supply problem in this country is such that the Greek people are faced with starvation. In the first few days of the war, when transports were taxed by dispatch of troops to the front, certain food shortages did arise, it was said. Since then, however, the situation has become better, and in many cases food rations have been increased.

Owing to the British navy's coöperation, shipments of all kinds are arriving in Greek ports, while locally a new "land army" composed of women and old men are performing tasks hitherto carried out in fields, vineyards, and orchards by men of fighting age.

ENGLAND SAYS THERE'LL ALWAYS BE A SANTA CLAUS

William H. England has made a life-size Santa Claus out of an orange crate and copies of THE TRIBUNE. He suggests that you try it, too.

"Take the bottom out of the orange crate and you've got your base, the sides forming the framework for the legs," he said. "You'll want about a month's accumulation of Tribunes. Crumple them into balls, cover with another page, and tie them with cord. Black headline print makes good boots, fur trim on the coat, and a belt.

"Fringe some paper with a scissors to make the beard and mustache. The eyes are 'T's' taken from the Old English type spelling Chicago Tribune. A roll of paper is the nose."

WARSHIPS COMB SOUTH ATLANTIC FOR NAZI RAIDER

Repair of British Cruiser Rushed in Uruguay.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 8 (AP).—Confident that the German sea raider they fought also had been damaged and would be caught, the crew of Britain's battered 20,122-ton auxiliary cruiser Carnarvon Castle left the search of the South Atlantic today to other British warships.

While the Carnarvon Castle remained laid up here getting new plates to close the shell holes in her hull, the 7,580-ton British cruiser Enterprise and another warship near the scene where the battle was fought for 90 minutes on Thursday were said to have taken up the chase. The fight took place 700 miles east of here.

Some of the Carnarvon Castle's crew were sure the German raider already had been caught. Her commander, Capt. H. M. H. Hardy, said "the German raider undoubtedly suffered much more damage" than it did to his ship, and some reports said she broke off the fight and fled aflame.

Raider's Identity Still Mystery.

The raider has not been identified but authoritative sources say prowling German motorships equipped with special engines, ultra-modern cannon, and electric, centralized fire controls have been causing the British much concern.

Unless the raider already has been caught, British circles said, an aircraft carrier probably will join the hunt to clear the South Atlantic of the German threat to a vital British foodline.

A Uruguayan commission has not yet reported the time necessary to make the Carnarvon Castle seaworthy, but reports in British circles said she would leave Tuesday to rejoin the South Atlantic antiraider patrol.

Repairs Easy, Says Captain.

Capt. Hardy called her damage "somewhat spectacular" but "rather superficial and easy to repair." She showed a dozen hits on her starboard side and the scars of a fire that spread over two decks before being extinguished.

Welding equipment and other tools have been hoisted aboard preparatory to closing the warship's holes. Experts said two waterline hits and four just above the line must be sealed.

The Carnarvon Castle's casualties, it was said semiofficially, included six or seven men killed, a dozen in the ship's sick bay with injuries, and another dozen less severely wounded. None was taken ashore to hospitals.

While part of the crew worked the rest enjoyed its first shore leave for more than three months. Silence was the order on the battle, but seamen said they had sailed more than half way around the globe chasing German raiders.

British sources continued silent on the disposition of 22 German seamen taken aboard the Carnarvon Castle Nov. 30 from the Brazilian coastal ship Itape and then transferred. It was understood, however, that the transfer was made, probably to the Enterprise, within a few hours.

U. S. Pilots Land Chilean's Ailing Wife at Lima, Peru

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 8 (AP).—A United States army bomber carrying the ailing Mrs. Carlos Davila, wife of the former president of Chile, to her home from New York, arrived here today. The plane flew here from Balboa, Canal Zone, and will leave tomorrow for Santiago.

NAZIS PROMISED A HUGE SUPPLY OF RUMANIAN OIL

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 8 (AP).—Rumania has promised to deliver 3,000,000 tons of oil to Germany in 1941, it was reported in official circles tonight. That amount would be nearly twice as much as the total exported this year.

In order to move this unprecedented amount of oil, work has begun on a 75 mile pipeline to the Danube port of Giurgiu and a 300 mile pipeline from the oil fields to the Danube port of Moldova Noua. Establishment of a secondary loading port at Moldova Noua will eliminate the necessity of sending tankers thru the treacherous iron gate, Danube bottle neck.

The Germans say they expect to have the lines completed by April 1, when they will be prepared to move 360,000 tons monthly.

Economics experts said that Germany, instead of completely deindustrializing Rumania, plans to establish numerous small factories here for the primary processing of agricultural products.

FRANCE DRAWS WARNING FROM MADRID PAPER

MADRID, Spain, Dec. 8 (AP).—The time may soon come when France can give proof of her "proclaimed friendship" for Spain, the Falangist party organ Arriba declared today. Its statement followed Generalissimo Franco's hint yesterday to France against repeating "past errors." Arriba referred to "discriminations against" Spain in past years and said that peace, when it comes, must take into account Spain's desires, which have been outlined as including expansion in Africa, where France still holds territories adjacent to Spain's Moroccan protectorate. Spain wants "no status quo and no provisional arrangement," Arriba added. "These would simply defraud Spain of her historical and natural rights."

AUTO-TONE FELTS

Here's a curious thing we've noticed. The biggest boosters for our new Auto-Tone hats are those men who at first merely smiled at the idea of two colors in a hat. That was before they tried one on.

We've seen them stand before a mirror, whistle a bit, then exclaim, "Jove, that IS good looking! ... makes hats I've been wearing look dated!"

You too will find them refreshingly different...distinguished. Choose your own color scheme, blending or contrasting the crown and brim. Be individual. All Knox styled, but available only at Shayne's.

GERMANS LOOSE VIOLENT 12 HOUR RAID ON LONDON

Bombing Compared with Coventry Attack.

LONDON, Dec. 9, Monday (AP).—A violent 12 hour overnight German air assault ended early today as fog closed in to cover the new gaping wounds of London.

Londoners, who had 44 hours of quiet shattered by mass bombing that started early last night, resumed the tragic count of dead and wounded, smashed houses, shops, and hospitals.

Five hospitals were bombed including a large general hospital and a woman's hospital.

The thunder of antiaircraft guns died down as rescue workers labored in the debris. The technique of the Germans was compared with the devastating bombing of Coventry in the Midlands a month ago.

The raiders came earlier in the evening than ever before, first dropping flares to light the ground below, then fire bombs and then high explosives on London and a number of surrounding districts.

In one residential district at least 60 incendiary bombs fell and burst. Most of the fires were put out while the attack proceeded. Two enemy bombers were destroyed.

Pound Duesseldorf Again.

Yesterday afternoon and at dusk big German guns on the coast of France had bombarded Dover.

British flyers, who raided the industrial Rhineland city of Duesseldorf for 12 hours on Wednesday night, roared back Saturday night, the air ministry said, and bombed blast furnaces, steel works, gas works, railway yards, and the quays used by heavy shipping.

When the raiders had turned homewards, the ministry said, they could see far behind them a blaze which experienced crews declared was the worst they had seen in Germany since the R. A. F. attacks began.

Brest, France, too, was given its worst pounding of the war, the air ministry news service declared.

The ports of Antwerp, Dunkirk, Calais, and Boulogne, and several airdromes in Holland, Belgium, and France were also bombed.

Glide Down in Silence.

BERLIN, Dec. 9, Monday (AP).—German bombers subjected London overnight to one of the heaviest attacks since September, informed sources said early today.

They began their attack early in the night, it was said, gliding down on the capital with silenced engines for a surprise raid.

The German radio said the silent approach enabled the raiders to arrive over London before sirens could be sounded and that Londoners became aware of the attack only when flares were dropped, followed immediately by a rain of bombs.

A limited number of British planes attempted to fly into German territory last night but were turned back, informed quarters said.

Goering and Flyer

Hermann Goering, commander in chief of the German air force, chatting with German pilot standing stiffly at attention. The German caption said the flyer had just returned from a flight over England and that Goering met him "somewhere in the west."

BRITONS LOOK FOR SHIFT IN CABINET, NEW WAR POLICY

Hear Growing Demands for Lloyd George.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 8.—A cabinet shakeup and an entirely new war policy may result from sharp criticism of Britain's war effort during the last two weeks in parliament and the press.

The criticism was directed mostly against the home front, and a big decision is predicted shortly on the question of using compulsory powers "over all persons and property." This step has been proposed to coordinate the resources of the nation in speeding up output and solving the problems of feeding, housing, and sheltering the population which the blitzkrieg and the blockade have created.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who is concentrating on military, naval, and strategic problems, was spared by the critics, but almost every other cabinet minister has been under fire.

Call for Lloyd George.

Since Lord Winterton, Conservative member of parliament, last week significantly called "for another Lloyd George" to lead the home front, there has been a growing demand in the lobbies of commons and among newspaper commentators that David Lloyd George, who was the world war prime minister, be assigned the task of coördinating the nation's effort.

Close friends of Lloyd George informed THE TRIBUNE that not until after the Dunkirk evacuation was the man who is credited with winning the last war for Britain invited to consider acceptance of a post in the cabinet. No one sent for him when Neville Chamberlain resigned as premier and Churchill reorganized the government, altho a question asked at the time was, "Have they all forgotten the old man?"

After Dunkirk, Lloyd George was told by an emissary that Churchill wanted him in the government. He asked why the prime minister hadn't personally informed him.

"Besides," Lloyd George was quoted, "would you, if you were I, sit beside men who are responsible for the condition we are in?"

He Opposes Halifax.

Lloyd George never concealed his profound dislike for Chamberlain, nor has he shown any respect for Lord Halifax, foreign minister, against whom the Sunday Despatch renews its charges that, had the foreign office known its business, Britain would never have gotten into the war or would have won it by this time.

Altho Lloyd George even before the war began to emphasize the necessity of a large scale government program and an increase in agricultural production, only now has the government begun to adopt the measures he advocated.

Spends Time on Farms.

Now that Chamberlain no longer is an obstacle, it is believed Lloyd George would accept a cabinet job. Except for rare but dramatic interventions in debates, he is not seen in parliament with his customary regularity. The old war horse now is 76 but he possesses the vitality of a man a score of years younger and devotes most of his time to his farms. He is at his old home at Criccieth, overlooking Cardigan bay in Wales, where he began the career that left its mark on world history.

FAMOUS YACHT LENT WINDSORS FOR FLORIDA TRIP

Southern Cross Owned by Swedish Millionaire.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Dec. 8 (AP).—The duke and duchess of Windsor will use the palatial ocean-going yacht Southern Cross, owned by Axel Wenner-Gren, Swedish industrialist, for their trip to Miami tomorrow.

They will reach Miami on Tuesday—the fourth anniversary of Edward's abdication on Dec. 10, 1936, from the English throne so that he might marry his American born duchess.

Use of the Southern Cross was accepted by Windsor to take the duchess to her homeland for a major dental operation because of a half-day delay in the sailing schedule of the S. S. Munargo, on which the party had booked passage.

Extra Time Valuable.

The extra time was considered valuable, the duke's aids said, so the duchess could submit to the operation at a Miami Beach hospital and have time for partial recuperation before the royal party returns to Nassau on Friday aboard the Munargo. The Southern Cross will remain in Miami for minor repairs. The Wenner-Grens will remain here.

The Southern Cross, a frequent visitor in southern waters, has had a spectacular history, including several dramatic rescues at sea. The most notable of these was when it saved many survivors from the Athenia, torpedoed in mid-Atlantic 15 months ago at the start of the war.

Will Accept No Invitations.

The duke has let it be known he will accept no invitations and make no public appearance during the private, four day trip to Miami. He and the duchess and an aide-de-camp, Capt. Vyvyan Drury, will remain at St. Francis hospital Tuesday night after the operation. They then will move to the Miami Biltmore hotel for the remainder of the stay.

The duke's only public contact will be upon arrival Tuesday morning, when the Southern Cross docks at the same pier from which President Roosevelt boarded the cruiser Tuscaloosa a week earlier for a Caribbean cruise.

The Windsors will meet newspapermen, after which they will be greeted by an official committee.

Disabled Greek Freighter Sends Fourth Distress Call

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—The 4,330 ton Greek freighter Aghia Eirina, which was disabled by heavy gales off the Irish coast last Thursday sent out its fourth distress call in four days today, announcing that it was drifting with "holds full of water" and "helm out of action." The position given was latitude 53.35 N., and longitude 18.12 W., a point about 400 miles off the Irish coast. The ship carried a crew of 29.

2 NAVAL VESSELS ARRIVE FOR TRIP SOUTH; MORE DUE

Two navy patrol boats of the 9th naval district's reserve fleet, which has been ordered to active sea duty, arrived at the naval armory at the foot of Randolph street from Sheboygan, Wis., yesterday. Three other craft, submarine chasers 64 of Peoria and 412 of Milwaukee, and another patrol boat, YP26, from Sheboygan, will arrive this morning.

The fleet originally was ordered to New York but a storm on the lake on Armistice day forced the boats into lake ports, damaging one. The fleet subsequently was ordered to New Orleans. The boats will go down the Illinois-Mississippi waterway to that port in a few days.

The boats that arrived yesterday were the YP32, commanded by Lieut. H. V. Brown, and the YP27, commanded by Lieut. W. B. McLaren. A former pleasure yacht, the 150 foot Sea Wolf, acquired from a Youngstown, O., newspaperman, also arrived at the armory from Sandusky, O. It will leave with the others for the gulf.

PRO-NAZI SHIFT IN PETAIN CABINET REPORTED NEAR

Swiss Hear Flandin Will Get Portfolio.

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 8 (AP).—Chief of State Henri Philippe Petain of France is planning a government shakeup, diplomatic reports from France said tonight. They declared he seeks to bring into his cabinet former Premier Pierre Etienne Flandin, prewar exponent of an understanding with Germany, and perhaps others to replace ministers opposing Vice Premier Pierre Laval on collaboration with Germany.

It was reported that Flandin might soon replace Marcel Peyroutin as minister of the interior, and that a former air minister, Marcel Deat, also a prewar advocate of Franco-German coöperation, might be chosen as minister of justice to replace Raphael Alibert.

Flandin and Deat, these reports added, then might establish their departments in Paris and function there as the two who could deal best with German authorities.

Flandin Visits Vichy.

Flandin heretofore has spent his time in Paris or in the provinces, but has shunned Vichy. He appeared there yesterday, however, and was still there during a cabinet meeting tonight.

Peyroutin and other cabinet members, including Alibert, Minister of Agriculture Pierre Caziot, and Minister of Labor Rene Belin, were said to be in frequent disagreement with Vice Premier Laval on questions of collaborating with Germany.

Political observers reported that Flandin's entry into the cabinet would not necessarily bolster Laval's stock, even if it removed some of his opposition. Altho Flandin's public support is by no means nation-wide, diplomatic sources said he is more popular than Laval and might become Laval's rival for power.

Deat Wins Nazi Favor.

Deat, like Flandin, has been winning favor with the Germans. He has incessantly attacked the "opposition bloc" of Petain's government, both in newspaper articles and on the Paris radio.

Deat has charged Alibert with being a royalist plotter and with secretly meeting the count of Paris, pretender to the French throne. Alibert has denied that he is agitating for restoration of the monarchy.

It was reported in Vichy that Deat was planning to go there from Paris for a talk with Petain. Deat's political ally, the independent writer Gaston Bergery, has been active in Vichy for some months but recently was sent on a propaganda mission abroad.

'Immaculate Conception,' Painting, Returns to Spain

MADRID, Spain, Dec. 8 (AP).—Murillo's great painting, "Immaculate Conception," has been returned to Spain as a gift from Chief of State Petain after more than a century's absence. The celebrated canvas of the 17th century Spanish painter was sold after Spain's war of independence and long hung in the Louvre at Paris. It will be placed in the Prado.

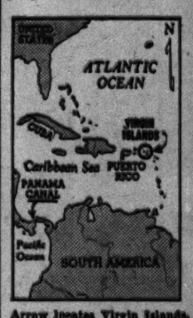
U. S. CONSIDERS REFUGEE HAVEN IN VIRGIN ISLES

Three Departments Study Proposed Plan.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—A proposal to offer the Virgin Islands as a haven for financially independent European political refugees is under consideration, it was learned today by the state, justice, and interior departments.



Arrow locates Virgin Islands.

Representatives of the departments held daily conferences last week on the diplomatic, legal, and economic questions which would be involved in such action and asked advice from a number of private citizens interested in refugee problems. It is understood that no decision has been reached.

A joint resolution adopted last year by the St. Thomas and St. Croix public councils declared it to be the desire of the island people that such refugees be given shelter there under protection of the United States flag.

No Passports Required.

Under the plan being considered aliens would be received with no passport other than a "landing ticket" approved by American consuls at their points of embarkation or by island authorities upon their arrival. They would not be eligible to apply for American citizenship, and would not be permitted to seek employment in competition with the islanders. Their "tickets," similar in effect to border passes, would be revokable at any time.

The interior department, which supervises the islands, is understood to have approved the proposal.

The state department, however, is said to be concerned over the feasibility of permitting European aliens to enter American territory without the customary visas, and the justice department is weighing the chances of successfully weeding out subversive elements and "fifth columnists" who might take advantage of the island's hospitality.

Perhaps to Mainland Later.

If, after a time on the islands, a refugee wished, and this government found it satisfactory, he would be permitted to make application for a visa to come to the mainland and later, perhaps, file for citizenship.

No vast number of political exiles could be accommodated on the islands. They are small in territory and the native population, responsible for its economy, is a scant 22,000.

TRUCKER DIES IN CRASH.

Kankakee, Ill., Dec. 8 [Special].—Walter Chinski, 27 years old, a Bradley trucker, was killed last night when his truck overturned on highway 113, about 11 miles northwest of Kankakee.

Dungeons for Safety

Women of the river emergency service in London find air raid sanctuary in dungeons along the Thames that were last used for captives during the Napoleonic wars.

BROOKLYN NAVY YARD BLACKS OUT IN AIR RAID TEST

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—The Brooklyn navy yard was blacked out for an hour this morning while two light bombers droned overhead in what was said to be the first experiment of its kind for a specific air test in the eastern United States.

Capt. L. N. McNair, captain of the yard, described the results as "excellent" but said that much remained to be done. For maximum safety of the yard, for instance, surrounding streets would have to be blacked out.

At 1 a. m. lights on all boats in the yard were put out. Inside the shops a night ship of 300 men continued work as light-proof screens covered all windows, as the planes circled overhead. An hour later the lights went on again.

STAGE BEING SET FOR A 2 BILLION LOAN TO BRITAIN

Demands for Cession of Islands Growing.

much the same thing will happen in the case of the islands when the British seek American funds to continue the war.

The professed repugnance of the British to territorial trades involving the transfer of British subjects to another sovereignty is taken with a grain of salt by those who recall the British government's offer to cede a part of British Somaliland to Italy in 1935 in an effort to appease Mussolini on the eve of his war with Ethiopia.

What value properly could be placed upon the British West Indies as a purchase price is a question on which there are widely varying views. Most of the islands are liabilities economically. But politically they are of great value to the United States as a first line of defense. The United States purchased the Virgin Islands from Denmark for 25 million dollars during the world war because of danger that they might have fallen into the hands of Germany.

Computing Indies' Worth.

It has been suggested that the Virgin Islands' price might furnish a gauge of the value of the British West Indies. A great many factors enter into any calculation of this sort, but two of the most important in consideration of economic value are area and exports. The area of the Virgin Islands is 133 square miles and the value of the Virgin Islands' exports in 1938 was $1,250,000. The area and exports of the British West Indies for 1938 follow:

	Sq.Mi.	Exports.
Bahamas	4,404	$ 900,000
Bermuda	19	600,000
Barbados	166	5,300,000
Jamaica, Turks, Caicos	4,674	21,000,000
Leeward Islands	422	2,400,000
Trinidad and Tobago	1,978	35,000,000
Windward Islands	516	1,100,000
Total	12,179	$66,300,000

On the basis of area it would appear that the British West Indies are worth 2 billion 300 millions when the price of 25 millions for the Virgin Islands is taken as a gauge. On the basis of exports their value would be 1 billion 325 millions.

McAdoo's Old Estimate.

It is recalled that William Gibbs McAdoo about 20 years ago estimated the value of the British West Indies at about 2 billions.

The use of exports statistics as a criterion results in a gross undervaluation of Bermuda and the Bahamas, the chief economic asset of which is the tourist trade.

HEAR TOLEDANO, LABOR LEADER, WILL QUIT MEXICO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 8.—Voluntary exile for Vincent Lombardo Toledano, chief of the radical C. T. M. [Mexican Workers' federation], was indicated today as Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, new president of Mexico, took further steps to gear up his administration. Gen. Juan Almazan, defeated presidential candidate, also is expected to leave the country.

Political sources said Toledano lost power when the government weeded communist elements out of office.

COIN ROLLS MADE AS TOYS USED BY TELLER IN THEFT

Bernard L. Kloese, 28 years old, a former bank teller, was helping neighborhood children build a playstore when he hit upon the scheme to cover shortages in his accounts by substituting pieces of pipe loaded with buckshot for rolls of coin in the bank vaults, it was learned yesterday. He used the same type of dummy rolls he devised as toys to conceal his peculations from bank officials and bank examiners for more than six months.

Kloese was an employé of the Clearing State bank for three years. He pleaded guilty Friday in the federal District court of embezzlement of $1,058. A motion for probation will be decided Dec. 20.

Records show that the thefts were detected in a lie test at about the same time the bank stumbled on them. The teller had been required to take a lie test in connection with a depositor's complaint and, while clearing himself in this matter, betrayed his shortages.

Mexican Ambassador Starts Back to Washington Today

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 8 (AP).—Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, reappointed ambassador to the United States, plans to leave for Washington tomorrow. He said he would carry certain instructions from President Manuel Avila Camacho, but gave no indication what they were.

Cowboy Becomes Onlooker and Buffalo Becomes Robe

A cowboy and a buffalo broke bones yesterday during Col. A. L. Gatewood's Flying X rodeo in the Coliseum. This means that the cowboy, Ed [Red] Hammerschmidt, will be on the sidelines and the buffalo will be a robe. Hammerschmidt broke a kneecap bulldogging a steer. The buffalo was shot after breaking a leg. The cowhands are counting on buffalo steak, and Charles Hall, manager of the Coliseum, has been promised the buffalo robe.

3 BANDITS SEIZE $75,000 JEWELS IN LOOP THRONG

Strong-Arm Salesman in Doorway; Flee in Car.

A visiting jewelry salesman from New York City reported indignantly to Central police yesterday that three strong arm bandits held him up at noon near Madison street and Wabash avenue, took $75,000 worth of gems, and escaped before he could shout an alarm or before startled onlookers had realized what had happened. The jewels were insured.

Maury S. Sater.

The victim was Maury S. Sater, a member of the firm of M. S. Sater company, 580 5th avenue, New York City, jewel importers. He lives in Rockville Centre on Long Island.

Returning to His Hotel.

Sater said he has been here for several days calling on customers. He said he had visited the Chicago Lapidary company, 29 East Madison street, yesterday, and was returning to his room in the Palmer House.

Then, as he was walking in front of 12 South Wabash avenue, two men jostled him and forced him into a doorway, according to his account of the holdup. A third man, who was waiting in the doorway, grabbed him around the neck and held him, he said, while the first two men seized two grips in which he was carrying unset emeralds, sapphires, rubies, cats' eyes, diamond rings, and other valuable stones.

Escape in Waiting Auto.

Sater said the three bandits then ran to a waiting automobile where a fourth man sat at the wheel, and sped south in Wabash avenue. The car bore stolen license plates.

The bandits punched him, and acted with such speed, he said, that they got away before he could recover his wind to shout an alarm. He said he didn't see a revolver and that there probably were at least 200 passersby who might have seen what was going on. He said also that there were several cab drivers nearby who could have given chase but did not.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 8.—The possibility of a military alliance between Russia and the United States is being discussed in Moscow as the result of the early return of the American ambassador to Moscow, Laurence A. Steinhardt, who shortened his vacation to resume his post.

The soviet government thus far has been unwilling to discuss closer relations with the American government. Soviet diplomats have told American observers in Moscow they would be interested only after three or four months when it became clear how much military aid the United States could give England and if the present British government could survive the German attacks thru the winter.

Bolsheviks Unconvinced.

Thus far the American and British ambassadors in Moscow have not convinced the bolshevik authorities that American aid is going to be a decisive factor in the European war.

Confronted with voluminous reports detailing the various kinds of aid America is preparing to give England, soviet officials have produced an even more abundant volume of information about American unpreparedness and difficulties to advance its defense program.

THE TRIBUNE is informed that the American diplomats were astonished at the amount of information the Moscow government possessed about activities in America. They were told Moscow had more agents in the United States than the British and German governments combined. Russian officials asserted their information is much more complete than that obtained by the Germans and told how the Germans had approached them, asking for certain information.

Minimum of Help to Nazis.

When American negotiators told the Moscow commissariat of foreign affairs that America already was waging a totalitarian economic war against Germany the Russians hinted this was not enough to induce them to consider changing their policy.

However, the American and British diplomats were informed the German government is obtaining a minimum of economic help from the soviet government.

The Russians also said they had not accepted Germany's offer to send into Russia several thousand engineers, technicians and other experts to enlarge the trade turnover between the two countries. They said few Germans were in the employ of the soviet government.

GANGSTER LEVY? UNION AID JUST CAN'T BELIEVE IT!

Visiting Vice President Doubts M'Lane Charges.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

To a visiting union official yesterday the statement that Danny Stanton, gangster extraordinary, collected tribute of $1,800 per month thru the Chicago Waiters' alliance seemed at least an exaggeration.

Edward S. Miller.

So did reports about the Miscellaneous Hotel and Restaurant Employés' union yielding Gangster Stanton a princely income and that Boss Gangster Frank Nitti, alias "The Enforcer," could ransom a king with his revenue from labor unions.

The visiting official is Edward S. Miller of Kansas City, Mo. Miller is a vice president of the Hotel and Restaurant Employés' International alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, the organization of which George B. McLane is a local big shot.

Jurors Told of Union Rule.

McLane, under oath and before a grand jury not so long ago, said that Gangster Stanton "owned" the waiters' union and the miscellaneous union and that Enforcer Nitti had forcibly adopted the bartenders' union. McLane is business agent of the bartenders' union.

Miller is in Chicago as the representative of Edward Flore, international president, whose home is in Buffalo, N. Y. The headquarters of the international is in Cincinnati, O.

"Our international has about 20,000 members in Chicago," Miller said, "A per capita tax of 30 cents a member a month is paid to the international."

"So that Chicago working men and women pay $6,000 every month to the international's headquarters in Cincinnati?" he was asked.

"That's right," he answered.

McLane Testimony Questioned.

McLane, whose sworn testimony was not accepted without question by Miller, had placed the number of Chicago members of the international at 30,000. They belong to the 15 local unions banded together and called the Local Joint council, and they are mainly bar, restaurant, and hotel employés.

"There are only about 3,000 members of the Chicago Waiters' alliance," said Miller in reference to McLane's story of Stanton's collections. "Waiters pay $2 a month dues and bus boys pay $1.50. After paying the union officers' salaries, the ordinary expenses, and then the per capita tax for membership in the international, the joint council, the state and city federations, there would not be enough left for Stanton to get $1,800 a month."

Miller said the waiters with 3,000 members, the bartenders with 4,000, and the miscellaneous union with 5,000 were the big unions of his international's group in Chicago. He said the dues of the other unions did not seem to provide enough money to bear out McLane's stories.

Payoffs Are Described.

"Miller should consider that McLane said there was more profit in not organizing some businesses than in collecting union dues," said Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney. "For example, McLane said hundreds of restaurants and taverns in the city paid stipulated sums every month to unionists under the control of Nitti and Stanton. This money was paid so they would not have to hire union employés."

It was recalled that McLane said one group of restaurant owners offered him and Louis Romano, then president of the bartenders' union and also of the local joint council, $14,000 "to be let alone." Needless to say, Crowley remarked, McLane said he declined the offer.

It was known that gangsters had other means of raising cash than thru the control of the 20,000 union members described by Miller, said Crowley. McLane talked of a year book which netted $25,000 a year and a weekly paper filled with liquor ads, and the payment of $25,000 a year by a whisky company to subsidize the union's school for bartenders.

Scalise Study Suggested.

It was suggested that Miller should not be so naive. William Crawford, assistant state's attorney, said Miller could have picked up some information thru a study of evidence brought out in the trial in New York of George Scalise, labor pirate allied with Nitti, Stanton, and the late Mike Carrozzo. Crawford spent the last six months investigating the labor gleanings of Scalise, Nitti, Stanton, and others.

The prosecutor's staff welcomed Miller to the city and warned him not to believe everything he hears and only part of what he sees.

The prosecutor's office also is making another drive against the combined forces of Nitti and Stanton—in the gambling racket.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney said he will lend all the power of his office to see that the injunctions obtained by Attorney General John E. Cassidy against bookies are obeyed. There may be a Nitti-Stanton handbook drive anytime now, it was predicted.

THELMA HANCHETT.

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—Thelma Hanchett, 26 years old, former Chicago night club hostess who used the name of Thelma Hutchinson, ended her life today by inhaling gas in her apartment here because of an unhappy love affair. She came to New York from Chicago two years ago.

Police found a note addressed to "Dearest Johnny" which said, "You told me when Helen was here that you no longer cared for me. Remember, I'll love you always."

Among the Chicago night clubs where the girl was said to have been employed was the Minuet club.

CHILD TELLS HOW FAMILY DROWNED IN TRUCK WRECK

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 8 (AP).—An eight year old boy—dazed and suffering from exposure—told an incoherent story today of how his parents and younger brother drowned when their small truck swerved from the highway and plunged into a brook.

The youngster, Fred Rickett Jr., told haltingly and with sobs how he was hurled from the truck as it dived into the water and how he landed on the bank of the stream. Thruout the night he stumbled around seeking aid. At 5 a. m. he reached the home of Mrs. Helen Buxton, less than two miles from the scene of the accident.

The bodies of the victims, Fred Rickett, 57, a farmhand; his wife, Beatrice, 24, and Charles, 5, were recovered in three feet of water.

STEELMAN SEES DEATH COMING.

Homestead, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP).—Frank Retrieve, 34, worked around steel mills long enough to know he hadn't a chance when an ingot mold overturned yesterday. "So long, fellows," he cried as molten metal poured over him at the Carnegie-Illinois steel plant. He died eight hours later.

Actress Weds

ANN MORRISS.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Dec. 8 (AP).—Film Director Edwin L. Marin, 39 years old, and Actress Ann Morriss were married here today by a justice. They were attended by Mary Morriss, sister of the bride, and Ned Marin, brother of the groom.

Nicaragua Plans Shrine in Honor of Poet Dario

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Dec. 8.—The house in which Ruben Dario, Nicaragua's greatest poet, was born is to be preserved by the government as a national shrine, it was announced today. A school will be established to perpetuate Dario's memory.

CHRISTMAS STAR AND CROSS SHINE ON BIG BUILDING

Out of the darkness of the evening sky of Chicago the Christmas cross and the star of peace gleamed for four hours last night. They were formed by lighted windows in the towering Palmolive building at 919 North Michigan avenue, and will gleam again from 6 p. m. to midnight Christmas eve. The five pointed star shone in the top 16 floors of the building on the south side. The cross, gleaming on the north side, was 21 stories high and the width of the building. To operate the annual Christmas display requires an electrical force of 20 men, Carl E. Olin, building manager, said.

Health Official Reports California Flu on Wane

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 8 (AP).—Dr. J. C. Geiger, city health director, believes California's influenza epidemic will be over by Christmas. "It is in no way comparable, clinically or statistically, with the epidemic of 1918," he said today. "This spell is very mild. The pneumonia and mortality rate will be practically nil." Officials in nearby Redwood City said 13 San Mateo county schools, closed last week because of the ailment, will be reopened tomorrow.

ARMY ENGINEER DIES; 10TH VICTIM OF PLANE CRASH

The tenth victim of Wednesday's plane crash at Chicago airport died last night in Holy Cross hospital. He is Owen M. Frederick, 52 years old, of North Olmsted, O., a United States army engineer. Five injured passengers in the same hospital and one in Passavant hospital are expected to recover.

The plane, a giant United Air Lines transport, crashed into a house as the pilot brought it in Wednesday evening after a flight from New York. The cause of the crash has not been determined.

YOU CAN GET A LOAN OF $100

IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $6.43 A MONTH

No endorsers or guarantors needed—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Your loan promptly arranged in a brief, friendly interview

WOULD you like to get a cash loan without having to ask friends or relatives for a favor? At Household Finance you can apply for $20 to $300—without endorsers or guarantors—if you can make small monthly payments on your loan. We require no stocks or bonds, no wage or salary assignment. You borrow on your own signature (no friends need sign)—and at rates substantially below the lawful maximum.

Choose your own payment plan

See, in the table below, how you may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments which fit your own income. You may repay in small installments spread over 20 months. Or you may repay sooner to reduce the charges. Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.77 each will repay a $100 loan in full in 12 months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for 20 months will also repay a $100 loan.

Same rate to everyone

Installments in the table cover everything. They include charges at the rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only one rate—the same to everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

No one else need know

When you borrow at Household, there is no need to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) We do not ask friends or relatives about your credit. If you should be faced with sickness or unemployment while paying on a loan, Household will show you every consideration. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

If a loan will help you, you are urged to look at the table again. Then phone or visit us for further information. You'll be under no obligation to borrow.

WHAT A BREAK! INSTEAD OF "DOSES" FOR CONSTIPATION, TRY CRISP, DELICIOUS ALL-BRAN!

A MILLION PEOPLE DAILY FOLLOW ALL-BRAN'S" BETTER WAY"

NO WONDER this marvelous breakfast cereal has swept the country! Just compare a bowl of crisp, flavorful ALL-BRAN with sugar and cream with the usual remedies for constipation due to lack of "bulk." And remember that ALL-BRAN also makes the most delicious bran muffins you ever tasted! The recipe is on every package.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS for anyone troubled with the common kind of constipation that's due to lack of "bulk" in the diet.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO DEPEND on remedies that may offer only temporary relief. You can get at the cause of the trouble and correct it by regularly eating this marvelous cereal.

There are two ways to combat constipation due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet. One way is to wait till it strikes, then take an emergency medicine. The other is to get at the cause of the trouble—and both correct it and prevent its recurrence. This is ALL-BRAN'S "better way."

Not only is it better for you, it's a lot more pleasant, too. You'll really enjoy this crisp, ready-to-eat cereal with sugar and cream, and perhaps some fruit. Eat it regularly, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about common constipation.

You'll like ALL-BRAN in muffins, too. This delicious cereal makes the most marvelous muffins that ever melted a pat of butter! They are just as effective as the cereal. You'll find the recipe for ALL-BRAN muffins on every package.

Be sure, however, to get the genuine KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Accept no substitute. ALL-BRAN is backed by 20 years of experience and millions of satisfied users. It is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek and sold by every grocer.

WOMAN AMAZES MEDICAL AIDS BY LIVING 100 YEARS

She Owned 15 Slaves at 12; Never Wore a Hat.

BY MARCIA WINN.

A little old lady who owned 15 slaves when she was 12, saw Abraham Lincoln when she was 21, survived pneumonia at 98 and a broken hip at 99, was 100 years old yesterday.

She is Mrs. Martha Jordan Mullen, and she preened like a young bride yesterday as she sat in a wheel chair in the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Aubrey Norwood, at 5947 Race street in Austin. Her snowy hair was crimped by her own hands, "as it has been ever since I can remember," she observed crisply, and she wore a flowered lavender and white silk dress which she made two years ago.

Doctor and Nurse Confused.

To add unnecessary luster to her attire, she wore an orchid, a gift from her nurse who, like her physician, is confused and confounded by Mrs. Mullen's 100 years. Six weeks ago Mrs. Mullen broke her hip; now she can walk again. Eight months ago she was under an oxygen tent three weeks with pneumonia; she emerged undaunted, just as she did when 98 and 80. These were her only illnesses.

"She's made a fabricator out of me so many times that I have ceased to predict," her physician commented.

The snow was six feet deep, Mrs. Mullen likes to say, the day she was born 100 years ago on a Carroll county, Maryland, plantation. Twelve years later, an orphan, she was willed her father's 15 slaves for "one year." She still cherishes the will, with the provision that they "then be emancipated forever, a bedstead and a feather bed given to each."

Homeliest Man She Ever Saw.

"So you see," she confides, "it wasn't just Mr. Lincoln who freed the slaves. I remember when I saw him, when his train was routed around Baltimore because they thought he might be assassinated, I couldn't for my life understand how he'd make a good President. He was the homeliest man I ever saw."

Many people claim to have seen Lincoln, many to have survived pneumonia at various ages, but Mrs. Mullen's six grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren [all of whom she defeats miserably at bunco] believe she has one unmatchable distinction. Thruout all her 100 years she has worn a bonnet; never a hat.

"Once I put a hat on," she recalls, "and Will [her husband, who died at 85] said to me, 'Where did you get that thing?' I said, 'I made it.' And he told me, 'Well, you can unmake it.' And I did."

FINDS HIS BABIES SLAIN AND WIFE HIDING IN CISTERN

Princeton, Ill., Dec. 8 (AP).—Mrs. Agnes Borg, 34 year old farm mother, was under guard in a hospital here tonight after her two children, a 3 year old girl and a 5 months old boy, were found dead of shotgun wounds in their home near Milo, Ill.

The bodies, State's Attorney Joseph Peterson said, were found at 11 a. m. today by the children's father, Eric, who then found his wife standing in a cistern with water up to her arm pits.

Peterson said the woman was in a semiconscious condition and unable to answer questions.

CANAL FLUSHING SHOWS INCREASED EFFECT IN POOL

A development hoped for by Sanitary district engineers is beginning to occur in the experimental increase of diversion from Lake Michigan into the Illinois waterway, it was learned yesterday.

In the early stages of the 10 day flushing period, which started a week ago, more sediment was washed into the Brandon road pool at Joliet than emerged from it. But yesterday Dr. Floyd W. Mohlman, director of laboratories for the sanitary district, said:

"Suspended solids in the water below the pool have increased from 50 to 100 parts in a million. Above the pool there has been a decrease, from 500 to 250. This shows that the main channel is pretty well cleaned up, and that now the flushing process is becoming more effective in the pool. These chemical analyses mark the half-way point in the experimental period."

H. P. Ramey, assistant chief engineer, said the water level at the Lockport dam and power station had been lowered an additional six inches to compensate for west winds in maintaining the temporary 10,000 cubic feet a second diversion from Lake Michigan.

SKATER BREAKS THRU ICE; DROWNS IN SKOKIE LAGOON

Arthur Beiersdorf, 40 years old, an automobile mechanic of 1217 Austin street, Evanston, drowned yesterday when he fell thru soft ice into 8 feet of water while skating on lagoon No. 1 at the Skokie lagoon project, half a mile west of Willow road and three-quarters of a mile east of Skokie highway, west of Winnetka.

County highway police said the ice had melted and that, altho unsafe, it had not been posted. Two boys were rescued earlier after falling thru ice in a nearby lagoon.

A passerby who saw Beiersdorf fall thru the ice notified police. The body was recovered by a Wilmette coast guard crew.

SANITARY BOARD PLANS MILLION BUDGET INCREASE

Need Is Based on Rising Costs and Unpaid Bills.

[This is the third in a series of articles discussing the financial condition of the six major operating governments in Cook county.]

BY LAURENCE BURD.

The Sanitary District of Chicago plans to increase its corporate, or operating, budget by $1,174,000 next year. This would bring the budget to $8,928,000. The preliminary estimate was made yesterday by Ross A. Woodhull, president, in discussing the district's financial outlook.

Woodhull said the proposed increase, which would make the operating budget the highest since 1931, is necessary for two reasons—a sharp increase in operating expenses for next year and a carryover of 1940 unpaid bills into 1941 resulting from a shortage of revenue during the last year.

The sanitary district will begin 1941 owing $900,000 in unpaid bills, the most since 1932. Woodhull said the district, after paying its bills on time steadily from 1935, was forced to stop paying them altogether last Sept. 30 in order to meet pay rolls. He said there is no prospect of paying creditors until next year.

Cash Sufficient at Start of Year.

In contrast to the present financial situation, at the beginning of 1940 the sanitary district owed only $277,000 in unpaid bills and had cash on hand to meet them. It also had surplus cash amounting to $625,000 at that time.

Woodhull estimated that operating expense for 1941 will be $558,000 more than in 1940. He explained that this results from the district's plan to treat 17 per cent more sewage next year. The district operations have increased steadily under the 196 million dollar sewage treatment construction program started in 1922.

Ten years ago 219 million gallons of sewage were treated a day. This year the daily average was 912 millions, and next year it is expected to be 1,070 millions. The population served was a million in 1930. Next year it will exceed 3,800,000. Expanded use of the southwest side sewage treatment works, first placed in operation in 1939, is largely responsible for the recently rising total.

Staff to Be Decreased.

Woodhull said increased expenses expected next year will go largely for chemicals, fuel, and electric power. Preliminary estimates actually call for a decrease in the number of employés on the corporate pay roll from 1,463 this year to 1,436 in 1941, the president of the district board of trustees said.

The annual appropriation, compared with the amount of sewage treated and the number of employés in recent years, is shown in the following table:

Year.	Appropriation.	Sewage Treated [millions gals. per day].	No. of Employés.
1933	8,273,000	395.4	940
1935	6,717,000	372.4	986
1936	5,497,000	464.9	998
1937	5,394,000	545.8	1,019
1938	5,803,000	567.6	1,051
1939	6,536,000	669.9	1,200
1940	7,754,000	912.1	1,463
1941 [est.]	8,921,000	1,070.0	1,436

The upturn in operating costs in the last few years has prompted the sanitary district to increase its tax levy. Taxes are its chief source of income, representing about 75 per cent of the 1940 revenues.

Plea for Boost Expected.

Woodhull said detailed estimates of the 1941 income from taxes and other revenues have not been completed, but predicted the district will ask the legislature to increase its pegged tax levy by 1 to 2 million dollars.

Last year the legislature pegged the district's tax for the operating fund at 5 million dollars' altho the district estimated it would need a levy of 6 millions. As a result of this cut and a $300,000 deficiency in other revenues, the district spent beyond its income to keep its plants operating this year.

The collection of less than 80 per cent of taxes billed for 1937, 1938, and 1939 has added to the troubles of the district.

Taxpayers Must Meet Difference.

Woodhull said the deficiency will have to be made up almost altogether out of taxpayers' pockets. He explained that other revenues coming from the sale of electricity, fertilizer and water, and from land rentals, cannot be increased appreciably.

Woodhull predicted that by 1942 the district will require a corporate tax levy of at least 7 million dollars to meet expenses of further expansion of sewage treatment. This would be an increase of 2 million dollars over 1940.

In terms of the tax rate, this would mean an increase for taxpayers in the sanitary district of approximately 8 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation. It would increase the corporate tax rate to about 29 cents for each $100, or nearly double the legal rate of 15 cents which was effective until the 1940 pegged levy was adopted.

FIND MANTENO WORKERS ARE GERM CARRIERS

Dr. Walter H. Baer, managing officer of the Manteno State hospital, said yesterday that several "carriers" of dysentery have been found among employés of the institution. These employés have been isolated, he said, and a thoro investigation of all employés is being conducted. Meanwhile, tests are being made on 40 persons from the institution who were quarantined last week after complaining of dysentery symptoms. No new cases have been discovered, Dr. Baer said.

CARNEGIE CHIEF FINDS TOO MANY COLLEGES IN U. S.

Reports $4,692,000 Gifts to Education in Year.

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—The United States has far too many universities, colleges and "voluntary organizations for worthy purposes," Dr. Frederick P. Keppel said today in his annual report as president of the Carnegie corporation of New York. He predicted that many of them would disappear in the years to come, for the reason that the country could not afford them.

Dr. Keppel's remarks about the excess of universities were in the nature of an aside in his discussion of the functions of such foundations as the Carnegie corporation, which in 1939-'40 granted $4,692,682 for educational purposes.

"With rare exceptions," he wrote, "a foundation can reach its objective only by working thru another institution, and there are in the United States far more universities, colleges, and other operating institutions, and far more voluntary organizations for worthy purposes than the nation can possibly afford.

Survival of Fittest.

"In the years to come many of these are bound to disappear, and one of the most difficult duties that faces the foundation is that of so directing its grants that its influence will be directed toward survival of the fittest.

"These various problems have forced themselves upon our attention during times, which, by comparison at least, were normal. The inescapable fact that we are today in a tragically disordered world is in itself a further challenge to the foundation to justify its place as a social instrument enjoying exemption from taxation and other privileges.

"In the face of falling income and increasing calls from every source, will foundations be able to find the things to do upon which their particular assets can be brought to bear most effectively? While they have limitations, their natural advantages are many. They can move quickly.

Will Meet Double Challenge.

"It is hard at any time for a foundation to keep its head amidst exigent and conflicting calls. It is doubly so in times of national tension and excitement. But on the whole, and all things considered, the writer is confident that the American Foundation as an institution will meet the double challenge of a critical present and an unpredictable future."

The report said that for several reasons, one of them being continued low interest rates, the corporation "for the first time in many years incurred obligations which were substantially $1,322,550 in excess of the current income of the main endowment fund." As a result, the amount available for 1940-'41 is down 25 per cent.

Life Insurance Aids National Defense

'HINDSIGHT AND FORESIGHT'
a weekly column by
Holgar J. Johnson
President Institute of Life Insurance

WORKERS must have machines so that soldiers can have arms—this is the first essential of modern defense. But it's only half the story. Workers and soldiers alike must have confidence in the security of their families, if they are to have the will to work or fight. This is the basis of a nation's morale.

JOHNSON

Each American family has, on the average, almost $4,000 worth of life insurance. There are about 65,000,000 individual policyholders, holding $117,500,000,000 face amount of life insurance—certainly a substantial backlog for the nation's morale.

Through group insurance 25,000 industrial and mercantile companies—many engaged in defense work—are protecting 10,000,000 employees, providing a year's wages, on the average, for each worker's family. Similarly life insurance is co-operating with thousands of business firms to give their employees a stake in the future through annuity and pension plans.

The safety record of American life insurance is the direct result of sound business policies and methods under wise supervision by the states. The assets, which assure the payment of this life insurance, are close to thirty billions, conservatively invested in the basic economic structure of the country, thus forming one of the strongest bulwarks of our national strength.

Life insurance men throughout the country are co-operating in many ways to promote the defense program. Their most important contribution, however, is in the building of one of the essential foundations of national confidence—a staunch conviction in the mind of the individual citizen that he owns dependable protection for his family and for himself.

This regular Monday column is provided by the Institute of Life Insurance to permit its President to speak to America's policy owners. Address inquiries to the Institute at 60 East 42nd St., New York City.

Well-known hostesses report:

WINE ADDS SURPRISINGLY TO THE SUCCESS OF A DINNER

SIMPLE DINNERS — and good table wine! This is the way smart hosts and hostesses in every section are entertaining nowadays. Next time you have friends in for dinner, why don't you try it?

With the main course pour for everyone a medium portion of light red Claret or pale gold Chablis. Notice how this genial beverage discovers unsuspected goodness in every bite of food. How it brings a touch of elegance and leisurely enjoyment to your meal. Today good wine is so inexpensive you can enjoy it often.

TIPS ON SERVING WINE

TABLE WINES go best with meals. They are made "dry" (not sweet) to complement food. Try tart red Burgundy or Claret; delicate, golden Sauterne or Chablis (chill)... in medium-size portions.

SWEET WINES go best with refreshments and desserts. They are made rich with the natural sweetness of the grape. Try red Port or golden Muscatel. Usually served in a small glass.

AN APPETIZER WINE like Sherry is best before dinner. Sherry is amber, nutlike in flavor. This good wine is usually served in a cocktail-size glass.

AMERICAN AID TO BRITAIN.

Nearly all Americans would think of the invasion of Britain as a calamity. They would do what they could to prevent it. Not many of them are even indifferent. On this they are with the British. They are for the defenders.

Nearly all thoughtful Americans would preserve the British empire. An empire cannot avoid certain errors or get away from certain faults. But thoughtful Americans believe that so far as imperial organization can benefit civilization the British empire has done so. If it has defects so also has the world in which it exists.

It represents to us a familiar organization of peoples. With it we think we know our expectancy. Some of us cannot agree with others who say that it protects us. Better to say that we do not think it is injurious to us. We get along. What the alternative would be we do not altogether know. We know enough to reason that in an imperfect world we'd prefer to deal with the British empire than with the substitute world power which is within vision.

These are general American opinions and sentiments. And they have been put into effect at no little sacrifice to the United States. In a time when we are told that we are in danger our armaments are going to England—for our own defense, some people say. It is rather to save Britain from invasion and the empire from destruction.

When we have said where our choice lies and conceded what our sentiments are our dilemma arises. What shall be the extent of our aid? How far shall we go? At this point reason should have the upper hand of sentiment. We should not be depended upon for an expeditionary force. That exceeds our present ability. It should be outside our permanent policy.

America should not assume the rôle of European policeman. It should not have the prospect of an invasion of the European continent in every generation. That carries us beyond reason. It presents us with what we should regard as impossible. Remaking the map of Europe every 25 years is not in the manifest destiny of the United States. It isn't in common sense.

America would like to help Great Britain to a peace which would leave it, its dominions, and its empire intact and safe. That this peace should impose other conditions upon Europe is not within our sphere. Europe has been in many forms and in many convulsions. This is only another. We cannot assume that the United States is its guardian. Time has always been the greatest conqueror in Europe. It will take charge again.

PLAYING POLITICS WITH AIR SAFETY.

The air liner crash Wednesday night at the Chicago airport was the third such fatal accident since President Roosevelt restored control of air safety regulation last summer to the politicians of the department of commerce. The toll of the three crashes has been 44 lives.

The commerce department, which under the New Deal has been infested by perhaps more political hacks than any other division of the government, controled air safety once before. During that period the toll of pilots and air passengers was nearly as heavy as it has been during the last three months.

It was in recognition of the fact that air safety could not be achieved under the bungling control of politicians that the politically independent air safety board was established. That board, composed of experienced pilots, made an admirable record. During the last 13 months of its existence, terminated last summer by the President's executive order abolishing the board, the commercial air lines of the country did not have a single fatal accident.

An increase of air facalities was predicted when the President turned air safety back to the New Deal job brokers. The air line pilots, who have the greatest stake of any one, their own lives, in safe flying regulations, protested vigorously. Congress attempted to set aside the reorganization order, but the Democratic machine vote prevented that life saving action.

The predictions of disaster have been fulfilled. In calling for a congressional investigation of the three crashes since the department of commerce took over, Congressman Carl Hinshaw of California has charged that there is scandalous inefficiency in the aeronautics setup in the department of commerce, traceable in part to the fact that so many of the jobs are held by temporary appointees.

Congressman Hinshaw also suggests that it is more than coincidental that all three of the fatal crashes took place in bad weather." He suggests that more strict regulation of the type exercised by the abolished air safety board would have resulted in planes being grounded when there was probability of their meeting such weather.

The Air Line Pilots' association, which has just closed its annual meeting in Chicago, charges that at least one of the fatal accidents, that at Salt Lake City, resulted directly from failure to supervise properly the radio range beacon which is essential to safe landings in bad weather. The beam went out of commission and the pilot of the doomed plane was not informed of the fact, with the result that he depended on it and struck a mountainside. This incident betrayed a slackness that the air safety board would not have tolerated.

Congress should restore the air safety board before the incompetence of political control sends another group of air passengers to their deaths.

THE DISFRANCHISED SOUTH.

The announcement that Mr. Roosevelt will press congress for enactment of the St. Lawrence power scheme will be greeted with no enthusiasm in the states to the south of us.

The Mississippi and the St. Lawrence river systems are rivals in several senses. The Mississippi states want the flow in the Illinois waterway increased to make their route navigable at all seasons. The St. Lawrence interests want the diversion held to the barest minimum so that they may have a little more water for power generation. The routes are in competition, also, for the carrying of commodities between the interior of the country and salt water.

The people of Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, and Louisiana are Mississippi river people, and as such have little enthusiasm for the St. Lawrence scheme. Their feeling is shared, of course, in Texas and Alabama which are almost as directly in line for benefits from the lakes-to-gulf waterway.

Mr. Roosevelt owes his position to no small extent to these southern states. Here is another evidence, then, of the extent to which the southerners, by their almost undeviating devotion to the Democratic party, have disfranchised themselves on important national questions. When they voted for Mr. Roosevelt they voted against their own prosperity and their own interest. Individuals who behave in that way are said to suffer from suicidal mania.

PLENTY OF OFFICERS.

Somebody was asking the other day why there are now no training schools for officers, on the model of the Plattsburg and Fort Sheridan camps in the last war. The army is being expanded rapidly. Within the year it is expected that there will be from 1,200,000 to 1,400,000 men in this country under arms. Where will officers for them be found?

The question disclosed a lack of knowledge of one of the few bright spots in our present military situation. There is no need for officers' camps today precisely because there is no shortage of men trained for commissions. Despite the objections of pacifists and of some educational authorities the work of producing officers for an emergency has gone ahead steadily in this country for many years. There are some 14,000 reserve officers already on active duty and, large as that number is, it doesn't begin to exhaust the available supply. There are 126,000 of them on the army rolls of whom no less than 56,000 are products of the R. O. T. C.

It would be a mistake, of course, to assume that all or even any considerable number of these men are fully prepared to meet the problems which modern war presents, but it would be no less a mistake to conclude that they are less well equipped for their duties in 1940 than were the products of the officers' training schools in 1917 and '18. The general opinion is that today's reserve officers have been more carefully selected and are better trained. Instead of being obliged to rush thru the course in a few months they have received their military education over a period of years, with an annual term of field training as a refresher.

Military training in the colleges and secondary schools has proved of inestimable value. Today it is possible to expand the army greatly in a brief period because officers are available. It is not necessary as it has been at similar periods in the past to call into service men who are insufficiently trained or who are too old to undergo the physical hardships of duty in the field.

THE TRIBUNE is proud of the part it has played in stimulating interest in the R. O. T. C. in the colleges and secondary schools. It is interesting to observe that most of the war mongers of today were pacifists when the program of military training in the schools was instituted. The pacifists didn't like it and tried to stop it. They kept it out of the public schools in some communities, including New York.

The opposition to the R. O. T. C. was never intelligent; it was always emotional. So is the war mongering.

Editorial of the Day

LET'S LAY IN SOME POSTWAR ASPIRIN.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

There would be few "mornings after" if people thought about them the night before. Sometimes they mean to do just that, but as the party gathers steam they forget. Nations are the same way. After all, they are only collections of people. We paid for the giddy '20s in the groaning '30s. And, of course, we vowed, "Never again!"

But now we are off on another party—the defense boom, we like to call it. Actually, it is a war boom, occasioned and supported in large measure by Europe's fighting. We know that it will come to an end in two years, or maybe five. But meanwhile it promises to solve all our difficulties, and so, more and more, we are drifting into a shortsighted policy of enjoying the fun while it lasts.

However, if we are wise we will put in a stock of aspirin while we can. We will need it. All too soon we will be face to face with peace and a Europe not only impoverished but actually in ruins. At home we will have huge but useless factories, leaving us only a heritage of job-eliminating machinery. Then 1929's Black Thursday will indeed look like a Sunday school picnic—unless we have that aspirin.

It may be possible to overcome the worst of the postwar problems if we tackle them now. We know, in a general way, that we shall need a new kind of industrial organization with a production rate high enough to keep men at work. We know that we shall need customers for that output, and that well paid workers are good customers. In other words, we shall need a balance of production and purchasing power under very special conditions.

This kind of general knowledge will be of no avail unless we shall have done a lot of hard studying and planning to learn as far as possible just what those special conditions will be, and how they may be anticipated in detail. We can't just bank on a revival of the WPA and the HOLC. The British have realized the need for this kind of preparation for peace, but, under the pressure of war, they have been unable to do much.

It may be that here in the United States we will be told that every effort must be be toward defense, that there is no time for anything else. But this preparation for peace is the most essential kind of defense. We can undertake it at the same time that we build guns and planes.

Congress should give it immediate attention. A thoro fact-finding committee, somewhat like the national economic committee, suggests itself as a first step. But whatever the device, we should begin laying in that aspirin just as soon as possible.

BEHIND THE MASK OF COMEDY.

We gather from reviews of a book called "Mark Twain in Eruption," containing heretofore unpublished writings, that the author of "Huckleberry Finn," etc., was a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. He frequently retired to his study and doffed the mask of comedy to snarl like Harold Ickes.

The learned critics are analyzing his psychology and calling him a mild case of split personality. But perhaps these secret effusions of bitterness, these private wolf bites, merely prove that Mark Twain, like every other person who has been in the funny business, found a lifetime as a professional humorist intolerable. To ease the strain he had to go into his den and gnash his teeth occasionally.

American humorists are the specialty of Franklin J. Meine, Chicago bibliophile and rare book dealer. He pursues their careers, often obscure, thru newspaper files and junk heaps of printed matter, and has more fun at it than Sherlock Holmes on a cold trail. But if he wants to discover a neglected master of wild-eyed fantasy, we advise him to run down a former Chicago sports writer named William A. Phelon. Perhaps Bill never got into book form, but if not the publishers overlooked a bet.

We once contributed a rare item to the first edition market by accident. John Galsworthy made a speech from manuscript as a guest of honor at the Cliff Dwellers' club. As secretary of the club we conceived the idea of printing the text for circulation among the members. Mr. Galsworthy gave his consent. And by golly, those two or three pages are now a first edition of a famous English novelist, and are worth their weight in gold—say, about $2.50.

BLUE LEATHER CHAIR.

Cracked, and wrinkled, and folded, and split,
For the junk-man, certes, thou'rt only fit;
Yet never another will take thy place,
For I have sat in your eased embrace,
Pipe 'twixt teeth, and thru priceless tomes;
David Copperfield, Sherlock Holmes,
Timeless Tom Sawyer, Malvolio, Puck,
The Red Badge of Courage, and Roaring Camp's Luck—
These I've accompanied, and known, and seen:
Such are the things an old chair can mean;
And hence, when they take you I shall not be there
Battered and precious blue leather chair.

Chicago's Sleepy Hollow.

Washington Irving's Sleepy Hollow was distinguished by the pedagog, Ichabod Crane. Here within the confines of Chicago we have a Sleepy Hollow with no school and no pedagog. It is bounded on the east by the Belt railway, on the south by 47th street, the north by 44th street, and the west by Cicero avenue. It is the oldest community on the southwest side of Chicago, and at one time was as isolated from the city as tho it were in some remote corner of the civilized world. There was no means of access to the community save by the way of the Belt railway right of way going north from Archer avenue. Today, Sleepy Hollowers get to their homes by the way of Cicero avenue.

Not too far away, at the corner of 51st and St. Louis, stands what is left of an old building where, during civil war days, travelers stopped to rest and dine. This inn had perhaps the most ornate fireplace west of Philadelphia, and the food was of the finest in the west. Today it is a rooming house for railroad workers and a lunchroom for street car men. Longinus Histoire.

Welcome to "Hell on Wheels."

"Hell on Wheels" was the original name of certain towns in the west because they started as base camps in the construction of the Union Pacific railroad. Among them are North Platte, Neb., Julesburg, Colo., Cheyenne and Laramie, Wyo.

NOTICE TO A SQUIRREL.

Listen, Mister Gray Squirrel,
Chuckling on the tree!
Fat and saucy-gay squirrel,
Harken you to me:
You've no call to act so;
Shouldn't ought to do it;
That's the honest fact, so
Drop that piece of suet!
Why you think we put it there,
Snugly in a cage?
Just so you can tug and tear,
Flying in a rage?
That's for little feathered folk,
Hungry, cold, and weak;
You're so full you nearly choke,
Furry, warm, and sleek!
Go on home and read your books;
Ask your own librarian;
There it's plain to him who looks—
You're a vegetarian! Casual.

A Contrib Looks at the Line Book.

Like the early bird and the proverbial worm, we let no moss grow under our feet when it came to getting our 1940 Line Book, and we were very pleased with it. The fact that we had crept into the makeup twice made us quite ga-ga and actually caused us to smile. This was what might be called an unusual thing because ordinarily we are of the sourpuss variety.

The cover is fine and in general we think the book is "meatier" than last year's. We especially enjoyed "How to Review 'Gone with the Wind,'" "Wearing His Frat Pin," "Dream on an Abandoned Football Field," "A Window in the Past," and "Sad Fate of a Horse Player." But, for that matter, we enjoyed every one of the "64 damn pages."

Thanks for "barshee." We have wanted a word to describe the female barfly for quite some time.

Tavern Rogue.

I agree to erect a monument on top of Mount Desperation, near Marcellus, Mich., to the first person who designs a utility garment that I can wear with comfort during the whole of a week's visit to Chicago. Maxellus.

The only mistake we made in the Line Book of 1940 was not putting the article explaining the origin and meaning of the printers and telegraphers' term, "30," on page 30.

EYE SYMPTOMS MAY MEAN GLAUCOMA.

IN THESE days of ready diagnosis, there is no sound reason why the eyes should not receive the best of care. Despite widespread knowledge some physicians [few, let us hope] may not have glaucoma in mind as a possible cause of blindness.

This malady begins by decreasing vision and the natural tendency is to procure a new pair of glasses. Occasionally, if a thoro examination is not made, cataracts may be suspected. The patient may then be informed that there is no reason to do anything because the lenses must "ripen" before they can be removed. Unfortunately, if glaucoma is present, so much time may be lost that a substantial amount of damage will ensue.

Recently a seamstress, 48 years of age, came to the clinic because of failing sight. For several years she had suffered occasional bouts with pain in one eye. She would awaken frequently in the morning with some distress. Within a few days the trouble would disappear, only to return. At first the left eye bothered her, but later the right one became affected.

About two years ago she visited a neighborhood doctor because of these rhythmic attacks of head pain. Altho he admitted that cataracts might be responsible, he advised her to consult a specialist for a detailed check. This she failed to do as her symptoms seemed to improve and she was free from the manifestation for nearly three months. Then another physician, in whose family she was working, stated that she probably had cataracts and it would be well to delay doing anything until they had matured and could be extracted.

Things progressed in this fashion for almost a year, when she was obliged to give up her position. Objects appeared hazy and indistinct. At this point one of her friends persuaded her to follow the suggestion of her first consultant and seek the services of a skilled eye specialist. The verdict was glaucoma, or hardening of the eyeballs. Vision had dropped to so low a level that she was practically helpless.

Perhaps this is an extreme case. At any rate, but few will be so grossly mismanaged. With early attention this worth-while woman might have been helped. As it is now, she is practically blind and wholly dependent.

Glaucoma is not uncommon. In the main, we regard the cause as something that interferes with drainage of the eyeball, permitting the tension within the structure to increase. This force injures the retina—the seeing portion.

If we would avoid this affliction, there are several symptoms to watch. Any one past middle life who is forced to change his "specs" from time to time, should be referred to a highly trained expert. An occasional episode of misty vision with some discomfort and halos or rainbows about street or table lamps call for investigation.

A very simple test which measures tension [tightness] will serve to identify the disease. But this procedure must be repeated periodically to make certain that the readings are accurate. In addition, an instrument called the "ophthalmoscope" may be employed to examine the interior of the eye.

But, you ask, why so much "to do" about this ailment? The answer is that sight may be lost forever. When detected in the incipient stage, much can be done by using medicine that will contract the pupil and hence accelerate drainage.

Blurred vision may not mean that stronger glasses are needed. It may be significant of a crippling disorder.

ACNE LEAFLET.

Mrs. T. writes: I would like to know something about adolescent acne. One of the members of my family is afflicted.

REPLY.

We have incorporated some facts into leaflet form. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this mimeographed material.

HORMONES FOR HEIGHT.

M. N. writes: Will the use of sex hormones, after the age of 25, increase the stature?

REPLY.

VITAMIN B6.

J. R. writes: I have heard that vitamin B6 is good for the heart muscle. In what way?

REPLY.

Largely in preventing degeneration of the fibers.

THE MELTING POT.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Members of my family have been subjected to embarrassment and humiliation because of their European origin or descent.

You who accuse us of being Mussolini stooges, fifth columnists, etc., can you believe there are Americans of Italian descent, or like myself of Italian birth, whose eyes fill with tears at sight of the American flag, tears of gratitude for the ideals of freedom and humanity it represents? Can you believe there are Italian-Americans who detest Mussolini and all he stands for, and are glad the Greeks are licking him?

Can you believe we pledge allegiance only to the United States, and that the only time our thoughts go back to the old world is when we dwell upon the spirits of Dante, Galileo, and Da Vinci?

CECILIA MARIA CARADONNA.

FOR ALL NIGHT PARKING.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Perhaps, as a Hyde Parker says, a host of law abiding motorists are dismayed because the police are going to continue to allow all night parking. But I believe this host of motorists he writes of does not consist of over 5 per cent of the motorists in Chicago. Anyhow, I think it is doubtful if there is enough public garage space in the city to house conveniently all the cars.

The great majority of all motorists are law abiding, and I'd venture to guess that 85 per cent of motorists and nonmotorists either approve of or have no objection to all night parking with, of course, certain boulevards, thru, and congested streets excepted.

The percentage of motorists who park over fireplugs, sidewalks, etc., is small and they will eventually be caught up with by the police.

But the part of a Hyde Parker's letter that I most take exception to is his statement about this group of people using our expensive streets. Whose streets?

R. R. BOWEN.

DEMAND SECURITY.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—A trustee of an estate or officer of a bank would be considered guilty of a breach of trust if he loaned money out without security. No money or its equivalent in goods should henceforth be advanced to any country by the United States without full and easily handled security. Britain owes us five and one-half billion dollars. For 20 years she has paid not one cent on this vast amount. Before we even talk about more assistance we should insist that she implement this amount now past due with a mortgage on her possessions nearest us. The dollar value of each island and province is on record already in the sum totals of the various assessed tax valuations.

We are fortunate in having picked a true American like Senator Brooks to represent Illinois. He will do us all a great service if he forces this issue to the front. PH. D.

AT THE HORSE SHOW.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—I have always had an idea that the management of the horse show down at the Yards knew what they were doing, but, no more. Last night one of the horses broke a leg. With all their up-to-date motor equipment one would expect an ambulance or the like to take care of the poor thing. But no, they made it try to hobble out on three legs. It was nauseating. GEORGE VAA ERS.

HE WANTS THE PROOF.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., Dec. 1.—Henry F. Gilg in his letter, "TVA, Hidden Taxes, etc.," says it has been carefully estimated that one who earns $150 a month pays $284 annually in hidden taxes.

This is subject to proof. What the people want is facts, not guesses. If that is the proper proportion of legitimate expense in every question of cost of production, then we have no complaint. Everybody pays the same proportion.

What do we get for the money expended? If we get value, then why complain? If we don't get value, then find out why not and remove that which interrupts the natural flow of business. If we have 110 government employés where 100 would do the work effectually find that out and remedy the situation. Let us have facts in every case, not theories.

There was a time when the banks advertised for us to put our money in the bank and get 4 per cent by making it work for us and at the same time provide money for working capital. Now the government issues bonds at ½ to 3 per cent, and where the insurance companies used to invest in other issues they are compelled to buy low rate bonds, making less money for the fund that pays the insured when the policy comes due by death.

Every milk bottle broken has to be paid for, and every dollar wasted by government has to be made good some time.

EPH. P. ANDREW.

INTERPRETATION.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Evidently A. D. Willard has overlooked the fact that it has become national policy to defend America by aiding the allies. President Roosevelt regarded his reelection as a green light in that direction; accordingly he announced the fifty-fifty program of armament production. In his campaign and postcampaign Mr. Willkie urged aid to Great Britain, and together these men polled over 50 million votes, practically the entire eligible electorate of the land. Small wonder that the William Allen White committee seems to have gained more effectiveness and publicity than the Defend America First committee.

In view of these facts it is apparent that we of the Defend America First committee constitute a very small minority; but never let it be said that we are not still present and we will never be silent when it comes to bending our efforts with all true Americans to keep America out of war.

DOROTHEA WAITZMANN,
Member Defend America First Committee.

A FEW TEETH SHY.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—I registered for the draft and was happy to become a soldier in the United States army. I went to my draft board and told them to put my name at the head of the list. I finally got a notice to see the doctor and was found in good, sound health with the exception of my teeth, of which three were missing. I was rejected. There are among my class thousands of men who also would be glad to wear the uniform, and they, too, were rejected. Does that mean that we men can't be soldiers just because we are missing a few teeth? G. M. F.

GERMAN OR NOTHING.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Prof. J. C. M. Hanson's letter published today is interesting but amazing. His mild acquiescence in Germanic occupation of neutral Norway is as amazing as his attachment of blame to Norwegians for not enjoying and cooperating with the intruder. He cites Germany's woes as a result of the iniquitous Versailles treaty. He seems reluctant to admit that Prussian character would not be conducive to tranquility in Hitler's new benevolence—a federation or confederation of European states. Much as we would like to see such a union, the scholarly Mr. Hanson should have known long ago that the ideology and domination of it would have to be German or nothing. W. T. F.

APPRECIATION.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—I would say that the "Jesty" in Anne Jesty Rogers' name was very fitting to her.

It must be very nice knowing a person like her with such a delightful sense of humor.

Every time I look at the "Mums" beside my sick bed I am reminded of her humorous article. They do, indeed, look like mops now that my attention has been called to it. DING DING.

CLOSING ESTATE.

Chicago, Dec. 2 [Legal Friend of the People.]—Reading how you have helped many a person in need of advice I am coming to you with my problem.

My dad passed away a year ago last May, leaving a house, a few stocks and bonds to be divided equally among my three sisters and myself. His lawyer was made executor. At the time the will was read the lawyer said this estate was one of the most solid estates he ever handled, as there was not a cent of debt against it. The year dragged by and [1] in May the will was taken out of Probate court. Not one of the heirs was present, as we weren't notified about it.

2. Calling the executor by phone, we told him we would buy out the better stocks and bonds and to sell the few remaining ones to outsiders for market prices. He said it would take a matter of two or three weeks to dispose of said bonds. Now we are getting impatient with this prolonging everything. Two weeks ago I called at his office and he said he put everything in court for inheritance tax and it would take a couple of days and now it's a month gone by and as yet we haven't our money.

3. What shall we do? S. J.

1. This phraseology is unusual. If you mean that the estate was closed, we do not see how it could have been done without notice unless the heirs had waived notice. We suggest that you inquire at the office of the clerk of the court.

2. If the assets have not been distributed, this makes it seem probable that you are mistaken in your previous statement.

3. We suggest that as a first step you check up on the present status at the clerk's office. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

1. A chuck wagon should make one think of Bakers Blacksmiths Cowboys Firemen.
2. In baseball when a squeeze play is attempted, the batter is supposed to Strike Out Fly Out Bunt Knock Home Run.
3. The average capacity of a coal car on the railroad is approximately 25 tons 50 tons 75 tons 100 tons.
4. Which of the following races is usually the tallest Italians Swedes Japanese Greeks.
5. Which of the following is least likely to be found in plum pudding? Plums Raisins Nut Meats Oranges.
6. If you are parked in an automobile at a railroad crossing and hear the locomotive whistle blowing steadily, what does it indicate if the whistle starts on a moderate tone and then rises in pitch? Does that mean the engine is ——Standing still up the track?
   ——Approaching you at fast speed?
   ——Leaving you at fast speed?
   ——Leaving you at slow speed?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

DRAFTS OF 150 BILLS PREPARED FOR ASSEMBLY

Majority Deal with District Problems.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 8.—The legislative reference bureau, a creation of the two houses of the assembly, is working on the drafts of 150 bills to be introduced at the regular session which convenes on Jan. 8. The work is done at the request of various senators and representatives.

The substance of these bills is confidential. The bureau does not make public its requests from individual law makers. However, the three drafters, Edward J. McCaffrey, Rubin G. Cohn, and William E. Gilmore, said that almost all of the bills deal with purely local problems, problems in the districts of the members who have requested the drafts.

Half Billion in Budget.

Important legislation awaiting the new general assembly has not reached the bill drafting stage. Appropriations totaling approximately a half billion dollars will go before the budgetary commission, meeting here next Wednesday, before the session convenes. Other important questions facing the law makers include:

RELIEF—Relief and old age assistance will need a deficiency appropriation of 24 millions to cover authorized checks for the needy from Jan. 20 to the end of the fiscal biennium June 30.

SALES TAX—Governor Elect Dwight Green's campaign to abolish the 3 cent levy on foodstuffs.

DEFENSE—Money—no one knows how much—will be needed for the National Guard Reserves, the home guards, ordered organized by Gov. John Stelle.

Parole Scandals Renewed.

HOUSING—Legislation needed to permit private capital to replace government subsidies in financing slum removal projects.

PAROLES—Two years ago a bill to end the parole scandal failed to become a law, and the scandals have taken new life under Gov. Stelle.

OIL—Gov. Stelle and Interior Secretary Harold Ickes have exchanged bitter criticism over the Illinois petroleum industry, in which the governor has a private interest. Ickes has advocated a conservation law.

CIVIL SERVICE—Present laws have not curbed pay roll padding and patronage abuses.

This will be the first regular session since 1931 with the Republicans in a majority in both the senate and the house.

Mother of Son

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. FREDERICK MORAN.

An eight pound son was born in Melbourne, Australia, early yesterday to Polly Walker, former Chicago musical comedy star who now is the wife of Dr. Frederick H. Moran, London child specialist. The birth was announced in a cable to Mrs. Moran's sister, Mrs. Valerie Walker Hoffman of 2052 Lincoln Park West. The couple, who were married at St. Barnabas Episcopal church here in 1935 after a marriage proposal by trans-Atlantic telephone, arrived in Australia Oct. 14 on a ship bearing English refugee children, in the charge of Dr. Moran.

N. Y. COMPLETES $4,377 A FOOT MIRACLE SUBWAY

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—"Tunnel hogs," working a miracle of modern engineering, have completed a new subway under traffic jammed 6th avenue after four years of molelike digging. The tunnel, to be formally opened next Sunday, crowns New York City's independent transit system, a $700,000,000 adventure in municipal ownership begun 19 years ago.

The new unit, a two and one-quarter mile artery between West 4th street and 53d street, is one of the most expensive subways ever constructed. City built, it cost $52,000,000, or $4,377 a foot. Chiefly responsible for the expense was the necessity of boring thru one of the busiest areas of Manhattan. This was done without interrupting traffic overhead or disturbing a complex network of earlier tunnels, steam pipes, water and gas mains, and heavy power cables.

The subway is expected to carry 40,000,000 passengers a year, relieving pressure on present overburdened midtown traffic channels. A feature is a 1,200 foot mezzanine corridor—one of the longest in the world—enabling pedestrians to walk underground from 34th to 42d streets.

Teen Age Bandit Hunted for Killing Tavern Owner

Police were searching yesterday for a young bandit who shot and fatally wounded John Modelski, 45 years old, in an attempted robbery in Modelski's tavern at 3000 West 47th street earlier in the day. Witnesses said the gunman was about 19 years old and bought a nonalcoholic drink in the tavern just before the shooting.

"Superior 0100?

Want Ad-Viser please"

"How should I word my want ad?
How many times should I run it?
How much will it cost?
How do I pay for it?"

WHATEVER your question about want ads may be, you can get the answer quickly by calling Superior 0100—Want Ad-Viser.

As a matter of fact, to put a want ad on the job getting results for you, all you need to know is two things:

1. What you want your ad to accomplish.
2. The Tribune's phone number—Superior 0100, Want Ad-Viser.

Helping people who have never used want ads before is one of the major services for which the Tribune's young women want ad specialists are particularly qualified by training and experience.

If you do not know exactly what you wish your want ad to say, the Want Ad-Viser who answers your call will be glad to help you word it.

From daily contact with people who are getting things done with want ads, she can give you the benefit of tested ideas which have helped others to get the best results.

She will cheerfully give you an exact quotation of cost and any other information you may wish to know. If you are a telephone subscriber, you may charge your want ad if you wish.

Each Want Ad-Viser has her own glass-enclosed soundproof booth specially designed to give you all the time, attention and service you need in order to feel satisfied that your want ad will say what you want it to say when it appears before the Tribune's responsive audience of want ad readers.

This audience provides a market for virtually everything which can be sold, leased or traded. The reason for this is not hard to find.

Every day of the week the Tribune has more than 1,000,000 circulation. Right in Chicago and suburbs the Tribune sells more than 800,000 copies every day of the week.

Three other easy ways to place a Tribune want ad

IF YOU LIVE BEYOND METROPOLITAN CHICAGO, you are invited to take advantage of the Tribune's special service for out of town want ad users. Just outline in a letter what you want your ad to say. An experienced copywriter will shape up your ad, return it to you with quotation of cost. Address Out of Town Want Ad Department, Chicago Tribune, Room 1015, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

TWO CENTRALLY LOCATED WANT AD STORES are maintained by the Tribune at 1 South Dearborn Street and in Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan Avenue. Experienced want ad counsellors at each store are ready to give your want ad problems individual attention.

IF YOU LIVE IN CHICAGO OR SUBURBS, a Tribune representative will gladly call on you at your request for discussion and help on want ad problems. Thousands use this convenient method to put low-cost Tribune want ads to work for them.

Mme. Flagstad a Great Artist in Grieg Cycle

BY CECIL SMITH.

Kirsten Flagstad's only Chicago recital of the season, the fourth item in the History and Enjoyment of Music concert series, brought another capacity audience to the Auditorium theater yesterday afternoon. The celebrated Norwegian soprano avoided all operatic music in her program, devoting herself to Grieg's little known song cycle, "Haugtussa," a Brahms group, a Wolf group, and a heterogeneous collection of American songs.

"Haugtussa," which you will find listed in musical dictionaries as "The Mountain Maid," consists of eight songs retailing the simple emotions and bucolic life of a contemplative Norwegian maiden. Haugtussa frolics in the blueberry field, watches the goats playing, receives her lover, and finally broods over the failure of her lover to keep his latest appointment.

Mme. Flagstad's performance of the Grieg cycle possessed the mood of rapt enchantment and the sense of personal responsibility for the music that is characteristic of her Isolde and the best passages in her other Wagnerian rôles. The Brahms group which had come earlier had suffered from the cool detachment which sometimes has made her song recitals downright uninteresting. But the lyric grace and the evocative poetry of "Haugtussa" fired her imagination and transformed her into the great artist she can be when she wants to be.

The songs are full of grateful melody, and the harmony has charm and unusual originality. Their only important defect is a tendency toward redundancy, which comes from excessive repetitions of the thematic material. Edwin McArthur accompanied as one who knew every secret of Mme. Flagstad's artistic intentions.

In Orchestra hall another very large audience paid tribute to the gifts of Moissaye Boguslawski, Chicago pianist. The Brahms Variations on a Theme by Paganini passed by while I was listening to Mme. Flagstad. In Schumann's "Papillons," he played with altogether delightful tonal clarity and lyric flow. In this music and in a subsequent Chopin group he demonstrated discreet and admirable taste in his refusal to carry liberties of expressive rhythm to any sort of sentimental excess. The audience received his playing cordially.

Two movements from Paul Hindemith's "A Day of Music in Plön"—the quodlibet for orchestra and the solo for flute and strings—received their first Chicago performances in last evening's Mandel hall concert by the University of Chicago Symphony orchestra, Siegmund Levarie, conductor. The program also included Mendelssohn's Octet for strings, conducted by Charles Buckley, and Sibelius' "Karelia" suite, conducted by Dr. Levarie.

The Chicago Bach chorus, Theodore Lams, conductor, presented generous portions of Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" in Orchestra hall Saturday evening. The accompaniment was provided by Hugo Gehrke, organist, and a group of players from the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The soloists were Ruth Bassett, soprano; Hazel Maisterling, contralto; Eugene Dressler, tenor, and John Macdonald, bass.

Bride of Dec. 28

MISS JANE ANN HABERKORN.

Miss Jane Ann Haberkorn, daughter of Mrs. Joseph C. Haberkorn of River Forest, will become the bride of Arthur J. MacBride Jr., of South Orange, N. J., on Saturday, Dec. 28. The marriage will take place in St. Luke's Catholic church, River Forest.

Miss Haberkorn attended Sacred Heart college in Manhattanville, N. Y., and Northwestern university. Her fiancé is a graduate of Newman school, Lakewood, N. J., and of the Wharton school of finance of the University of Pennsylvania.

Business Men's Orchestra Puts Verve in Music

An audience that virtually filled the Goodman theater turned out yesterday afternoon to hear the Chicago Business Men's orchestra play for the first time this season. As usual, George Dasch conducted.

No matter how often one hears this ensemble, one is constantly astonished to be reminded how well it plays. For it is composed of men who spend their days in pursuit of nonmusical affairs and who have time to rehearse only one evening a week.

If its playing lacks finesse, the orchestra makes up for this deficiency, with the verve and enthusiasm of its performance. The occasional lack of balance between instrumental sections is mitigated by the infectious enjoyment with which the players tackle their parts. And the response to Mr. Dasch has a fine unanimity and alertness.

Yesterday the orchestra presented Chausson's beautiful symphony as a memorial to its founder, George Lytton. The composition's technical difficulties didn't phase the business men, and they managed to project the score effectively, with special honors going to the brass and wind sections for their superior work.

Mr. Dasch's reading of the symphony was methodical rather than sympathetic, but his conducting was less rigid for the rest of the program: Humperdinck's overture to "Hansel and Gretel," Tschaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet," and Johann Strauss's "On the Beautiful Blue Danube" waltzes.

Earlier in the afternoon George Shah Baronian gave a recital for the benefit of Persian artists in America in Forester hall. Mr. Baronian plays the tar, a bulbous Persian instrument shaped and played like a mandolin or guitar. Altho the strings are plucked, the timbre of the tar resembles more closely the Hungarian cembalon, in which the strings are struck by hammers, than it does the mandolin.

Since the concert started an hour later than announced, it was possible to hear only a small portion of the program. However, that was sufficient to discover that Mr. Baronian is as much a virtuoso on his instrument as, for example, Eddie Peabody is on the banjo.

The music performed was less original than one might have expected, much of it resembling a Hungarian czardas by Emmerich Kalman, which found itself on the program, R. E.

'Billy the Kid' Ballet Grisly and Beautiful

BY EDWARD BARRY.

William Bonney was a brave, handsome, courteous, rough riding frontiersman of about 50 years ago. The one flaw in his character was his habit of murdering people. A choreographic piece called "Billy the Kid," based on Bonney's exploits, was presented at the Civic Opera house yesterday as a feature of the Ballet theater's program.

In "Billy the Kid" we see the famous outlaw busy at his vice and see the bodies of his victims being carried out in ever increasing numbers. We see, too, all the characters of the old west—cowboys and dance hall girls and sheriffs and Mexicans. The piece has a rough strength and a thoroly American flavor.

"Billy the Kid" is more than an empty "story" ballet. It has a moving beauty about it. Both its grisly and its nongrisly details are transformed by the skill of creators and performers into something universal and significant and proper for esthetic contemplation.

Choreography is by Eugene Loring (who also takes the leading rôle), music by Aaron Copland, costumes by Jared French. Richard Reed, David Nillo, and Alicia Alonso had the other principal parts yesterday.

On the same program "Dark Elegies," a ballet by Antony Tudor with music by Gustav Mahler and decor by Madia Benois, received its first Chicago performance. It is an attempt to translate into terms of the dance the emotions and the attitudes which inform Mahler's Songs on the Death of Children. It is partly symbolical, partly concerned with the "pure" dance—dance, that is, which has no representational function, but which deals with moods and intuitions in much the same way that absolute music does.

Altho the piece is not completely comprehensible on first viewing, it made a deep impression. Mahler's songs were well sung by Reinhold Schmidt, resident baritone.

The program also included Anton Dolin's "Capricioso." It was performed yesterday with a lightheartedness and with a superlative grace and sureness which even the Ballet theater will have difficulty excelling. The afternoon's other item was the "Bluebird" dance from "Aurora's Wedding," dazzlingly performed by Karen Conrad and Anton Dolin to almost continuous heavy applause from the house. Alexander Smallens conducted the entire program.

So began the final crowded week of the Ballet theater's schedule. A performance Thursday night and two next Sunday will wind up the troupe's 1940 Chicago affairs.

The Chicago Opera company, whose regular season ends next Saturday, has announced a postseason performance of "Hansel and Gretel" for Sunday afternoon, Dec. 29, with Suzanne Sten and Virginia Haskins in the principal parts. This is in addition to the scheduled New Year's eve "Manon," with Grace Moore, Tito Schipa, and George Czaplicki.

Anna Ludmila, Former Star, Watches Ballet

Mrs. Jac Broderick of Indianapolis had a retroactive busman's holiday yesterday when she sat in the audience of the Civic Opera house to watch the Ballet theater matinée. Fifteen years ago, as Anna Ludmila and a protége of Mary Garden, she was première ballerina with Pavley and Oukrinsky in the Chicago Opera ballet. Later, in 1932, she danced with Anton Dolin, one of the world's great male classical dancers, for a season in London. Together they triumphed in his "Rhapsody in Blue." After the performance she and Dolin had a reunion backstage.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 8.—Sunday: At the desk until duty is done, then to a golf lesson, and Prof. Sykes says a bigger and better waggle to the hips will cure the hook on iron shots, and then to Bob Taplinger's farewell party to Ruth Foran, who looks very handsome in two-tone hair. Just like the new cars—light at the top, dark at the bottom. She's spending a month in New York, then heading for four or five months in South America. . . . Hear that Lana Turner will be the girl in Spencer Tracy's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Monday—For a call on W. C. Fields, who lives in a hilltop house on De Mille drive, so named for the great C. B. himself, who is a neighbor. Mack Sennett phones, tells Bill he should have some kind of Academy award for "The Bank Dick," and Bill says: "Thanks, but they don't give 'em to comedians." Fields' workroom has a big blackboard on a wall, where he chalks his day's appointments and things to do—sort of like the call board in a garage. The Barrymore influence, no doubt. . . . The Great Man chafes at having gags and scenes cut. He remembers a line in the Mae West picture, "I'll go to India and be a missionary—and there's money in that, too." It was cut out because it might offend somebody. "Hell," says Bill, "you can't do it in the movies, but you can in books. Look at Beatrice Grimshaw's book about missionaries rooking the natives for land."

Tuesday—To Universal for a gab with Eddie Cline, director of "The Bank Dick." An old time Keystone cop and the fellow who invented the Sennett Bathing Beauties, he's been a showman since he was 4. Talking of his youthful knocking around, he says he and a chum did some remarkable detective work at a carnival in Chicago. They had seen an Indian rope trick. A Hindu gathered people in a tight circle in the midst of which was a coiled rope ladder. Pretty soon it went up in the air, a small boy climbed 15 feet up it, then back down—and vanished as the rope fell to the ground. It was out in the open and no chance for hidden props. So Eddie and his chum bought two dollar watches and set them to the same time. Eddie got in the magic circle again while his friend remained outside. He made a note of the exact minutes the rope went up, and the boy went up, and so on. Afterward he reported to his accomplice, who, from a few feet away but outside the circle, had seen nothing. No rope, no boy. "We figured it must have been mass hypnotism," says Cline.

Wednesday: A long day of writing, and to Ann Sheridan's cocktail party. Ann is still on holiday from Warners' and is in brilliant red pajamas. . . . I hear that Mickey Rooney will be the year's box office leader.

Thursday: To Alexander Korda's plant to watch a new shot of Vivien Leigh as an old woman in "Lady Hamilton," and Korda says he is going to England next month if he can get plane passage. He's trying to keep his English studios going, but will keep right on producing here. His wife, Merle Oberon, will star in the next, which is a modern fantasy called "I Have Been Here Before."

Friday: To the "Las Vegas Nights" set at Paramount, and it looks too clean and handsome to be a real Las Vegas bar. . . . In the evening to see "The Philadelphia Story" and it's flawless. A better picture couldn't be made.

Saturday: A morning of work and then to report on the Notre Dame-U. S. C. game from the press coop.

Aids Dinner for Exiles

Mrs. George Klemperer does not allow nine month old Gretel to take up her entire time, for she is active in the work of several organizations, including the Emergency Rescue committee and the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations. 'Betrayal,' a French Movie, Interesting and Well Acted

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Reminiscent of "Mayerling" is this story of the ill-starred love of the favorite of an empress and the gentle maiden who aspires to that empress' throne.

"Betrayal" is not as strong a production as the other French movie but it has much to offer in the way of general interest and good acting.

Action occurs in Russia and Venice during the reign of Catherine II.—and the first scenes show that lady in a rage. She has learned that, in Venice, one Elizabeth Tarakanova, who claims to be a granddaughter of Peter the Great and rightful heiress to the Russian throne, holds court of sorts. . . . She dispatches Admiral Count Orloff, her secret lover, to snare this pretty bird and bring her back to Russia for—probable execution.

Elizabeth, closely guarded by her chief adviser, the exiled Prince Radziwill, would have been difficult to see. . . . But she disobeys a mandate of her stern mentor and, masked, encounters Prince Orloff during the carnival she has been forbidden to attend. . . . The two fall in love—neither wotting the true identity of the other. . . .

At the theater their eyes meet and, later they learn the truth. . . . Elizabeth saves Orloff from assassination and he tries to protect her from Catherine. But the empress has subjects who are NOT in love with her rival. . . . Death attends the final tryst of the lovers.

Annie Vernay is an exquisite Elizabeth. Suzy Prim is a striking Catherine. And one was beautiful—Pierre-Richard Willim as Orloff. Roger Karl portrays the thwarted Prince Radziwill excellently.

The film is effectively directed, maintains considerable suspense, and is fascinatingly photographed and backgrounded. . . . French dialog is expertly translated by English titles.

See you soon.

THE STAGE

"Here Today," a comedy by George Oppenheimer, starring Ruth Gordon, begins an engagement at the Selwyn theater this evening. This is the third subscription play of the Theater Guild and American Theater society.

Ruth Chatterton in "Pygmalion" moves to the Erlanger theater tonight for an additional two weeks. Since the theater will be taken over by "Du Barry Was a Lady" on Dec. 22, the engagement of "Pygmalion" will be forced to end on Dec. 21.

Two Ice Yacht Associations Announce Dates of Regattas

BY JUDITH CASS.

YACHTING is literally on ice. Since Chicagoans have taken to "skeeter" [iceboat] racing, it's red sails in the sunset on Chicagoland lakes even in the winter time.

The skeeter enthusiasts, decked out in earmuffs, mittens, and racing goggles, make their headquarters at Fox Lake, Ill., and at Williams Bay, on Lake Geneva, Wis. However, until the ice freezes to a depth of some three inches in these lakes, the skeeters are tucked into two wheeled trailers and taken to the smaller lakes, which freeze over more quickly, to "warm up" for the big races.

Both the Fox Lake Ice Yacht club and the Lake Geneva Skeeter Ice Yacht club hold races every Saturday and Sunday in the winter time. Two ice regattas are held every year, one by the Northwest Ice Yacht association, the other by the International Skeeter association.

Both Associations Set Dates for Races.

The Skeeter group came to life last year under the magic tiller hands of Ted Mead, Lockwood Pirie, and Harry Nye Jr. and includes entries from both the United States and Canada. Jack Frost permitting, the Northwest regatta starting guns will boom out over Pewaukee lake on Feb. 1 and the Skeeter regatta will whip across the starting line on Fox lake on Jan. 17.

'Way back in the days when ice boats were kid contraptions of old crates, bedsheet sails, and ice skate blades, even the maddest inventor didn't dream of the sleek shells which shoot across today's ice. The heavier boats carry from four to six persons, but the real racers, the "skeeters," carry one person or, when the boat has two cockpits, two persons. In building skeeters as much attention is paid to laws of aeronautics as to those of sailing. Skeeters, under the most favorable conditions, may reach a speed of 100 miles an hour.

Numerous Enthusiasts in Fox Lake Club.

Woody Pirie of the Fox Lake club is a pioneer ice fan and his brand new skeeter, Tartan, has a plaid tummy of the Pirie clan's tartan. His brother, John T. Pirie II., races a skeeter named Tops. Edward Schnabel Jr. christened his boat, Yankee, and Ted Mead's is labeled Minx IV.

Robert Langford's Silver Fox, W. A. Brown's Chizzler, John Lane's Scat, and David Hall's Fox are other iceboats which are berthed at the Fox Lake club. Dick Graff, commodore of the Fox lake group, races his Vixen. George Hamilton is the proud owner of a new boat which hasn't been named yet.

Jack Vilas Jr., who won the International Skeeter regatta last year, is a member of the Lake Geneva club. Robert Ferris and his Grumpy II. head in there, as do Harry Nye Jr., Chester Granath, club commodore for the second year, Ephraim Banning, John Clifford, who won last year's Northwest Ice Yacht association regatta, Don Campbell, and Harry Melges.

Peggy Rich's Debut a Supper-Dance Dec. 27

Miss Peggy Rich's debut party will be a small supper-dance on Friday, Dec. 27. By the time she arrives from New York, about Dec. 20, the James G. Shennans of St. Charles and the Joseph Riches of Lake Forest will have completed plans for the party they will give for their sister.

Miss Rich, who has been studying at the Finch school in New York, will make her bow in the Racquet club. The party starts at 10:30 p. m.

Mary Macfarland to Divide Vacation.

Not all college students with Christmas vacations as short as Miss Mary Macfarland's are able to divide them between the northern and southern climes, but the elder daughter of the Henry J. Macfarlands of Winnetka is planning to do just that. As soon as her classes are dismissed at Sweetbriar college, Miss Macfarland will join her mother and grandmother, Mrs. James W. Ryan, in Pompano, Fla., where Mrs. Ryan has a home. Her father, who is remaining in Chicago for Christmas, is expecting her home Dec. 26 for the remainder of the holidays.

Once home, Miss Macfarland will be caught up in the debutante whirl, but she has definitely decided to cancel her own plans for a debut.

Two other members of the Macfarland family already are enjoying the Florida sunshine. The Henry Macfarlands' younger daughter, Margaret, and her cousin, Willard, whose parents are the Lanning Macfarlands of Winnetka, are in school there this year. Willard will be home Dec. 22 for the holidays and his cousin probably will follow.

The Odor of Violets

By Baynard Kendrick

[Copyright: 1940: By Baynard Kendrick.]

SYNOPSIS.

Leaving their house guest, Chell Scott, Norma Tredwill goes to the city to break up the romance between her libertine ex-husband, Paul Gerente, and her stepdaughter, Barbara. She sees Barbara leaving Paul's apartment—and discovers Paul murdered. Duncan Maclain, a blind detective, receives a visitor who claims to be Paul Gerente—with orders in code from the naval intelligence. They are instructions in case New York is plunged into darkness by war, giving the five vital locations where sabotage might occur . . . locations which Maclain refuses to divulge to his visitor. Maclain surprises Cameron, who lives below Paul, in the apartment with the dead man. Cameron glibly confesses to the murder, claiming a girl, Hilda Lestrade, witnessed it. Maclain doubts his confession. Norma looks to ask advice of Bunny Carter, president of the aircraft works where her stepson, Gilbert, is a designing engineer, but she does not dare for fear of implicating Barbara in the murder. Barbara disappears. Norma is injured by a falling wardrobe in Gilbert's workroom. Col. Gray, head of New York's defense plan, commissions Maclain and his partner, Spud, to investigate spy activities in connection with Paul Gerente's murder and the bombing sight which Gilbert Tredwill has designed. He arranges for Maclain and his dogs to stay at the Tredwill home, ostensibly to investigate Barbara's disappearance, but first, Maclain—with a note in violet ink—tricks Hilda Lestrade into accusing Cameron of Gerente's murder.

INSTALMENT XIX.

THE BLIND SEE.

The group before the fire turned to see Capt. Maclain standing in the doorway.

"Come in, captain," Thad said quickly. He started to ask a question, and added instead, "Cocktails will be along presently. Won't you take a chair?"

Schnucke moved forward eying the Tredwill family with canine dignity. Helena stood up, and the dog unerringly directed the captain past the barrier of a library table to Helena's proffered chair.

"I couldn't help overhearing part of your remarks as I was crossing the hall," Maclain apologized with a smile. He sat down and continued, "You mentioned the old phrase 'seeing is believing.' That's a true statement, Mr. Tredwill. I can't use my eyes. Will it surprise you to learn that I believe only what I can see?"

"You've already proved surprising in many ways, Capt. Maclain." Again Thad stopped just short of speaking impatiently.

"I'll try to prove my contention."

Schnucke watched her master settle back in the chair. Maclain gestured with his hand and she lay down beside him. "The unabridged dictionary gives more than a dozen definitions for see," he announced. "Only the first two relate to the eyes. I depend on the others. Particularly on mental perception—definition number three. My vision is communicated to my brain thru other mediums. I venture to say that, excluding color, it is just as clear as the vision accorded you."

Gilbert said, "That's a fascinating idea."

"It's true." The captain sat silent. He had the rare ability to relax utterly at will, to become almost a component part of lounge or chair. "There are five people here with me now," he said after a time. "When I first arrived, an hour and 20 minutes ago, I was introduced to four. The young lady, on the settee to my left, passed me in the upstairs hall."

"I'm Chell Scott, a playwright, Capt. Maclain. I'm visiting here."

The captain acknowledged the information with a nod and a smile. "You're wearing a taffeta housecoat, Miss Scott. You're in your early 20s. You have a bracelet with bangles on your right wrist, and woven Mexican slippers on your feet. You're holding a manuscript in your lap. You're slender and about 5 feet 7 or 8—more than average tall."

Chell laughed a trifle uncomfortably. "You must have questioned the trooper closely when I passed you in the upstairs hall."

"Not at all," said Capt. Maclain. "Taffeta has a distinctive rustle, and housecoats have zippers. You pulled yours up closer about your neck as you passed me upstairs. The housecoat might have been a dress—except for its extra length swishing about your ankles, and the fact that you're wearing Mexican house slippers. The weave of them creaks unmistakably."

"What about her age?" Helena asked.

"Her voice," said Maclain. "It's young. Yours is, too. The timbre changes with the years—just as the vocal chords alter with maturity. Stacy, on the bearskin rug at my feet, is still earmarked by his voice as a boy. Mr. Tredwill can never pass vocally for anything but a most mature man. In addition, the voice, more clearly than the face, expresses fear and hope, happiness and pain, excitement and calm."

Stacy asked, "How did you know about the bearskin?"

"My feet are on it. I can touch the head with my toe. See? And the first time I came in the room Schnucke shied slightly away."

"I suppose you heard the bracelet and the manuscript, too," Chell remarked with a reflective glance at her wrist. "But my height and weight? I still don't understand."

"The bracelet jingles only when you turn a page. You've been leafing them over unconsciously. That placed it on your right wrist. Your height and slenderness were comparatively simple. I counted your footsteps—then compared them with my own as I walked the length of the upstairs hall. I live in blackness, Miss Scott, but it frees me from many distractions of those who use their eyes to see."

"And what, if anything," asked Thaddeus, "did you see in my daughter's room?"

"Nothing that can be of much value, I fear." Maclain stood up. "This is very pleasant but I have a little more exploring to do. Before we have cocktails, I'd like to have Mr. Tredwill take me down to his workshop." He turned in Chell's direction. "You found Mrs. Tredwill this morning, Miss Scott. I wonder if you'd come, too. The trooper arrived later, I believe. He wasn't quite sure where Mrs. Tredwill fell."

"Would she refuse?" Helena murmured as Chell followed the two men from the room. She answered her own question softly, "Jamais de la vie!"

The Connecticut state trooper joined them in the hall. He gave a polite nod to Gilbert and Chell, and asked, "What are we up to now?"

"More looking around, Stinson," said Maclain.

"I hope you find something," Trooper Stinson replied. "I've been over this house three times today."

"Why don't you go?" asked Gil. "Mrs. Tredwill met with an accident, that's all. There's nothing to keep you here now."

The trooper looked doubtful. "If you need me, Mr. Tredwill, I've orders to stay." He hesitated and added. "But I'm inclined to agree with you."

"About the accident?"

"That's it, captain," said Stinson emphatically. "Trooper Halick and I got here early this morning in answer to a call. One of us has been here off and on all day. When we got here the butler, who let us in, had to take a safety chain off the front door. Every window was locked inside, on the basement and ground floor. I'll stake nine years in the state police that nobody got in and out of this house at all."

"Mrs. Tredwill got in late last night," Chell reminded him. "She'd been with some friends, the Carters. Couldn't some one have come in the front door before she got home?"

"How'd he get out?" The officer shrugged. "We saw the tire tracks of Mr. Carter's car. It snowed last night, too. There was that one set of tire tracks up the driveway from the village—no more."

"Which doesn't mean much, Stinson," the captain said. "Any former tracks might have been effaced by passage of the Carter car and the snow. I suppose you and Halick checked for footprints, too."

"Capt. Maclain," said Stinson earnestly. "I've been in this racket nine years, as I said before. We not only checked for footprints, we checked for fingerprints, and pick-locks, and breaking and entering, and marks on the windowsills—inside and outside on the ledges in the packed up snow. I'm telling you now—if anybody got in here last night without leaving a trace, then he's still in here. Either that—or he flew."

"Maybe he had on winged galoshes," said Duncan Maclain. "I think he'd have needed them with all that snow."

Chell and Gilbert watched with interest as Maclain followed Schnucke's imperceptible signals down the length of the high domed hall. The captain proceeded slowly. Twice he stopped and explored the mounted suits of armor with fluttering touches of his fingers. Each time, Schnucke's dark eyes turned up inquiringly to the glittering metal men.

"I don't think she likes them," Chell said in a low tone to Gil.

Maclain's keen ears caught it. "I don't like them much myself." He spoke for the first time since the state trooper had gone. "Do you think it was the best thing to do, Mr. Tredwill—sending that officer away?"

"My father's been anxious to get rid of him ever since we got home this afternoon."

List Is Help in Purchasing Child's Books

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

When I urged you in a recent column to start this Christmas a little library of his very own for your child, or to add to the books he already owns, I promised myself to make suggestions as to titles, since that is a help to so many parents, and to fond friends and relatives who have a blank spot on a shopping list.

The books starred are of outstanding merit and quality.

*Little Toot, written and illustrated by Hardie Gramatky. Published by Putnam's, New York. 92 pp. $1.50. Delectable pictures animate a perfect story of a young and headstrong tugboat who reforms in a grand way.

Mike Mulligan and His Steam Shovel, written and illustrated by Virginia Lee Burton. Published by Houghton, Mifflin Co., New York. 46 pp. $1.50. Action aplenty in a humorous picture storybook.

Madeline, written and illustrated by Ludwig Bemelmans. Published by Simon Schuster, New York. 44 pp. $2.00. When the smallest of 12 schoolgirls in Paris has a pain at night, the adventure begins, with inimitable water colors to heighten the nonsense.

*Scampy, the Little Black Cocker, by Dorothy K. L'Mommedieu. Illustrated by Marguerite Kirmse. Published by J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia, Pa. 63 pp. $1.50. An irresistible puppy goes off to see life for himself in a big way.

The Ugly Duckling, by Walt Disney. Published by J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia, Pa. 38 pp. $1. An appealing adaptation of the familiar Andersen story, enhanced by Disney pictures at their best.

Cock-A-Doodle-Doo, by Berta and Elmer Hader. Published by Macmillan company, New York. 54 pp. $2. An artistic and lovely barnyard picture book with a thread of a story.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

Our idea of a virtually flawless gift for the young girl—the teen-ager—is a smart, attractive chest of preparations designed especially to protect and enhance the young skin. It isn't an expensive gift, but it's a most acceptable and useful one.

We are a fan for these preparations; their maker deserves a hand for the work she's done for young girls and young boys, too. A poor complexion during adolescence is triple tragedy—and she's done some wonderful missionary work, educational and concrete, in preventing and alleviating young complexion ills.

She doesn't believe in heavy, greasy creams for young skins. And she's a great believer in the kind of cleansing routine that's not superficial; it involves the use of a liquid soap and a complexion brush. Her specialty is the young complexion marred by blackheads, pimples or other disfiguring eruptions.

In the chest of preparations are the facial soap and the fine brush for skin scrubbing; an overnight cream for skin clearing; a greaseless lubricant—a grand preparation, this—and a protective lotion. Then, for a natural, youthful makeup there are powder, lipstick and an eyebrow and lash cream. The whole box costs remarkably little.

All the worried mothers who hope that feminine vanity will assert itself and make their daughters want to save their complexions can help the process along by choosing a gift such as this. ELEANOR NANGLE.

BY REA SEEGER.

In the midst of the big rush, come the tantalizing southern resort collections making every one who views this spectacle buy for spring or the great trek south as soon as the holidays are over. Such showings are especially interesting because they indicate the way of spring fashions to come. New colors, new silhouettes new materials and new contrasts are all tried out on the vacationists.

The big excitement this time is the exposed midriff, exceedingly low necklines and the revival of dainty pastel colors. Swim suits, beach outfits, and lovely romantic dancing dresses are cut with a lot of epidermis showing around the beltline.

This isn't as shocking as it sounds in print. The exposed sections are cut with proper restraint, definite artistry so no one can criticize. The dance dress with wide swirling skirts has the scanty bodice top with a daringly low front neckline, and then, to save the blushes, there is a matching bra of the same material as the gown. This is a revolutionary expose, but smoothly managed.

Pale pink and blue are featured, both in daytime dresses and in picturesque evening gowns.

Lace and flowered sheers in these two colors are breath taking beauties that every one in the audience applauded. White is always classic in the southern resort collections, in snappy tailored daytime clothes as well as spectator sports wear. Shallow yoke outlines that extend 'way over the shoulders and down into the sleeves are new. So are white backgrounds crossed with mauve and pink plaid patterns in fitted reefer wool coats for daytime.

Red, white, and blue goes south, in suits, in dresses and in accessories. The simple one-piece dress gets a new lease on fashion life with unusual color contrasts, with belts of magenta worn with a chartreuse green linen, yellow with lime and so on. Plaits pressed flat are in virtually all the skirts, and short skirts evidently are here to stay. Brown and white spectator sports footgear still walk the smartest fashion ways. And wrapped fabric turbans in white pastels and off-colors are as popular and flattering as ever, worn pushed well back of a pompadour.

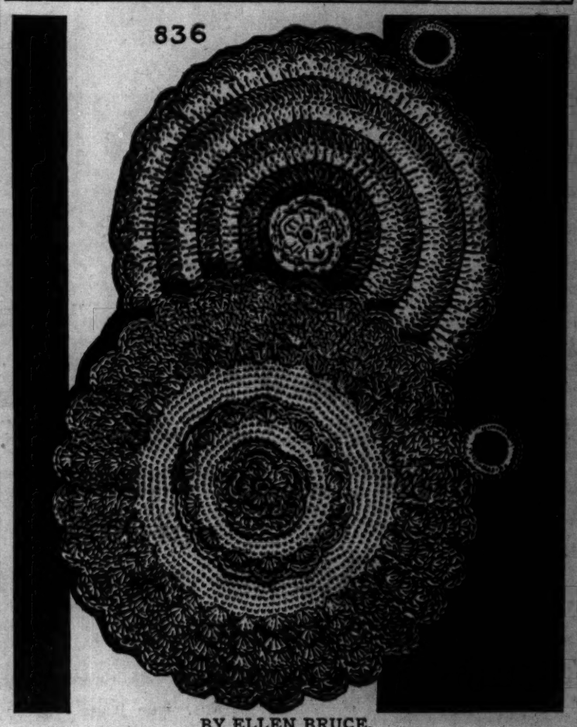
Rose Petal Pot Holders



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

These dainty, yet durable, pot holders are crocheted in two colors and have a rose petal motif in the center. They are easy to do and may be made from odds and ends in the scrap bag, or with two contrasting shades, in harmony with the kitchen color scheme. The only two stitches used are single and double crochet, but they are cleverly combined to create a pattern which defies heat and steam from hot pans and kettles.

For instructions in crocheting the rose petal pot holders, No. 836, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 230 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Two Iceboat Clubs Announce Regatta Dates

son have issued invitations to a supper-dance on Saturday, Dec. 21, at 10 o'clock at the Woman's Athletic club. Their daughter, Jeanne, will make her debut that night.

Albert Pardridges Off for Christmas at Nassau.

Southbound today, the Albert Pardridges of Wheaton have Hillcoate, their Nassau home, as their destination. Motoring to Indianapolis Saturday, they picked up Mrs. Guy Warren, who drove down from her home in Grand Haven, Mich., and the two-car caravan is proceeding to Florida.

From Miami the trio will set sail for the Bahamas, shipping the cars as well. Mrs. Warren will be the guest of her former Wheaton neighbors for a month.

The Pardridges are hoping to be joined over Christmas by their son, John. The Pardridges' daughter, Priscilla, will spend Christmas in the United States with her husband, Lester Cohen.

After three weeks in Nassau the Pardridges will return to Florida for the remainder of the winter.

The Emergency Rescue committee will meet at dinner at 7 o'clock tonight in the Camellia house of the Drake hotel to honor "distinguished persons-in-exile." Speakers will be Count Carlo Sforza, Konrad Heiden, and Mme. Isabel de Palencia. Dr. Frank Kingdon is chairman of the reception and dinner.

Society for Shut-Ins Gives Fashion Tea Today.

Evening gowns, the newest of fur wraps, and costumes for southern wear will be featured in today's fashion show and tea to benefit the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins. Among the assistants in the Camellia house of the Drake hotel will be Miss Joan Littlefield, who again will take the microphone; Miss Priscilla Armstrong, Miss Elise Jones, Miss Bette Anne Allen, Miss Nadine Kinney, and Miss Jeanne Stenson.

Final reports on the Service club revue will be made today when the board of the club meets at the home of Mrs. Robert Cavenaugh. The meeting starts at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. James G. Shakman, president of the Woman's Symphony Orchestra board, will give a luncheon at the Arts club at 1 o'clock today. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Aschenbrenner, Mrs. Archibald Freer, Mr. and Mrs. Isler Solomon, and John Palmer will be special guests. Mr. Aschenbrenner is conductor of the Chicago Symphonic choir, which will sing with the Woman's Symphony orchestra on Wednesday at Orchestra hall. Mr. Solomon is conductor of the orchestra.

Layette and Maternity Frock

MATERNITY FROCK AND LAYETTE.

The two patterns today will delight those who are practicing lullaby tunes. One design creates a basic layette, which may be enlarged as much as one wishes. The other makes a becoming jacket costume, adjustable to the figure. It isn't often that a maternity frock is as attractive as this model.

Style No. 2781 is designed for one size. Coat and cap require ⅞ yard of 54 inch fabric, ⅞ yard of 39 inch lining; slip, ¾ yard of 35 inch fabric; dress, 1⅛ yards of 35 inch, with 1 yard lace edging; shorter kimono, ¾ yard of 35 inch; nightgown, 1⅝ yards of 35 inch; longer kimono, 1⅝ yard of 35 inch.

Style No. 3302 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 4⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard contrasting.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the patterns and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Among the nicest of personal Christmas gifts are the homemade fruit cakes, boxes of cookies, and candy. Packed neatly in holiday boxes and tied with colorful ribbons, these gifts are heartwarming to the recipients who know that time and care were expended in preparing them.

No better recipes for making these kinds of Christmas goodies are to be found than those in two little booklets, "Holiday Cookies and Fruit Cakes," and "Simple Homemade Candies," both of which are obtainable for 10 cents, in stamps, mailed to this department.

Black Walnut Penuche.

2½ cups light brown sugar
1 tablespoon corn sirup
1 tablespoon butter
¾ cup evaporated milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅞ cup chopped black walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Boil sugar, sirup, butter and milk together to the soft ball stage, or 237 degrees by the candy thermometer. Cool to lukewarm. Add nuts and vanilla. Beat until candy loses its gloss. Pour into buttered pan and cut when hardened.

Coffee Squares.

½ cup ground coffee
1 cup water
1 cup sugar
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 teaspoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter

Heat coffee and water together and boil for 1 minute. Strain thru several thicknesses of cheesecloth. Measure and add water to make a full cup. Combine with remaining ingredients and mix thoroly. Cover and cook to a thick sirup. Uncover and cook, stirring very gently from the bottom of the pan, until sirup tests very brittle in cold water, 295 degrees by the candy thermometer. Pour without stirring into a buttered 8 inch square pan. Cool, mark into half inch squares and, when cold, break the squares apart.

Caramels, fudge, butterscotch, toffee, divinity, peanut brittle, taffy, applets, Turkish paste, raisin-peanut clusters, and fruit candies are other good selections for Christmas boxes. All of these recipes, and more, are included in the candy booklet.

Doris Advises About Art of Conversation

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I am in my early twenties and find that, after a few dates, men lose interest in me. Perhaps it is something that I do not do and should do. I am a rather reserved person and I've been told that I sometimes seem aloof, cold, and disinterested, when the case is really just the opposite. How can I develop a friendlier, easier, smoother and more interest-sustaining conversional manner? This way, I am lonely at times, waiting to be dated. There's one particular young man with whom I've gone out a few times and whom I would like to see more. Angie."

You have one sustaining fact to bolster your ego, Angie. The boys do ask you out for a few evening sessions, don't they? That means, we presume, that you are attractive and eligible for companionship. But if, as you suspect, your manner is a bit forbidding, that is a stumbling block, of course. However, suspecting that is the barrier to continued good times with you, at least you know where to begin with a new rôle.

Take this one particular boy you're interested in. Practice on him, or on any boy, for that matter. Make up your mind, when you set out with him, that you're going to fasten your interest on him and him only. Never mind yourself. Refuse to consider yourself. You're going to bring that boy out, have him talk about himself, what he's doing, what he likes to do, where he likes to go, what he likes to read and see. Just give him the question cue and he'll take it up.

Series.

An American radio broadcaster speaking from Berlin commented on the fact that German publishers list 20 books on Hitler as Christmas offerings: Hitler the Man, Hitler at Camp, Hitler as No One Knows Him, and others. Made a bulletinee think of the Elsie Dinsmore books—Elsie's Girlhood, Elsie's Womanhood, Elsie's Motherhood, Elsie's Kith and Kin. Remember the series?

LADY 1940 VERSION.

Rare scent of myrrh, the one HE likes the best;
—Edwyna Payton Fenton.

Quip.

Nana Gollner of the Ballet Theater was discussing the confusion in laymen's minds as to the various ballet companies—the De Basil company and the Massine Russian companies, the Ballet Theater and others.

Proposition.

A man who came to see the Paul Klee exhibition at Katherine Kuh's gallery asked the price of a painting he liked, called "Relapse of a Convict."

"O, I can't afford to pay that much," he said regretfully when the price was given him.

"It's my favorite, too," said the gallery owner. "You wouldn't like to buy half the picture, would you? Then I would buy the other half and we would share it. You could keep it for six months of the year and I the other six months."

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Judging from the recent self-rating examination, the greatest fault of the average player is his inability to rise to unusual circumstances. Let us reconsider question 36:

Both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South

♠2 ♥AK10965 ♦AK10852 ♣—

What call do you make?

Of the approximate 25,000 answers sent in to me for grading, only 4 per cent agreed with the official answer, four spades. Slightly more than half of all the answers received gave four hearts as the most effective bid South could make; about 25 per cent voted for four diamonds; about 15 per cent chose the remarkable, I might say inexplicable, bid of five clubs; and finally, there were more than a few votes for four no trump.

The fact that I did not consider four hearts a really bad answer is attested by my failure to assign any demerits to that call. Indeed, if the examinees who chose the four heart bid intended to bid six diamonds at their next opportunity [if they had one] I would be strongly inclined to give them credits rather than demerits. As I have said, however, there was no way of determining future intentions, and insofar as one single bid is concerned, there is no question in my mind that the recommended four spade cue bid had more potential advantages than any other.

One of these was stressed in the official answer, viz., that by bidding four spades and eventually buying the contract in hearts or diamonds, South might well coax a club lead from the opponents. Then it would not be too remote a hope that dummy's spades could be discarded on declarer's side suit after trumps were drawn. I very much fear that the prime reason for the failure of most examinees to select the four spade answer was the extremely simple fact that they did not think of it!

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 no trump	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	6 diamonds [final bid]

West opened the four of hearts and declarer won in his own hand with the king. He could see at once that his only problem was in the minor suits. If a trump trick were not lost, a club trick could be given away with impunity. If a trump trick had to be lost, however, some precaution had to be taken against the loss of a club trick.

With this in mind, declarer proceeded to strip the hand before drawing trumps. As a safety measure, the ace of trumps was laid down first. Then followed three rounds of spades. South discarding a club. The ace of hearts was cashed and a low heart was ruffed. Now South was in position for his trump play.

A low trump was led and, West followed low, dummy's jack was finessed. When it held, the contract, of course, was safe.

South did not care whether or not the trump finesse worked. If East happened to hold the queen of diamonds, he would win that trick, but then would be obliged to lead a club up to dummy's tenace, or a major suit card which would give declarer a ruff and a discard. In either case, declarer would lose no club trick.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Greatness came to the Chicago Bears today, unqualified greatness that turned the world's series of professional football into a rout.

Ten Bears scored eleven touchdowns and five others contributed points to an all-time National league scoring high as an alert, relentless band of white jerseyed gridiron giants crushed a struggling Washington Redskin eleven, 73 to 0.

Osmanski Scores on Third Play.

From the moment Bill Osmanski broke away for sixty-eight yards and a touchdown on the third play of the game, until little Harry Clark popped thru a hole as wide as a bleacher exit for his second and the Bears' last touchdown late in the fourth period, there was no question in the minds of the 36,034 jammed into Griffith stadium that the colossus from the west, this day at least, was a superteam.

With the victory, which was as humiliating to Washington as to the city's beloved Redskins, went the Ed Thorp trophy, emblematic of the world's championship, and the right for the Bears to return to the Chicago Tribune's All-Star game next August.

Washington expected its Redskins to win. The Redskins expected to win and battled gallantly to that end.

Bears Exact Revenge in Full.

But on this day neither they nor any other team in the National league had a right to be in the same park with the Bears. A 7 to 3 whipping here three weeks ago and unfavorable publicity following that upset had infuriated the Bears. Memory of their last playoff appearance in which they lost, 28 to 21, to the Redskins in Chicago heightened this thirst for revenge.

The combination of these personal issues, the largest player pool in the eight year history of the playoff and prestige that goes with a championship, made the Bears unbeatable. They overpowered the Redskins, outsmarted them, defied them and charged on mercilessly to three touchdowns in the first period, one in the second, four in the third, and three more in the fourth.

First Shutout for Redskins.

Today's scoring avalanche had another angle, too. It was the first time this season the Redskins had been shut out and the third game in which they had not scored in double figures. Washington entered the game as the league's scoring leader with 245 points in 11 contests to the Bears' 238 in the same number. Opponents had scored only 142 points on the Redskins, while the Bears had yielded 152.

In addition to the touchdowns by Osmanski and Clark, Hampton Pool, Clyde Turner and George McAfee carried back intercepted passes for touchdowns and Sid Luckman, Joe Maniaci, Ken Kavanaugh, Ray Nolting, and Gary Famiglietti burst over the Redskin goal in a steady procession of brilliant individual and team efforts.

The scoring was completed by Jack Manders, Phil Martinovich, Dick Plasman, and Joe Stydahar, who kicked one extra point apiece; by Bob Snyder, who kicked two, and by Maniaci, who took Sollie Sherman's pass for the extra point after the 10th touchdown.

Bears Tear Down Posts.

This was to be a test between the Redskins' vaunted passing attack built around Sammy Baugh, Frank Filchock and Rookie Roy Zimmerman

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—This is the story of the man who this afternoon directed the greatest team professional football ever has produced. It is the story of Sid Luckman, the Bears' quarter back.

In the welter of records in this one-sided triumph by Chicago's Bears over Washington's Redskins, compounded from 11 touchdowns for 73 points, Luckman's generalship unquestionably was the factor which smashed Washington's defenses, and maintained a steady and irresistible attack which eventually turned this championship battle into a rout.

Fans Boo Redskins.

Not since the British sacked this city more than a 100 years ago has Washington seen such a rout. The thousands of loyal Redskins rooters, who had come to boo the Bears, stayed to roar bravos in spontaneous tribute to the incredible Chicago eleven. And finally, in resentment at the pitiful collapse of the Redskins, these fans booed the men who had been their heroes. Only Wee Willie Wilkin, Washington's giant tackle, escaped the scathing verbal chastisement.

Grant that the Bears' power and speed were perfection. Grant that the behemoths in the Bears' line always outcharged their opponents, always rushed Washington's passers so that eight tosses were intercepted. But in the first, second, and third touchdown drives Sid Luckman, an inspired genius, maneuvered this Chicago eleven as accurately as a chess master moves his pawns and kings.

Sid Picks the Weak Spots.

Unerringly Luckman picked the vulnerable spots in the Washington defense. He sent Bill Osmanski racing around right end for sixty-eight yards on the third play of the game for the first touchdown.

Osmanski did the running on that sixty-eight yard touchdown dash, but this is only part of the story. He scored because the 10 other Bears carried out their asignments to perfection. Football professors tell you every play would result in a touchdown if each of the players did just what he was supposed to do. Osmanski's touchdown run was a perfect example of the theory. George Wilson's block which sent Ed Justice and Charlie Malone crashing together and out of the play was a spectacular offensive gem.

17 Plays—Another Score.

After Osmanski's scoring wallop, Luckman called 17 plays that covered eighty yards and ended when he himself sneaked over from the one foot mark for the second touchdown. Then Sid ordered Joe Maniaci on another full back sweep around end—a gem of running that duplicated Osmanski's sprint—and the Bears led, 21 to 0.

Three touchdowns in 12 minutes and 40 seconds.

In this brief period Luckman and the Bears' varsity had erected a barrier which the thousands realized had swept the title far beyond the Redskins' reach. But in climax to the first half, and in brilliant exposition of his versatility, Luckman threw a touchdown pass of thirty yards to Ken Kavanaugh. Thus, the Bears led, 28 to 0, at the intermission.

Luckman Sits Out Second Half.

Luckman sat out the second half. As the Bears' power rolled on to a fantastic point total, Sid watched Bernie Masterson, Bob Snyder, and Sollie Sherman command the steam roller. It was Luckman's fortune, of course, that he was in charge on the day this Chicago team reached its peak. It was the Bears' greater good luck that they had Sid Luckman.

"Artoe will kick off for the Bears." Repetition of this announcement was chanted in derision by the crowd. Later when a Washington player was penalized fifteen yards for unnecessary roughness the throng hooted. But the loudest demonstration was started in the fourth period when the loud speaker blared a "special announcement for 1941 season tickets."

More Jeers Are Loosed.

This touched off a rocketing blast for another record. Not since the Philadelphia Athletics scored 10 runs in one world series inning in 1929 against Chicago's Cubs has profes-

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DEL MONTE, Cal., Dec. 8.—The Pacific Coast conference, which will open its annual meeting here tomorrow, is cleaning up an unwholesome athletic situation energetically, sanely, and swiftly. . . . When the job is completed a year or two hence, intercollegiate sport in this organization will be conducted on as high a plane as in the Western conference and in the so-called Ivy league of the east. . . . The presidents and faculty committees of the Coast conference universities many months ago decided the time had arrived for a curb on the intensive recruiting and subsidizing of athletics practiced at all or most of the member institutions. . . . They engaged a middle aged, soft spoken investigator named Edwin Atherton, who had spent eight years in the United States consular service in Italy and Bulgaria and as many years with the federal bureau of investigation, to make a survey of the irregularities in the administration of intercollegiate athletics. . . . His work was thoro and impartial. . . . His report, in a sense, indicted all members of the group. . . . The 10 university presidents and their faculty boards decided to retain Atherton as commissioner of athletics, a position similar to Maj. John L. Griffith's in the Western conference. . . . There is one important difference, however, in the two offices. . . . Maj. Griffith's desk serves mainly as a clearing house for conference athletics. . . . Atherton has been empowered to interpret and enforce the rules of the Pacific Coast unit. . . . Before the start of the now faded season he disqualified 11 conference athletes. . . . There will be additions to the list in the near future. . . . Once Atherton has ruled on the eligibility of an athlete there is no recourse from the decision until the next annual conference meeting, when the faculty committee has the right to rescind his action. . . .

Atherton didn't ask for the power to rule upon eligibility when he took office. . . . "I would like to conduct my office in the same manner as Maj. Griffith does his," he explains. "University executives, however, felt it was for the best interests of sport within the conference for a man detached from collegiate affiliations to pass judgment upon our findings.

San Francisco sport writers have led readers to believe that I am a glorified policeman who snoops around campuses looking for dirty linen to wash. That isn't the case, at all. As a matter of fact, when my assistant or myself decides to visit a certain university we notify the school's officials in advance and thus far we have had enthusiastic coöperation from every one, including the coaches." . . . Atherton, who played football with Nebraska's Biff Jones at a Washington, D. C., high school, emphasized that his first concern in the operation of his office was the welfare of the athlete. . . . "I am particularly happy about the support I have received from the coaches," he continued. . . . "After all, when recruiting is eliminated or held to a minimum, we are relieving athletic staffs from a lot of work. They don't have to spend off seasons beating the bushes for talent, calling upon prospective athletes' parents, and meeting all kinds of demands before they finally get the boy enrolled." . . .

Regarding recruiting, let's take a look at the Pacific Coast's newly adopted ruling, which reads in part as follows: "It does not prohibit occasional normal contact between an alumnus and a high school athlete or the interviewing of such athletes, It does not prevent representatives of any institution from advising any prospective student on entrance requirements, courses of study, fees and living costs, or from replying by letter to an inquiry regarding legitimate jobs which may be available on the campus or elsewhere. However, this rule, as well as all other conference regulations, will be interpreted according to its spirit and intent. The conference does not propose to allow athletic officials, coaches, alumni, or any one else to accomplish by indirection what they cannot properly do directly. For example, if it is found that fraternities or students are more than normally active in rushing prospective students of known athletic ability or that individual alumni consistently are engaged in recruiting practices, such activities will be considered within the purview of these rules and action will be taken accordingly." . . .

"Presidents of Pacific Coast universities are not as radical as Chicago's Robert Hutchins," Atherton stated. . . . "They believe in competitive athletics and they decided to correct the evils rather than to abandon an important phase of student life. Our system isn't 100 per cent foolproof, but we are learning by trial and error and within two years I hope there will be little to criticize in the administration of sports in this conference." . . . One of the major problems at the moment is the matter of equality of opportunity in the development of an athletic program. . . . There are 10 universities in the conference—Montana, Idaho, Washington, Washington State, Oregon, Oregon State, California, Stanford, U. C. L. A., and Southern California. . . . All are state institutions except Stanford and Southern California. . . . Tuition at state universities amounts to little or nothing. . . . At Stanford, however, it means an expenditure of approximately $400. . . . At Southern California it is $300. . . . For that reason organizations such as Stanford's "Buck of the Month" club are temporarily tolerated. . . . Stanford alumni are permitted to contribute a dollar a month to a university fund for the payment of an athlete's tuition. . . . The money goes directly to the university, not to the athlete, and must not be used for any item of expense except tuition. . . . Names of the contributors and the amounts they donate are public records. . . . Athletic scholarships no longer are allowed. . . .

The new attitude of Pacific Coast universities toward the conduct of intercollegiate football and other sports is the most heartening development of recent years. . . . For a time it appeared that the Ivy league, the Western conference, the Big Six conference, and independent schools like Notre Dame were fighting a losing battle against open subsidization, such as we now have in the Southeastern conference and elsewhere in the south. . . . Amateur sport will prosper only so long as it remains amateur. . . . Amateur sport dies when it becomes semiprofessionalized. . . . If the Big Ten, the Pacific Coast, and the leading eastern universities stick to their guns the fight is won.

MAJORS ARE BIT SLOW ON PICKUP FOR GATHERING

But There Is a Hint of Action in Air.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The baseball folks, major league grade, were supposed to start warming up yesterday for the big annual song and dance sessions tomorrow in the Palmer House, but the preliminary was a flop. Not many of the actors showed up, much to the disappointment of a gathering of foreign and domestic journalists who had rushed to Chicago post haste in anticipation of hearing something they could pass on to their respective publics.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, late world champions, was among the early arrivals, but Joe couldn't offer even a rumor. Del Baker, manager of the Tigers, reported, but he's gagged by the American league's ban against trading with champions and couldn't talk. Also present were Manager Casey Stengel and Secretary John Quinn of the Boston Bees, both acting as if they might do some dealing when they catch up with the right party. Ambassador Clarence Rowland also was performing as if the Cubs might be ready to leap at another swap.

Expect Offer for Pitcher.

The sly looks in the eyes of Stengel and Quinn led to a suspicion that they expect to receive an offer from one place or another for a pitcher, if not Eddie Miller, their prize shortstop.

Bill Terry of the Giants is known to be in search of a pitcher and it is probable the Cubs appreciate they need more than a sprinkling of help in that particular department. The Boston mound workmen mentioned in the speculation are Richard Errickson and Nick Strincevich. Of course, there would have to be some cash as well as players included in the consideration and the cash feature has been known to ruin more than one prospective transaction.

Under present conditions cash is of double importance. Even the magnates willing to spend will think twice before paying for a player likely to be called into military service.

Terry May Want Shortstop.

When Terry opens his Giants' headquarters here he may also begin looking over the counters for a shortstop. At the Atlanta convention last week he met up with Bob Cobb and Oscar Reichow, respectively vice president and business manager of the Hollywood coast league team and took up an option on Joe Hoover, a kid shortstop, but cannot get delivery until the middle of the 1941 season at the earliest. Terry's concern about the position is the condition of Bill Jurges. It is reported that he hasn't recovered from the beaning he experienced last season.

Terry also is expected to do something in the Gabby Hartnett case. In Atlanta, Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, declared the ex-Cub manager had been hired as a player-coach. Subsequently Stoneham took it all back. Meanwhile Hartnett has been waiting for word about employment on the Polo Grounds. He had an inquiry from Terry a few days after being let out as Cub boss and just what halted negotiations, unless it was salary demands, isn't known.

HUTSON SCORES 2 TOUCHDOWNS, BUT INDIANS LOSE, 21-20

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 8 [Special].—Don Hutson, the Green Bay Packers' great end, scored two touchdowns on passes today as a guest player with the Chicago Indians, but the Richmond Indians won a charity game, played before 7,000 fans, 21 to 20.

Hutson's first touchdown came with the game less than a minute old on an eighty yard pass play, Parker Hall of the Cleveland Rams doing the tossing. The Packer receiver went across again in the second half on a thirty-two yard pass from Gaylon Smith, former Southwestern back, also borrowed from the Rams.

Another of Hall's passes, this time to Smith, was good for thirty-three yards in the third period, but Smith's kick for the extra point was no good.

BLACKHAWKS GO INTO 3D PLACE; BEAT BRUINS, 3-2

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Cully Dahlstrom, Doug Bentley, and associate valiant Blackhawks last night delighted an assemblage of 16,412 in Chicago Stadium by giving the Boston Bruins a 3 to 2 socking in an overtime hockey match.

Dahlstrom scored in the first period to tie the count at 1 to 1 and again in the overtime to effect the victory. In between, Doug Bentley had scored a second period goal to put the Hawks ahead going into the third period. Johnny Chad got an assist on each of Dahlstrom's goals. Johnny Gottselig got an assist on the first one and Joe Cooper on the second. Doug Bentley was assisted by Brother Max and Bill Thoms.

Hawks Take Third Place.

The outcome enabled the Hawks to supplant the Bruins in third place whereas they had begun the night's jolly business in a fourth place tie with the New York Rangers. The Hawks like to win anytime, but they were especially happy to show up Goalie Frank Brimsek who twice attacked Ol' Johnny Gottselig, making his first skating appearance of the year. The youngster's second bit of rough stuff against the veteran precipitated a free for all fight in the third period, on which Referee Mickey Ion, who had a bad night thruout, did no disciplining.

Woody Dumart's goal after 12 minutes and 31 seconds of the opening period was of considerable skill, tho not spectacular. Woody took the puck on his own blue line and skated obliquely across the neutral zone to the region of his right boards. Steering the rubber with his stick in one hand and warding off back-checkers with his left hand and arm, Dumart curved toward the cage and neatly dropped off a package for Goalie Paul Goodman, who should have been able to decline the present.

The goal by the Hawks which tied the score in 18 minutes and 20 seconds of the first period was in marked contrast to Dumart's solo swoop. There was a faceoff to Goalie Brimsek's left and Gottselig and Chad bounced the puck around the Boston cage area until Dahlstrom got into a spot to bat it past the dancing Bruin goalie.

There's a Thrill in It.

The Hawks gave the customers plenty of excitement in the production of the goal which put Chicago ahead in 15 minutes and 35 seconds

BIG TEN BARS DOUBLE HEADERS; BLOW AT GARDEN

Illinois and Minnesota Not Affected This Month.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Participation by Western conference basketball teams in double headers, in Madison Square Garden or in similar arenas, will be discontinued after the 1940-'41 season.

Decision to take this action was made during the conference winter meetings, which ended yesterday when the basketball coaches met to discuss rules interpretations.

A year ago the basketball coaches voted to discourage the practice of their teams engaging in off-the-campus contests. This recommendation was sent to the athletic directors, who took the same stand at the meetings in the Sherman hotel.

The Western conference action will not affect the appearance of Illinois and Minnesota in Madison Square Garden this month, as contracts for their games had been previously signed. Illinois meets Manhattan in the Garden on Dec. 26 and two nights later Minnesota plays New York university.

Propose Two Modifications.

During their four hour session yesterday, the conference basketball coaches proposed to Big Ten referees and umpires two modifications of the National Collegiate Athletic association rules. The suggested changes, said Nels Norgren, Chicago coach and secretary of the group, were made to eliminate slight injustices in the code.

One of the recommendations relaxes the disqualification penalty in the case of an unnecessary or flagrant foul committed when a player is in the act of shooting. The rule requires automatic disqualification of a player when an official allows two free throws to the player fouled while shooting.

The coaches, agreeing that there are degrees of flagrant fouls, recommended the following:

> In the case of unnecessary fouls inflicted on the shooter, the official may allow two free throws for the offense, but the penalty may not necessarily include disqualification of the aggressor.

Previous Enforcement Unfair.

It was pointed out that officials, hesitating to eject a player from the game, usually elect to penalize the offender by allowing only one free throw, which gives the aggressor more than an even break.

The coaches went on record against one of the rules changes for the year—rule 7, section 2.

In the revision for 1940-'41, the last sentence of this section now provides that the ball is caused to go out of bounds by the last player touched by it before it becomes an out-of-bounds ball. If a player who is standing on or outside the boundary line touches an in-play ball, this player causes the ball to go out of bounds and it is awarded to one of his opponents.

Examples of Injustice.

The coaches took the stand that enforcing of this rule to the letter would work injustices. It was pointed out, for instance, that after a player threw the ball in from out of bounds, the ball might hit a player of the other side, then strike the man who had just thrown in the ball.

Another point made was that with a defending player waiting out of bounds back of the basket to take the ball after a shot made by an offensive player fell short, under this new rule, the ball would go to the offensive team. It was suggested that as in the past the ball go to the defending team on this play.

The coaches agreed the present rules as a whole were made for the best possible playing conditions.

Lambert Takes Run-out.

The meeting was punctuated by the anxious inquiry, "where's Piggy?" The coaches were asking about the whereabouts of Ward [Piggy] Lambert, whose Purdue team won the conference basketball championship last season. It is the custom for the winning coach to buy lunch for his rivals. Lambert failed to show up, but he sent a telegram instructing Harold Olsen, Ohio State basketball coach, to assume his entertainment duties and send the bill.

Maj. John L. Griffith, conference commissioner, had charge of a meeting at which Big Ten basketball officials were present. The huddle was mainly for the purpose of furthering uniformity in officiating.

CHICAGOAN'S 716 LEADS MIDWEST BOWLING MEET

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 8 (AP).—John Small of Chicago blasted the pins for 716 to roll into first place tonight in the singles of the midwest bowling tournament. Small bowled games of 213, 259, and 244. Second place went to Joe Puccinnelli of Chicago, who rolled 682. Bill Lenzen of Chicago moved into third place with 664.

The doubles division lead was taken by Doc Pinc and C. B. Jackson of Chicago with 1,368. A. Plunge and C. Kentz of Chicago had 1,348.

In the five man event, Deans Rubbers of Kansas City retained their lead with 3,157, followed by Pepsi-Cola of St. Joseph with 2,121. Budweiser of Chicago, with 3,108, and Pabst Blue Ribbon of Chicago with 3,102, also were among the leaders.

Gordon Captures Shoot-off Honors at Glen View Club

L. S. Gordon, Niblack Thorne, and R. B. Upham tied with scores of 98 in the singles event of the trap and skeet program at Glen View club yesterday. Gordon won the shoot off with 98. Fred McNally and Ted Wickman won the protection shoot for the second consecutive week with 94. L. A. Crowell won the doubles with 48. M. W. Lowell, R. C. Vial, and L. L. Stephens tied with scores of 24 out of 25 in the skeet trophy event.

Baugh Is Stopped, Too.

Baugh had a miserable time and played very little after the Bears had taken a three touchdown lead in the early minutes of play. Filchock fared better, but Zimmerman was the most effective of the three, vainly raising the Redskins' hope of averting a shut out with a last minute attack that twice fell short.

Stars in the Chicago ranks were as numerous as the players who came into the game to the din of continual booing. But Sid Luckman, with a superb exhibition of generalship, probably is most deserving of praise for his play before the issue was definitely decided in the first quarter.

Now the Action Begins.

Nolting returned the opening kickoff twenty-two yards to the 24 yard line. McAfee bolted thru tackle on a quick opening play for eight yards. Osmanski swung wide to his left on the Bears' famous full back lateral play, took the pass from Luckman and the march was on. At the Redskins' 35 yard line Osmanski was walking a tight rope down the south side line in front of the Bear bench with Ed Justice and Charlie Malone in hot pursuit. Just as Justice reached out for him, George Wilson came up to knock Justice into Malone with a vicious block. The clock read 55 seconds when Manders replaced Wilson and kicked the extra point.

Little Max Krause nearly broke away with the ensuing kick off, but was overhauled on the Bears' 32 yard line after a sixty-two yard return. When five plays gained only thirteen yards, Bob Masterson of Washington attempted a field goal from the 32 yard line.

Bears Drive Eighty Yards.

It was here the Bears put on the only prolonged march, a magnificent display of power football that carried eighty yards in 17 plays for a touchdown and four first downs without the use of a pass. Luckman sneaked in under Turner for the final foot and the score. Snyder, replacing Osmanski, added the extra point.

Washington received and got three chances, all passes, then had to punt on fourth down. Luckman returned the punt three yards to the Washington 42 yard line. On the first play Maniaci, on the full back lateral maneuver again, went all the way behind expert blocking for the third touchdown. Martinovich's extra point made it 21 to 0 with only 12 minutes 40 seconds played.

The Roll of Touchdowns.

Thereafter the Bear touchdowns came in the following order:

[No. 4]—Luckman passed thirty yards to Kavanaugh, who ran into the corner of the end zone and took the ball over the heads of Filchock and Andy Farkas. Snyder added the extra point.

[No. 5]—On the second play of the third period, Baugh passed to Johnston in the flat. Pool, recovering quickly after his initial charge, followed Johnston out, turned completely around twice, once to the left and once to the right to get his bearings, and cut off the pass, rushing back fifteen yards for a touchdown. Plasman's extra point brought the score to 35 to 0.

[No. 6]—Nolting shot thru a hole inside the Redskins' right tackle on a quick opening play, and without straightening up, even to sidestep Baugh who came charging in, went twenty-three yards to the goal line. Plasman missed the extra point. Score: 41 to 0.

[No. 7]—On the second play after the ensuing kickoff, McAfee snared Zimmerman's pass, got a good start behind amazing blocking, then dodged his way the last fifteen yards of a thirty-four yard return into the end zone. Stydahar added the extra point.

[No. 8]—Turner intercepted one of Zimmerman's bullet passes and with the aid of a block by Pool on Zimmerman, went back twenty-one yards for a touchdown. Maniaci's extra point was blocked.

[No. 9]—Clark broke away on the eighth play of the fourth quarter for forty-four yards and his first touchdown, running right out of Filchock's arms on the 10 yard line. Famiglietti missed the extra point.

No. 10 Breaks a Record.

[No. 10]—Washington received, a pass from center got away from Filchock on the third play and Turner recovered on the 2 yard line. Famiglietti smashed inside Right Tackle Jim Barber for the touchdown and Sherman passed to Maniaci for the extra point, making the score 67 to 0, a record for the league.

[No. 11]—On the second play after the following kickoff, Maniaci intercepted Filchock's pass and returned twenty-one yards to the Redskins' 42 yard line, from where the Bears started their second march of any length. On the eleventh play, Clark went over from the 1 yard line. Sherman's pass to Maniaci for the extra point failed, leaving the score 73 to 0, and the stands half empty altho five minutes of the game remained.

Redskins Threaten Three Times.

The Redskins penetrated deep into Bear territory three times. Their best advance came after the Bears' fourth touchdown when they received the kickoff and advanced 75 yards in eight plays, all passes, to the 6 inch line. Only seconds remained in the half and they called time out to stop the clock. It was their fifth time out of the half and they were set back five yards. Baugh's pass on the last play of the period was intercepted by Osmanski.

Record Playoff Gross Puts $873.99 in Each Bear's Pocket

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—All records for professional football championship playoffs were broken in today's game between the Chicago Bears and Washington Redskins, except the attendance record. The most important mark, of course, was that of gross receipts.

A capacity crowd of 36,034 paid $112,508. Net receipts were $102,280. The Bears' share of the players' pool was $32,736.68, which broke up into individual shares of $873.99 per man, $179.99 more than the previous record high for the Green Bay Packers last year.

Washington players received $606.25 apiece, against $455 each player of the New York Giants, last year's losers, took out of the $75,997 gate in Milwaukee, Wis.

George Marshall, president of the Redskins and not a silent man, talked to interviewers in a conversational tone after the game.

"Some of our boys," he said, "apparently have been playing on their reputations. We've got to make a few changes. That tackling, my, my.

Coach Biff Jones, whose Nebraska team faces Stanford and the man-in-motion offense in the Rose Bowl, watched the Bears overwhelm the Redskins from the press box with Glenn Pressnell, his back field coach. Pressnell, a former Nebraska star who played with Detroit and Portsmouth in the National league, arrived here last Monday to study the Redskins' defensive preparations step by step thru the week. Coach Clark Shaughnessy of Stanford also looked on.

Bob McChesney, veteran Redskin end, played with a light cast on his left hand as the result of a few fractured fingers received in the Philadelphia game last week.

Dick Plasman, veteran Bear end, was happy tonight, but hardly satisfied over the Bears' victory because he had missed making it 80 to 0 by dropping a pass from Southpaw George McAfee in the third quarter. The 45 yard toss was true to its mark, but Plasman, running from out of the shadow into a bright spot, had to look into the sun after getting behind the secondary and the ball rolled thru his hands. A catch would have netted 77 yards and a touchdown.

Scalpers, who were asking $50 a ticket Wednesday, had come down to $5 and $10 by last night and today were giving away tickets because no one had bothered about taking a chance on picking up a seat after announcement last Monday that the stadium was sold out.

The Redskins didn't make themselves popular with the crowd by voting Andy Farkas only half a share in the player pool and counting out Business Manager Jack Espey entirely. Farkas, who set a league record with eleven touchdowns last year, was injured in training, underwent an operation on Labor day and has played only 2½ minutes all year, but the fans thought he deserved a larger cut.

W-G-N and 128 other stations of the Mutual system aired the game. It was the first time a National Football league game has been broadcast on a coast to coast radio hookup. The only other national radio recognition the pros have received has been on broadcasts of The Tribune All-Star game. Receipts were enriched $2,500 by the sponsor of the broadcast.

Owners, who meet in a league meeting tomorrow and hold the annual draft on Tuesday, appeared to be almost unanimously in accord with a suggested amendment to the draft rules which would make it mandatory for a team to keep its first and second choices for at least one season. The chief objection to the amendment probably will come from Owner George Halas of the Bears. Halas is believed to have Philadelphia's and Pittsburgh's first choices as payment for previous favors.

It is the consensus around playoff headquarters that the No. 1 man in the draft will be John Kimbrough, Texas A. & M. full back. Philadelphia drafts first, having the poorest 1940 record. That may mean Kimbrough will come to the Bears.

The Redskins' 100 piece band brought the first whoop from the crowd when it marched in, replendent in feathers and red buckskins, tooting the Redskins' marching song, known to the players as "The Salute to Linen."

George Halas, in jubilant mood, as befiting the coach and owner of a professional championship eleven, held open house in his Mayflower hotel suite. Senators, congresmen, and other famous folk filled his quarters.

Touchdowns were coming so fast with each try for extra point costing a ball kicked into the stands that after the ninth score Referee Red Friesell had to warn the Bears that only one ball remained. He asked the Bears to pass. They did, and Sollie Sherman tossed to Joe Maniaci for the 67th point.

JUBILANT BEARS LOOK TO AUGUST—AND ALL-STARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—The celebration to which they were entitled after today's 73 to 0 victory over the Washington Redskins was a subdued manifestation of jubilance tonight as the Chicago Bears, new world's football champions, gathered in small parties for dinner.

"When we have whipped the All-Stars," said Owner-Coach George Halas, "we'll really have a time. We've been trying to get back into the Chicago All-Star game since 1935. Qualifying to meet the collegians in Soldiers' field really was our objective. We want to get at those collegians."

Play in Los Angeles Dec. 29.

Halas praised his team for its victory and sent the players back to Chicago at midnight with instructions to remain in training until more definite plans are announced for the next assignment, a game with an All-National league team in Los Angeles on Dec. 29. A victory luncheon, at which checks for the playoff will be distributed, has been scheduled for Wednesday noon in the Palmer House.

At that time Halas will notify the Bears whether they are to remain in training and proceed immediately to the coast, or whether they will be given several days to visit their homes.

"The turning point in the game," Halas explained, "was the second play after the opening kickoff when Bill Osmanski got away for 68 yards and our first touchdown. On the first play, a quick opener from a man in motion to the right, we learned four things about their defense—four things this play was supposed to tell us and four that were important to our success. Thereafter I felt confident we could get enough points to win."

They'll Return to Delafield.

The Bears, according to present plans, will train in Delafield, Wis., for the Chicago All-Star game, Halas said. Delafield is the site of St. John's Military academy, where they have trained for six years.

"We were the first pro team in the All-Star game," Halas recalled. "We also faced the collegians the second year the game was held, winning, 5 to 0. It is natural that we should want to return, because the All-Star game has developed into sport's greatest spectacle since then and because there is no finer reward for a champion than competing against the pick of the colleges in a contest of that magnitude."

Halas will remain here for the league meeting tomorrow and the draft Tuesday. He sent the club home in charge of Secretary Frank Halas.

Charles Comiskey Robbed; Bandits Get Jewelry and $1

Charles Comiskey, 15 years old, of 5120 Hyde Park boulevard, son of the late J. Louis Comiskey, owner of the White Sox baseball team, was robbed of $35 in jewelry and $1 in change last night by two young negro bandits armed with knives. Comiskey was returning from a church supper with William N. Neher Jr., 15, of 5428 University avenue; Gordon Sheets, a friend, and two girls, cousins of Sheets, when the bandits stopped the group at 68th street and St. Lawrence avenue. Comiskey surrendered a ring and key chain and Neher a key chain.

Di Re, Cannon to Play in Handball Tourney Tonight

George Di Re, defending champion, and Paddy Cannon, who finished second in last year's meet, will compete tonight as the Chicago open singles handball tournament opens in the Madison Athletic club, 4717 Madison street. Nine first round games are scheduled tonight. Thirty-two players are entered. Di Re meets George Ott of the Madison club and Bob Mankin, unattached, will oppose Cannon.

Luckman's Generalship Key to Victory

sional sport furnished a similar debacle. And even this isn't comparable since the Cubs were away from home.

The roster of Bear heroes includes every man. There was no slackening of power or speed after any substitution. On this afternoon the Bears matched their performance in New York earlier in the season when they scored 30 points in 25 minutes. They have been called a first half team. Today, the Bears continued production from start to finish. They became professional football's first point a minute eleven.

It is inconceivable that the Bears lost to Washington, 7 to 3, three weeks ago. Yet from that defeat came the incentive which sharpened the Bears' desire.

We have mentioned the Bears' great full backs, Osmanski and Maniaci. Add Danny Fortmann, the league's greatest guard who called the Bears' defensive plays which blanked Washington's pass attack. Add big George Musso, Joe Stydahar, Artoe, Dick Plasman, Ed Manske, Hampton Pool, George Wilson, the hard tackling Bulldog Turner.

Don't forget Ray Nolting, George McAfee, Ray McLean, Harry Clark, Gary Famiglietti, Bobby Swisher. These men are the champions of professional football.

CISCO SEEKS TO CHECK BOLDEN'S CLIMB TONIGHT

10 Round Bout Heads Card at Marigold.

Nate Bolden, who beat John Sharkey of New York in an intercity Golden Gloves contest in the Stadium three years ago to help Chicago win the series, will try for his eighth triumph in nine appearances in a 10 round bout against Tony Cisco, Norristown, Pa., middleweight, in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight. Altho Bolden is the favorite, Jakie Friedman, manager of Cisco, is confident his protége will score an upset.

Victory Important to Cisco.

Fans do not question that statement. Cisco is rough and tough, but these assets, altho important, may be offset by Bolden's superior skill. Whatever the result, Tony will enter the ring with a do or die spirit. A prospective match with the winner of a New York middleweight championship engagement between Ken Overlin and Steve Belloise in Madison Square Garden Friday depends on his showing against Bolden. A victory over Bolden is important at the moment because of the Chicago colored boxer's recent rise to national fame as a result of scoring a four round technical knockout over Henry Chmielewski.

In a previous Chicago appearance, Cisco lost a 10 round fight to Tony Zale, National Boxing association title holder, also in the Marigold arena, two years ago. During his absence Cisco scored victories over such boxers as Andre Jessurun, Harvey Massey, Young Gene Buffalo, Ossie Stewart, and Eddie Pierce.

Seward Meets Ehrlich.

Billy Seward, Ingomar, Mont., will seek his eighth straight knockout at the expense of Art Ehrlich, Peoria junior lightweight, in a five round semi-final. Principals in a four round opener will be William Hawkins, former Catholic Youth organization bantamweight, and Ralph Balcom of Muskegon, Mich. Hawkins will be making his professional debut under the management of Davey Day and Danny Spunt. Additional matches of four rounds will involve Cyclone Williams, St. Louis heavyweight, and Mickey Hayes of Milwaukee, and Matt Milovitch, lightweight, also of Milwaukee, and Bobby Ryan.

Willie Joyce, Gary lightweight, who holds two victories over Lew Jenkins, recognized as division champion by the New York boxing commission, will open a campaign for a rematch with Jenkins in a 10 round contest against Joe Ghnouly of St. Louis in Hammond Civic center this evening. Winner of the match, which is sponsored by Hammond post, No. 16, American Legion, will meet Nick Castiglione in the same arena Dec. 23. Mike Sopko, Indiana Harbor middleweight, will make his first professional start on the Ghnouly-Joyce card in a four round encounter against Stanley Murczek.

There also will be four round matches between Bill Peterson, Indiana Harbor heavyweight, and Ed Stanley of Terra Haute, Ind.; Johnny Norton, Hammond lightweight, and Joe Dupont, and Billy Sherman, South Chicago junior lightweight, and Vito Rizzo, protége of James Christopher. Indian Jimmy Maddox, Terre Haute 135 pounder, is paired with George Dixon II. in a six round secondary feature.

Paul Prehn, former middleweight wrestler, now in the restaurant business in Champaign, is reported in line for an appointment as a member of the new Illinois athletic commission, which is expected to be named shortly after Gov. Elect Dwight Green is inducted into office Jan. 13.

Ralph Meli Wins in First Round of Challenge Shoot

Ralph Meli scored 49 out of a possible 50 in the first round of the Lincoln Park challenge cup shoot at Lincoln Park Gun club yesterday. The player winning the skeet shoot for three consecutive weeks will gain permanent possession of the cup. Meli and Claude Winterrowd won the regular event with scores of 50 straight. Mrs. J. L. Younghusband and Albert Gallert tied in class A A with 49. Class A was won by Hulburd Johnston with 47. H. A. Russell won in class B with 47 and Floyd Millis in class C with 44.

PURPLE QUINTET OPENS TONIGHT AGAINST WABASH

Wildcats to Rely on Four Football Players.

College Basketball

GAMES TONIGHT.
Wabash at Northwestern.
Iowa State at Minnesota.
Chicago Teachers at De Paul.
Arkansas State at Loras.

Northwestern university's basketball team will usher in a busy week for college quintets when it meets Wabash in the Evanston High school gymnasium tonight in the opening game of the season for the Wildcats. All of Northwestern's home games will be played in the high school gym.

All conference teams except Minnesota and Illinois will see action during the week. Ohio State opens its season tomorrow night against West Virginia and Purdue resumes action against Wayne university Wednesday night. The Boilermakers won their first two games against St. Joseph college and Macomb Teachers.

Dick Klein Is Ineligible.

Operating on a strange court is only one of the problems confronting the Wildcats in tonight's opener. Principal blow was the loss thru ineligibility of Dick Klein, sophomore sharpshooter of last year, who placed second in Western conference scoring with 141 points. Ad Vance and Bob Shepard, forwards, were lost thru graduation.

Wabash will present a starting lineup which averages 6 feet, 1 inch in height. Tallest member of the Little Giants is Carl Kelley, 6 feet, 3 inch sophomore from Mishawaka, Ind. Other first year men are Ray Greve, forward, and Ralph Hesler, guard, both 6 feet, 1 inch tall. Only lettermen in the starting lineup are Charles Klein, senior forward, and Rawl Ransom, junior guard.

Count on Football Players.

Northwestern will pin much of its hopes on four members of the football team, all of whom won letters in basketball last year. They are: Capt. Al Butherus, Don Kruger, George Benson, and Don Clawson. All will see action tonight except Kruger who is nursing an elbow injury received in football. Still another football player, Bud Hasse, sophomore center from Hammond, is one of several newcomers who appear as bright prospects.

Coach Dutch Lonborg will start a lineup consisting of four lettermen and a sophomore. The veteran starters are Hank, Clason, forward; Clawson, center, and Butherus and Benson, guards. The only new player is Ted Esser, 6 foot 3 inch forward from Chicago who attended Oak Park High school.

De Paul Meets Teachers.

De Paul university and Chicago Teachers college basketball teams clash tonight in De Paul gymnasium, 2213 North Sheffield avenue. Freshman quintets will meet in a preliminary at 7 o'clock.

De Paul is unbeaten in two starts, and the Teachers have won three times in five games.

The Demons who are overwhelming favorites, will have a considerable height advantage over the Colonels. De Paul averages 6 feet 2 inches, while Chicago Teachers barely reaches the 5 foot 11 inch mark. Lineups:

Sale of Bees to Alvin Powell Reported Near

Boston, Mass., Dec. 8 (AP).—C. F. Adams, chief owner of the Boston Bees, announced tonight that Albert H. Powell of New Haven, Conn., retired coal dealer, was negotiating for the purchase of the National league baseball club and only the settling of a few minor details remain to complete the transaction.

Adams said he and Powell had arrived at a valuation of his interest in the club. Adams controls about three-fourths of the shares of the Bees. Bob Quinn, general manager of the club, who is en route to Chicago, stopped off in New Haven today to make final arrangements for the sale.

Long Anxious to Sell.

Adams, who is head of the Suffolk Downs horse race track, has been reported anxious to sell the team for some time.

Powell was treasurer a dozen years ago of the Boston National league baseball club, then known as the Braves, but sold his interest in the team to a group headed by Adams.

Adams said he and Powell had arrived at a valuation of his interests, but added "no papers have been signed yet, however."

"Mr. Powell knows what baseball is all about," said Adams. "He's the only one I've talked to who knows the value of big league ball players."

Adams stepped in as principal owner of the Boston club in 1935 after it surrendered its franchise to the National league, listing liabilities in excess of appraised assets at $316,176.

Report Price in Excess of $400,000.

Because of his horse racing connections, however, Adams left direction of the club to Quinn, who resigned as an official in the Brooklyn Dodgers organization to become president. Before that, Quinn owned the Boston Red Sox.

While the price on Adam's controling stock has not been announced officially, it has been reported in excess of $400,000.

Judge Emil Fuchs, who was head of the club for 14 years before Quinn became president, said he originally paid $450,000 for the team and that his loss in the Braves was upward of $700,000.

CLEVELAND TEAM LEADS SERIES FOR PIN MATCH TITLE

Cleveland, O., Dec. 8 (AP). — The Linsz Recreation bowlers of Cleveland led the Hermann Undertakers of St. Louis by 161 pins tonight at the half way point in their contest for the national match game championship.

The Lensz Keglers piled up a nine game score of 9,409 and the St. Louisans came thru with 9,248. Walter Ward led the Clevelanders with a series of 748, 710, 697—2,155 and Sam Garofoalo of St. Louis led his team with 647, 683, 649—1,979.

The last half of the 18 game series will be rolled December 14 and 15 at St. Louis. The Hermann team won the championship in 1938 from the Heils of Milwaukee. This is their first defense of the title.

Lloyd Mangrum Ties for Lead in California Open

Chino, Cal., Dec. 8 (AP).—Lloyd Mangrum, Oak Park, Ill., professional, and Bruce McCormick, Flintridge amateur, tied for the lead at 288 today at the end of the 72 hole southern California open golf tournament. No date has been set for a playoff.

of the second period. As soon as Jack Shewchuk was locked up for slashing Cooper, the Hawks launched a series of power plays. For a full minute they peppered Goalie Brimsek relentlessly to no avail, then they precipitated a tumbling melée around the cage which had Brimsek and three of his associates wading about in front of it, the goalie himself at least 10 feet from his nets as he sought a chance to smother the rubber by sprawling on it. Thoms and the Bentley brothers kept the puck moving around, however, until Doug Bentley got a chance to poke it thru a maze of Bruin legs and skates to score and give his team a 2 to 1 edge.

A couple of Bruin defense men and a center got together for the tying score in 3 minutes and 17 seconds of the third period. Smith made it 2 to 2 as the climax of a zigzag pass parade down the rink.

Hawks Are Shorthanded.

The Hawks were shorthanded four times during the third period, but the tying counter was accomplished when they were at full force. The Bruins tried to play a tight defense and take a tie but Dahlstrom and the others were simply too much for Brimsek and his comrades.

DUKE NALON WINS MIDGET FEATURE; ZALE DROPS OUT

Duke Nalon of Chicago, leading all the way, won the 100 lap midwest championship auto race in the 124th Field Artillery armory last night. His time was 22 minutes.

Nalon took the lead on the first turn from Wally Zale of Chicago and kept a quarter lap ahead of Zale until the latter spun out of the race on the 48th lap. Duke then went on to lap every driver in the race.

Ted Duncan of Chicago finished second, one and one-half laps behind Nalon. Tony Willman of Milwaukee was third, Bob Muhlke of Kenilworth fourth and Ray Richards of Highland Park fifth.

Harry MacQuinn of Indianapolis, defending indoor champion, spun out on the 13th lap. He got back in the race, but had lost too much ground to be a contender.

Jefferson to Lead Alpha Against Globe Trotters

A. A. U. Drops Bar on Luisetti for Movie Role

Denver, Colo., Dec. 8 (AP).—Angelo [Hank] Luisetti, former Stanford basketball star, was reinstated to amateur standing today by the National Amateur Athletic union.

With only a scattering of opposition votes, the board of governors overrode a recommendation by the A. A. U. registration committee to reject the reinstatement move for Luisetti, who was barred for taking $7,500 for playing in a motion picture about basketball.

The ex-Stanford sharpshooter now will be eligible to play A. A. U. basketball this season with the San Francisco Olympic club, of which he is a member.

Yardage Plan Defeated.

This was just one of a series of developments on the convention's final day. Others were:

1. Defeat of a proposal to return the national A. A. U. outdoor track meet to a yardage basis, instead of the metric system in use for 10 years.

2. Approval of the executive committee's recommendation that no American athletes be allowed to compete in Germany. No time limit was set.

3. A decision to offer to President Roosevelt all facilities of the A. A. U. in furthering national defense.

4. An announcement that no player competing with Michigan's Tom Harmon in the east-west football game in San Francisco Jan. 1 would be barred from future A. A. U. sport if he sought special permission from the board of governors before the game. The A. A. U. has ruled Harmon ineligible for any sport it sponsors because he was paid for a radio appearance.

All-Star Players Barred.

5. The A. A. U. ruled all college basketball players who performed against the Harlem Globe Trotters, world professional champions, in Chicago recently will be barred from A. A. U. competition unless proof is shown the entire receipts were used for charity or to further amateur sport, and that none of the players was paid anything but expense money.

6. President Laurence di Benedetto of New Orleans was reelected by acclamation, and the 1941 convention was awarded to Philadelphia for Nov. 15 to 17, just prior to the American Olympic Association meeting in Washington.

Other officers named are: first vice president, Fred L. Steers, Chicago; second vice president, James M. Roche, New Haven, Conn.; Third vice president, Lewis H. Mahony, Denver; fourth vice president, William L. Bailey, High Point, N. C.; Secretary-treasurer, Daniel J. Ferris, New York; asistant to the president, J. Lyman Bingham, Chicago.

Hurdles Rule Amended.

All were reelected but Mahony and Bailey. Ferris and Bingham, the only paid officers in the union, were reelected for four year terms each, the rest for one year terms.

The legislation committee approved an amendment providing that a hurdler who knicks down "one or more hurdles" shall not be disqualified or barred from claiming a record.

The governors ratified this action, as well as another providing that all bouts in the National Boxing tournament may have two minute rounds except for the semifinals and finals, requiring three minute rounds.

The Hawaiian district association was awarded the progress award given annually to the association rated as making the best showing in A. A. U. championships and in staging tournaments. The medal was won by the Iowa association last year.

DETROIT SOCCER VICTOR.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 8 (AP).—The Detroit Chrysler soccer team remained in the contention for the national championship today by defeating the Cleveland Dalardas, 2 to 0, in a challenge cup game.

Spartas Whip Slovaks, 2 to 1, on Foe's Goal

BY OFFSIDE.

A freak score made by an opponent against his own goal gave the Sparta-Ogden Dairy, national soccer co-champions, a 2 to 1 victory over the Slovaks yesterday in a third round game of the national challenge cup series played in Sparta stadium before 3,000 fans.

Rare enough in league competition, but even rarer in cup play, the winning goal was presented to the Spartas by Charles Ruzich, the Slovaks' right full back, after 28 minutes of the second half, and ended a 1 to 1 tie.

Score in First Minute.

Ruzich, whose bitter disappointment over his accidental share in the Sparta's victory was evident in the clubhouse after the game, headed the ball into the goal at the climax of what otherwise would have been a brilliant defensive play.

The game got off to a spectacular start when the Slovaks scored in the first minute. Tom Scott of the Sparta's missed a long return punt and Fred Vagovsky, Slovak center forward, ran almost fifty yards to drive hard over Joe Silovsky's head.

The Spartas pressed hard, and Frank Trimell closed in and shot from 15 yards, but the ball went past the goal. Sparta forced several corners and Billy Fraser missed an opportunity when a shot tipped the bar, but it was not until after 27 minutes that the co-champions were able to score. Frank Petrik driving past Joe Dick, Slovak goal keeper, from 10 yards.

Sparta Goal Disallowed.

The Slovaks took the offensive in the second half, but Joe Silovsky's goal keeping was superb. Then the Spartas rallied, with Billy Fraser placing a corner high in front of the goal and Petrick heading in, only to have Ruzich intervene with the resultant twist of fate that turned Ruzich's play into a goal for his foes.

In the last 10 minutes, Fraser sent a high, dropping ball in front of the Slovaks' goal. Jimmy Wolf came in close to the post and shot into the goal, but the score was disallowed for dangerous play. Lineups:

Detroit, 3; N. Y. Rangers, 1.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—The Detroit Red Wings, in their best exhibition of hockey in New York since their Stanley cup days of 1936-'37, defeated the New York Rangers, 3 to 1, in a National league game tonight. A crowd of 13,061 fans saw a fast, wide open game.

Goals by Eddie Wares and Alex Motter, 51 seconds apart in the second periods while Mac Colville of the Rangers was serving a penalty, upset a 1 to 0 lead gained by the New Yorkers in the first period. In the third period Motter scored unexpectedly with a high 30 foot drive on a breakaway play from a Ranger attack. Lineups:

LOSES CONTROL OF CAR; KILLED AS IT HITS TREE

Second Auroran Hurt in Downers Grove.

William Nelson, 32 years old, 323 Galena boulevard, Aurora, an electrician was killed yesterday when he lost control of his automobile and crashed into a tree on Main at Maple street in Downers Grove. Quentine Valesano, 37, of 134 South River street, Aurora, who was riding with Nelson, was injured.

Miss Roberta Trimmer, 32, of 5637 Drexel boulevard, was killed when the automobile she was driving failed to make a curve on Harlem avenue south of 63d street. The car turned over. Paul Barucki, 32, of 1905 South Troy street, her companion and owner of the car, was slightly injured. He is employed at the Century Steel corporation, 620 West 41st street, where she also worked.

Killed in Truck, Car Crash.

Thomas P. Eichost, 31, of 3017 South Troop street, unemployed, identified from a card in his pocket, was killed early today when a car struck a cattle truck in Halsted street near 41st and then hit a parked car. William Kane, 32; his wife, Loretta, 30; her cousin, Miss Bernadine Foraster, 24, all of 6514 Lake Park avenue, and Joseph Norkus, 22, of 4356 South Wood street, were injured.

Mrs. Kane told police her husband was driving the car and that another man was with them. Kane, apparently dazed, denied both statements. Norkus was fixing a tire when the auto struck him. All are in Evangelical hospital.

Pedestrian Dies of Injuries.

George McGuire, 58, of 3273 Armitage avenue, died in Walther Memorial hospital of injuries incurred Thursday at Humboldt boulevard and Wabansia avenue when he was hit by a car driven by Martin Sheber, 47, of 3816 North Kostner avenue. Sheber was charged with reckless driving.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 815 persons had been killed by automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 594 were killed in Chicago, where 22,300 were injured in traffic accidents in the same period.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

EXPECT REVIVAL OF DEMAND FOR NEW CAPITAL

Bankers Say Arming Will Aid Market.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Fla., Dec. 8.—The growth in business and industrial activity generated by the national defense program promises to bring corporations back into the market for new capital. This prospect is reported by members of the Investment Bankers' association who are assembling here today for their annual convention opening tomorrow.

John K. Starkweather.

The extent to which investment bankers will participate in the financing of defense activities, it is believed, will depend partly on the success of the conversations being held on the question of modifying certain provisions of the securities act of 1933 to which the bankers have raised objections. Conferences on the subject are being held weekly by representatives of the bankers' association and the Securities and Exchange commission.

Desires Easing of Rules.

John K. Starkweather, incoming vice president of the banker group, said today that the conversations are proceeding satisfactorily and he hoped for an agreement which will ease some of the present restrictions on corporate financing.

Starkweather said the committee is expected to submit a report on its work in January to Representative Clarence F. Lea [D., Cal.] of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce. It was Lea who introduced a bill in congress early this year which called for amendments to modify certain parts of the bill dealing with the registration of new securities. Lea's bill was withdrawn after an agreement was worked out whereby the SEC and the bankers' association would seek a compromise on the disputed points.

The complicated regulations governing the registration of new security issues and the 20 day waiting period which must elapse after the registration statement has been filed have been blamed for retarding the public distribution of securities.

Financing Is Increasing.

The bankers meeting here believe that a period of active corporate financing is ahead. Already there has been quickening in activity. The problems arising in connection with defense financing will be the major subjects at the convention sessions during the remainder of the week.

Among the speakers who will appear before the convention are Charles S. Garland, financial advisor to the national defense advisory commission, and Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings institution, Washington, D. C. Other speakers are Virgil Jordan, president of the National Industrial Conference board and Gov. John Bricker, Ohio.

Garland, a former Chicago investment banker, has been on the staff of Edward R. Stettinius Jr. of the defense commission since last October. He said today that the commercial banks of the country are playing an important rôle in the financing of defense projects. He estimated that upward of one billion dollars of defense loans will clear thru the commercial banks in the next year.

The job of financing subcontractors who are dealing with the firms holding government contracts, rather than with the government itself, is now getting the attention of the commission staff, he said. He asserted that commercial banks are ready to handle this financing. Many corporations, he said, are approaching the stage where they will soon seek new capital thru sale of stocks and bonds.

WAGE, HOUR RULE DISTURBS NAVY'S SUPPLY BUYING

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The navy's purchasing office reported today that the Walsh-Healey public contracts act "continues to be a disturbing factor in the procurement of some lines of government supplies." Under the act, firms holding government contracts in excess of $10,000 must meet wage and hour standards determined by the labor department to be the prevailing standards in their industry.

In his annual report covering the fiscal year ended last June 30, Rear Admiral Ray Spear, chief of the bureau of supplies and accounts, said that altho many of the "early difficulties" encountered under the act "have been overcome or otherwise minimized, the promulgation of minimum wages has created new problems which seem to be difficult to overcome."

"There are many manufacturers who will not bid and take a contract subject to the Walsh-Healey act," he said, "and others who will accept all provisions of the act except the minimum wage determination.

4 MONTH WHEAT EXPORTS SHRINK MORE THAN 45 PCT.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 [Special].—Exports of United States wheat, including flour, totaled 14 million bushels in the first four months [July-October] of the 1940-'41 season, against 26.5 million bushels a year earlier, a reduction of more than 45 per cent, the office of foreign agricultural relations reported today.

This season's wheat exports to the British Isles and the orient have been larger than those of last season, but not large enough to offset the reduced 1940-'41 exports to continental Europe and Latin America.

October exports totaled about 4.4 million bushels, against 3 million bushels in September and 4.6 million in October, 1939. More than half of the October, 1940, exports went to oriental markets.

INTEREST RATES ON CITIES' LOANS LOWEST IN YEARS

American municipalities are paying the lowest interest rates in years on short term loans, the Municipal Finance Officers association revealed yesterday in a survey made of interest rates paid by 70 cities on recent loans. Worcester and Springfield, Mass., pay only .06 per cent on their loans. A total of 17 cities borrowed at rates less than 1 per cent a year.

The association said the fact that interest on municipal notes is exempt from the federal income tax, and that the notes themselves may have certain local tax exemptions, make them desirable despite their lack of interest.

Yield of selected maturities of bonds of 20 large cities reached an all-time low on Nov. 1 of 2.32 per cent compared with 5.69 per cent on May 1, 1933, the highest point ever reached.

OCTOBER PROFIT OF PULLMAN CO. ABOVE YEAR AGO

The Pullman company, sleeping car subsidiary of Pullman Inc., yesterday reported October transportation operations resulted in a net income, after taxes and air conditioning revenue deferment, of $198,563 compared with $102,585 a year ago.

Ten months net profit was $2,100,545 against $2,253,656 in the corresponding 1939 period.

PAYMENT RESUMED.

Do you know whether the Mead corporation is planning to resume dividend payments? I understand its business has improved this year.
—T. M.

Answer: The payment tomorrow of 25 cents a share by the Mead corporation to common stock holders of record November 29 is the first dividend on the stock since 1937, when $1.50 was paid. The only other common stock dividend was 87½ cents paid in 1931.

The latest dividend was authorized after a material gain in earnings this year. For the 40 weeks ended last Oct. 5 net income was $983,197, equal after preferred dividends to $1.02 a common share. This was almost a 300 per cent increase over $246,517 in the corresponding period of 1939.

The earnings record of the company and its subsidiaries in recent years follows:

1935	$13,969,000	$ 501,407	$0.51
1936	19,153,000	955,020	1.22
1937	25,373,000	1,841,111	2.40
1938	19,389,000	*105,802	*0.22
1939	21,987,000	744,028	0.46

*Net loss.

Capitalization of the company consists of $8,500,000 in funded debt, 31,935 shares of $6 cumulative A preferred stock, 49,200 shares of $5.50 cumulative B preferred stock, and 619,374 shares of common stock, all of no par value.

Mead corporation and its subsidiaries manufacture three classes of wood products. The groups and the approximate ratio each represents of total sales are: [1] white paper for magazines, books, stationery and other uses, 73 per cent; [2] chestnut and other paperboards for containers, 17 per cent, and [3] wood extracts for leather tanning, 10 per cent. The company's headquarters are in Chillicothe, O.

SALES BOOKS.

What products other than sales books are made by the Moore corporation? Is it an American company?
—L. C.

Answer: The Moore corporation, Ltd., thru its subsidiaries, manufactures commercial forms and sales books, including order books, carbon papers, street car transfers, restaurant checks, forms for looseleaf systems, paper boxes, cartons and mailing tubes. The company was incorporated in 1938 in the province of Ontario, Canada, and its main office is in Toronto.

PLANT TO MAKE TOLUENE FROM CRUDE OIL OPENS

Houston, Tex., Dec. 8 (AP).—The country's first refinery for the production of toluene from petroleum is in operation, turning out one of the major ingredients of the explosive TNT. Toluene formerly was produced only from coal tar.

The first barrel was run off yesterday, a month ahead of schedule, in the Shell company's new plant.

PROPOSE AGENCY TO PASS ON U. S. SPENDING, DEBTS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—A committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce today urged creation of a congressional agency to consider the whole problem of federal revenues, expenditures, and debt. This should be done, the committee on federal finance said in a report to the chamber, "at the earliest possible date, before the appropriation committees have begun work upon the various appropriation bills."

The report also recommended that the President be given authority to veto individual items in appropriations bills. At present, the President must accept or reject a bill in its entirety. Under existing congressional procedure, one committee handles revenue problems and another appropriations in both senate and house. The chamber committee said the congressional agency it proposed need not replace these committees nor concern itself with details of appropriations.

ALL LIVE STOCK FEED SUPPLIES ARE ADEQUATE

The United States has an adequate supply of feed grains, concentrates, and roughage for all probable live stock needs during the 1940-'41 season, the department of agriculture reported yesterday.

Supplies of corn, oats, barley, and grain sorghums, after allowing for 675,000,000 bushels of corn under seal or likely to be sealed for government loans during the current crop year, are estimated at 98,467,000 tons. This is about 1,200,000 tons in excess of the available supply during 1939-'40 and the largest with one exception in eight years.

In addition to the stock of feed grains the department estimates that there will be about 13,600,000 tons of cottonseed, soy bean, and linseed meals and other high protein feeds, an increase of about 1,200,000 tons over the preceding season, and 3,000,000 tons in excess of the 1928-'32 average.

STEEL CAPACITY BOOST BRINGS UP NEW PROBLEMS

Calls for Upturn in Other Materials.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 8 (AP).—Altho other steel makers are expected to follow the Bethlehem corporation's lead in expansion of production, there is doubt about how smoothly the capacity of the country's steel industry can be increased, the magazine Steel said today.

"Other raw material facilities must be increased proportionately, possibly to the extent of building more ore vessels and particularly of increasing coke capacity, at present the worst bottleneck," the magazine explained.

Great lakes ore vessels, which bring iron ore from Lake Superior diggings to blast furnaces on the lower lakes, have operated nearly at capacity this season, handling more than 63,000,000 tons of ore. Coke is the product which fires ore and limestone to turn them into pig iron.

Slab Zinc Is Scarce.

Slab zinc is even scarcer than coke, Steel said, describing this deficiency "the greatest shortage of an essential raw material in years." Some smaller galvanizers are reported to have curtailed or shut down plants.

Concerning the general steel situation, the magazine said:

"Announcement of reaffirmation of prices for first quarter is tending to lessen demand of a speculative nature while increasing routine sales. Increase in sales volume is less uniform as to products, makers, and districts than it has been, with more instances of tapering. December business promises to be the least for several months because of the season and announcement of plans to expand facilities which should ease the tightness eventually.

Ingot Production Dips.

"Steel inkot production sagged a half point to 96½ per cent of capacity last week, solely because of need of furnace repairs. Cleveland improved 1½ points to 90½ and eastern Pennsylvania 1 to 95 per cent. Declines were: Detroit, 7 to 90; Cincinnati, 4½ to 87; Youngstown, 1 to 92; New England, 7 to 75, and Buffalo, 2½ to 93. Unchanged were St. Louis, 87½; Birmingham, 100; Pittsburgh, 97; Wheeling, 98½, and Chicago, 99½.

"A gain of 50 cents per ton on scrap at Pittsburgh caused an advance of 16 cents in Steel's steelworks scrap price composite to $21.29. It also raised by 5 cents the iron and steel composite to $38.18. Finished steel remained at $56.50."

LABOR PLEDGED TO HELP LIMIT PLANT TIEUPS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The defense commission made public tonight a statement by its labor policy advisory committee pledging labor "to take no action which may in any way impede production before all conciliation facilities of the federal government have been exhausted." The statement was adopted at a meeting of the committee, which includes six representatives of the A. F. of L., six representatives of the C. I. O. and four representatives of the railroad brotherhoods.

Sidney Hillman, chairman of the committee said: "The point of view expressed by this committee, which speaks for all sections of organized labor, again confirms, and underscores, what has been and remains the serious determination of labor's leaders and its rank and file to give unstinted support to insure the success of the national defense program."
